Bidault Collapses At French Debate

Unable To Continue Defense Talk

PARIS, Nov. 20 (AP)—Foreign Minister Georges Bidault broke down from fatigue while delivering a major speech before the National Assembly today in defense of the European army plan.

His near collapse forced an interruption of the Assembly's week-long debate on foreign policy until Tuesday. Bidault is expected to be back then.

From the start of his address, Bidault leaned heavily on the speaker's stand. His words were clear, but spoken at about half the normal speed. As he went on, he spoke more and more slowly. He was hardly understandable and he seemed to be missing words in his text.

Sense His Difficulty

Many deputies sensed that he was in difficulty. Finally Socialist Max Lejeune got up to ask for a suspension of the session. This was granted even before Bidault seemed to realize what had happened. He started down the steps of the speaker's stand only after he saw deputies getting up to leave the Chamber.

Bidault quickly was taken into Premier Joseph Laniel's office, where he was given medical attention. After a 45-minute recess, the Assembly went back into session and heard Maurice Schumann, secretary of state in the Foreign Office, continue the reading of Bidault's lengthy and detailed prepared speech.

No serious consequences were expected from the breakdown. Close associates pointed out that Bidault has been under severe strain during the debate. They reported he had been up all last night preparing his speech, which the government counted on as the clincher to get a strong statement of approval for the principle of European unity.

Jack Of All Trades

Bidault, 54, is a polished political jack of all trades who has figured in 19 French ministerial posts since the end of World War II. A leader of the Catholic Popular Republican Movement (MRP), he has twice been Premier.

Bidault is scheduled to go to Bermuda with Laniel for the Premier's meeting with President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Churchill Dec. 4-8. His illness is not expected to prevent this trip.

In his speech, Bidault said that Allied strategy for use in case of Russian aggression calls for a defense as far east as possible and "it is impossible to imagine combat in Germany without the active participation of German forces."

"Would you want us to cause a revision of this strategy which conforms to the major interests of our country?" he asked.

Reds Drag Peace Parley Into 5th Deadlocked Week

PANMUNJOM, Saturday, Nov. 20 (AP)—Red insistence that Russia sit in as a "neutral" at a Korean peace conference today dragged diplomatic talks to the end of their fourth week with no end in sight.

More Communists stalling was expected at today's 11 a.m. session (9 p.m. Friday, EST) giving the Reds at least until Monday to get any new orders from Peiping and possibly Moscow. No sessions are held on Sunday.

The Reds stalled the talks yesterday with a tirade at U. S. Envoy Arthur Dean. They called him a "warmonger" and told him under no circumstances ever, "to refer to the U.S.S.R. as not a neutral."

Dean promptly brushed off the warning by telling the Reds bluntly:

Russian guns and planes were used in the Korean War. Machine guns and other weapons captured bore Russian markings. Russian experts advised the Communist side on military, tank and anti-aircraft matters.

Russian officers "participated in the interrogation and the obtaining of forced confessions from United Nations personnel captured as prisoners of war by your side."

Dean said the session amounted to "zero" and that the Reds made no attempt to come up with the answer to his biggest question: just what role would the Reds expect "neutrals" to fill in a Korean peace conference.

"I must confess that I am still completely in the dark," Dean told Chinese and North Korean Foreign Ministry counsellors.

Dean indicated the 17 nations he represents at Panmunjom might be interested in a Communist idea of non-voting neutral observers if they will clarify it. He has said repeatedly that Russia cannot be accepted as a "neutral."

Nearby in the neutral zone, prisoner explanation sessions still were stalled.

Rebuffed so far by 97 per cent of those questions, the Reds made no effort to resume explanations to more than 22,000 Chinese and North Korean prisoners of war who refuse to return to communism. There have been no interviews since Monday.

Big 3 Asks UN Censure Of Israel

Quick Action Sought On Resolution Hitting Raid Against Arabs

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 20 (AP)—The United States, Britain and France today demanded quick Security Council approval of their resolution censuring Israel for the Kibya raid in which at least 53 Arabs were killed last month.

James J. Wadsworth, United States deputy delegate, told the council that it must accept the resolution as soon as possible to show its attitude to the Kibya incident "and the prejudicial effect which it can have on progress toward peace."

Sir Gladwyn Jebb, of Britain, and Henri Hoppenot, of France, seconded Wadsworth's demand.

The U.N. truce supervisor in Palestine, Maj. Gen. Vagn Bennike, of Denmark, reported to the council that Israeli military forces were involved in the raid on the Jordan village on Oct. 14.

Both Israel and Arab countries are unhappy about the three power resolution. Israel claims it is "one-sided and discriminatory." The Arabs assert it does not go far enough; that it should condemn Israel for the raid instead of using the lighter term of "censure," and that Israel should pay damages to the victims.

U.N. diplomats pointed out that this is the first time in the history of the Palestine case in the U.N. that the United States has supported a resolution slapping at Israel.

The three big Western powers took the initiative when the incident occurred and called for Security Council action on an urgent basis.

In his short speech to the council Wadsworth said it was obvious that the council must sustain the general armistice agreement between Israel and Jordan.

Dickensons Want Quiet Reunion

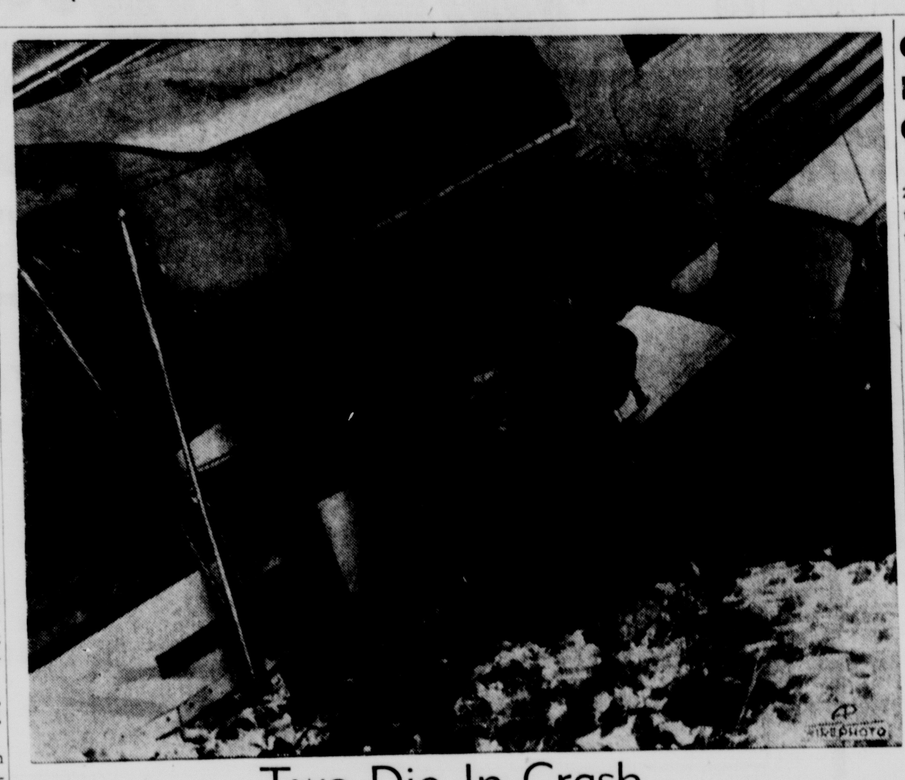

CRACKER'S NECK, Va., Nov. 20 (AP)—Cpl. Ed Dickenson's family and friends are ready to give the young soldier an open-hearted welcome when he comes home, but they want no "returning hero" celebration.

A neighbor said: "Ed's no hero. We don't want to see him treated like one. We'd rather see him come back quietly without any publicity and just settle down and forget what's happened."

Ed's sister, Mrs. Oma Wells, agreed with this viewpoint. She made it clear she and other members of the family were fed up with all the publicity that has closed in around them since Dickenson decided in Panmunjom that he didn't want any part of communism after all.

The people in this pleasant little mountain community haven't forgotten that Dickenson once made a decision to remain with the Reds rather than return to his own people. Dickenson first said in Tokyo that he stayed behind to find out how the Reds operate. Then in California he said that his first story wasn't the truth—that he stayed behind because he was threatened with death if he didn't.

But it appears the people hereabouts have passed no judgment in Dickenson's case. The main concern appears not to be for Dickenson himself, but for his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Van Buren Dickenson, and their happiness.

Two Die In Crash

Rescuers remove the body of engineer Fred Kelley, 67, Grand Junction, Colo., after his train and a 112-car freight train collided headon near Grand Valley, Colo., in a snowstorm Friday morning. Glenn Arnspiger, 57, also of Grand Junction and engineer of the freight, was killed in the mishap too. Both firemen were injured in the collision which derailed nine cars on the Denver and Rio Grande Western Railroad.

President-Elect Says Philippines Nearly Bankrupt

MANILA, Saturday, Nov. 21 (AP)—Vice President Nixon arrived in the Philippines yesterday in a tense political atmosphere, made so by charges that politics has pushed the republic to the verge of bankruptcy.

Aides of President-elect Ramon Magsaysay accused President Elpidio Quirino's Liberal party of using more than 9½ million dollars in public funds in the past two months in a vain bid to stay in power.

The charge was denied by Finance Secretary Aurelio Montinola.

Nonetheless, Magsaysay, who conferred last night with Nixon, said he had confirmed his fears that the government was virtually bankrupt and that he must seek U. S. aid to help finance his administration's program.

Before going into the meeting, Magsaysay said he hoped a systematic collection of delinquent taxes could help but that American aid would be needed to pull the government out of an economic morass.

Outgoing President Elpidio Quirino, who was beaten decisively by Magsaysay in the recent election, will meet Nixon at 11 a.m. Sunday and American officials have advised Nixon to expect a stormy session.

Quirino is reported smarting from his defeat and resentful of what he still charges was American interference in the election, despite denials.

Alexander May Attend Conference

LONDON, Nov. 20 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill is expected to take his defense minister, Field Marshal Lord Alexander, with him to the Bermuda conference next month, a British informant said today.

Hollywood Exhibit Opens, Lamour's Sarong Is Shown

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 20 (AP)—The Hollywood "Historama," a museum exhibiting such relics as Dorothy Lamour's original sarong, opened today.

It consists of three floors of exhibits and demonstrations in a building on Hollywood boulevard, depicting history, lore, techniques and nostalgia of movie-making, as well as exhibits from the radio, television and record-making fields.

There are such items as a mink-trimmed gown worn by Virginia Mayo, newspaper front pages carrying the stories on the death of Rudolph Valentino, and Walt Disney's first camera used in cartoon making.

Police Baffled In Gun Slaying

ANNAPOLIS, Nov. 20 (AP)—A two-pronged police investigation today attempted to piece together clues and penetrate the mystery enveloping the gun slaying of a 23-year-old Washington money runner.

Hopes that discovery of two money bags would open a trail to the killer of Thomas N. Selph Jr. fell apart.

Authorities were quickly able to ascertain that neither could have been carried by Selph when he left a Washington bank with $3,100 on Oct. 9. One had been found on a lawn in Baltimore and the other near an elementary school in Anne Arudel County.

Selph vanished after leaving the bank on his way back to the Mount Rainier loan company for which he worked.

His car was discovered the same day in a Washington park. His body, a bullet in the skull, was found Tuesday off a desolate logging trail in Southern Anne Arundel County.

Walter Reuther Elected Head Of CIO Unions

CLEVELAND, Nov. 20 (AP)—Walter P. Reuther, who won the CIO presidency a year ago only after a showdown battle, was elected to his second term today by acclamation.

The achievement demonstrated the 46-year-old firebrand's ability to consolidate his gains in the five-million-member CIO as he previously had done in his own big Auto Workers union.

Returned to office with Reuther as the convention closed were Secretary-Treasurer James B. Carey, who has held the position since the CIO was born in 1936; Executive Vice President John V. Riffe and eight vice presidents—all top officers in other CIO unions.

Before the elections, the convention adopted one of its key resolutions of the week, calling on employers to get down to business on negotiating a guaranteed annual wage.

Such an arrangement would assure a company's employes a full year's pay regardless of how many week's work is provided for them.

The CIO has drawn up "practical plans" for its members "at a reasonable cost," the resolution said. It added that the major CIO unions "have made clear that they will agree to limits on the employer's liability."

Two big CIO unions—the Auto Workers and the Steelworkers—have done exhaustive research on the guaranteed annual wage. But no details have been made public as to just how the plans would work.

Egypt Says U. S. Fails To Give Help

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 20 (AP)—Egyptian Vice Premier Gamul Abdul Nasser today accused the United States of failing to keep its promise to aid some underdeveloped nations, including Egypt.

Nasser declared in a speech that Western promises of aid to small lands are "nothing but opium which the West exports to put the East to sleep."

Court's Routine Disrupted Man On Trial Gone

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 20 (AP)—The routine of U. S. District Court ground monotonously through the forenoon.

Veniremen were called to hear the case of the United States vs. William P. Wright Jr., of Detroit, charged with interstate transportation of a stolen automobile.

Names were called; challenges issued; arguments heard. The jury box slowly filled.

Judge Ben Moore cleared his throat and spectators shuffled expectantly. The trial was ready to begin.

Then the judge glared sternly at the defense table and asked about the defendant. Wright was nowhere to be found.

Dist. Atty. A. Garnett Thompson told the court that Wright had been in his office and was directed to the marshal's office. He was told to proceed from there to the clerk's office.

Somewhere between the offices of marshal and clerk, Wright had disappeared. A search is on.

N. Y. Skyline Vanishes Into Dense Smog

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (AP)—The towering skyline of New York vanished off and on today behind an eerie, cottony curtain, as the worst smog in years smothered the Eastern Seaboard. It grounded seagulls—but not planes.

The New York Health Department said it was keeping a "close watch" on death reports to see if the smog had reached the killer stage. Death records always lag a couple of days, and a spokesman said there was no sign yet of a rise in the death rate.

The Weather Bureau forecast some relief by tomorrow, thus apparently insuring the area against any smog as serious as that which killed 12,000 persons in Great Britain a year ago.

Scores of persons in Jersey industrial plants sought first aid for scratchy throats and irritated eyes. School children doubled over with nausea, headaches and smog-induced irritations.

Elderly people with asthma gasped for their very lives.

The smog area extended from New England to Virginia.

The Weather Bureau explained that a mass of warm, dry air has moved into the East—where temperatures have been at near-record high 60-degree levels for several days.

The smog forms at night when ground level temperatures cool and become infused with smoke and chemical wastes from industries and cities.

The still air above ground level traps this smog, as a stove lid traps the fumes of a coal fire.

Hundreds of sea gulls huddled on a paved city parking lot adjoining Flushing Bay in the eastern section of the city, apparently afraid to risk flight in the haze.

However, across the bay the big man-made airliners flew in and out of LaGuardia Field with only minor delays. The ceiling was reported unlimited and the ground smog only slowed up landings to a slight degree.

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Nov. 20 (AP)—The mother of film actor Adolphe Menjou—Mrs. Nora Menjou, 84—died yesterday following a lengthy illness.

U. S., Canada And Britain Arrange Talks

AEC Says Effects Of Weapons To Be Primary Concern

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—The United States is going to give Britain and Canada a fill-in on some of the devastating effects of its latest atomic weapons.

The Atomic Energy Commission said today that arrangements are being made to exchange, with its wartime atomic partners, information on the "effects of atomic weapons on human beings and their environment"—effects which would include those resulting from exposure to blast, heat and radiation from bombs.

Improves Defenses

AEC Chairman Lewis Strauss has hailed the new move as one aimed at "improving our ability to defend ourselves against the effects of atomic weapons," but he said the exchange "does not envision any disclosures about the nature of our atomic weapons themselves."

The potential power of America's latest models is clearly implied in a recent statement by AEC Commissioner Thomas Murray.

In a speech in Seattle last May Murray said:

"Today man . . . can, as it were, generate hurricanes, earthquakes and consuming fires. He can today open the tight doors of the atom and let forth all three—wind, earthquake and fire—in such a manner as to make Hiroshima's atomic attack look like a Civil War bombardment."

The information to be shared presumably will include the results of studies made of a model community that was set up and atom-bombed in the Nevada desert last March.

Stopped Trading Secrets

The AEC statement noted that Chairman Strauss referred to "this additional exchange" in a speech at Richmond, Va. last night and added that it will be "carried out by the direction of the President and with the consent of the Joint Congressional Committee on atomic energy."

The statement gave no indication of what type of information now is being exchanged among the three countries. The United States stopped trading atomic secrets after the arrest of British scientist Dr. Allan Nunn May in connection with a Soviet spy ring operating in Canada.

Security Guard Protects Lodge

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 20 (AP)—Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief U. S. delegate to the U.N., said tonight that the special police guard at his apartment was arranged by the delegation security officials.

The guard was assigned to protect Lodge after Puerto Rican Nationalists demonstrated against U. S. policies on Puerto Rico.

Ike's Health Good

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (AP)—The physician who has attended President Eisenhower since 1945 said today that the chief executive is as healthy as he was 14 months ago—and that he is not suffering from heart disease.

The report was made by Maj. Gen. Howard Mcc. Snyder at a conference of the New York Heart Assn.

Reds Protest Soldiers Flight

PANMUNJOM, Saturday, Nov. 21 (AP)—The flight to South Korea of three Korean soldiers just beyond the clutches of pursuing Communists brought a hearing today and an angry protest by the Peiping Red radio.

The Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission called a session to deal with the case.

It seemed a foregone conclusion that the three fugitives would get back safely to South Korea sometime in the future. All said they were former members of the South Korean army who were impressed into the Red North Korean army. They said they were denied repatriation after the truce.

Jobless Triestini Again Demonstrate

TRIESTE, Nov. 20 (AP)—Jobless Triestini besieged their city hall and raided a civil mess hall today in the second day of demonstrations reported sparked by Communists.

"We want work, not promises," they shouted.

Ostensibly they were agitating against rising unemployment in this disputed city, where more than 1,000 civilian employes of the Allied Military Government have lost their jobs since the United States and Britain decided Oct. 8 to turn over the Free Territory Zone A to Italy.

Tenor Stalks Off Stage During Opera Performance

CHICAGO, Nov. 20 (AP)—A tenor who stalked off the stage during an operatic performance voiced an apologetic aria Friday.

David Poleri, who took the walk Thursday night during a New York City Opera Co. presentation of "Carmen," told newsmen he wanted to make an apology to all concerned.

Then the management announced it will consider Poleri's future, if any, with the troupe after he takes a "good rest."

The walkout occurred near the end of the final act at the Civic Opera House. Poleri was singing the part of Don Jose. Gloria Lane was doing the title role. She's a shapely brunette and, probably, as fetching as the girl she was portraying.

Carmen was being importuned by Don Jose to return to him and to forget about a toreador who had stolen her affections.

Miss Lane took it from there in a chat with a newsman Friday:

"He sang (in French) 'Don't leave me,' and then he left. So I sang 'Let me go,' and nobody was holding me."

Miss Lane sang and acted on to the end of the act, aided by the offstage tenor of Walter Fredericks, who rushed from the audience to the wings to fill in.

"I kept hoping he (Jose) would come back in time to kill me," Miss Lane related. "Jose was supposed to stab me, but he wasn't there and there was no dagger, so I just dropped dead."

Poleri, in making his unscheduled exit, shouted at Joseph Rosenstock, the conductor:

"Finish it yourself."

Dr. Rosenstock also is the company's general director.

Poleri, who stood convicted of failing to kill Carmen, told reporters Friday that he wanted to make an apology that would cover the director, cast and public.

Poleri, 28, said he had had an attack of bursitis and a heavy schedule and the combination built up to the point where he "exploded at the wrong time."

Senate Probers Trace Juvenile Delinquency To Bad Homelife

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP) — A young negro who grew up in the violent world of New York's street gangs dug into a brown paper bag today and produced for Senate investigators a small arsenal of weapons used in juvenile gang fights.

Kenneth Marshall, 28, smilingly laid on the table a homemade "zip gun" that shoots .22 cartridges, a real automatic pistol, a dagger, an ice pick and a switchblade knife. He also brought along a two-and-a-half-foot sword.

Marshall, who is now associated with the New York City Youth Board, said such weapons as these are used regularly in "rumbles" or no-holds-barred fights between rival gangs—fights he said his agency is having success in furbing.

Spectators gaped at the deadly little collection of weapons and Sen. Hennings (D-Mo), presiding, wondered aloud where on earth the witness got them.

Some mystery developed on that point. Herbert J. Hannoch, counsel to the judiciary subcommittee investigating juvenile delinquency, finally said one of the group's own investigators "just picked them up around Washington without any difficulty whatsoever."

Hannoch said this investigator is working "under cover" and doesn't want to give further details.

Earlier the subcommittee, headed by Sen. Hendrickson (R-NJ), was told California gets so many runaway children from other states that it sends them home in special trains every few months.

These "displaced children specials" were described for a special Judiciary subcommittee by Karl Holton, Los Angeles county's chief probation officer, who said they cost the state around $90,000 a year.

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. Hendrickson (R-NJ), is investigating juvenile delinquency throughout the country to see what the federal government can do to help reduce it.

Holton said some 2,000 runaway boys and girls turn up in California each year and get into trouble of some sort which brings them to the attention of authorities.

They come from all sections of the country, he said, and trains carrying them home "go east about every three months—sometimes oftener."

In addition, Holton said, California sends eastward two or three trains a year loaded with runaway children who have received mental hygiene treatment.

Holton testified after a husband and wife team from Harvard University described in detail what they learned from a 10-year-study of 500 delinquent boys matched with an equal number who did not get into trouble.

Drs. Sheldon and Eleanor Glueck were the witnesses. Their findings added up to a conclusion that the seeds of delinquency are sown in early childhood and stem not only from poverty, in many cases, but also from a lack of affectionate parents who would give them kind but firm discipline.

Eight out of 10 delinquent children expressed belief their mothers didn't care about them, the Gluecks said, while seven out of 10 had the same view toward their fathers.

Only 21 of the 500 delinquent boys, they said, had consistently firm but kindly supervision by their parents.

Army To List 4,000 Korean Missing As Presumed Dead

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—The Army today announced that about 4,000 men now listed as missing in action in Korea will be declared "presumed dead" in January if there is no new information about them by then.

As of now, the Army lists the number of its missing in Korea as about 6,300.

The 4,000 who prospectively will be listed as "presumed dead" in January include men who have been missing for more than a year.

The other 2,300 have been missing less than a year or else the Army has some report, not yet fully explored, to indicate the possibility they are alive.

The Army said that it expects to resolve the remaining cases either by continued study of evidence obtained from exchanged prisoners, by recovery of remains on battlefields or from information obtained from other sources.

American battle deaths for the Korean War are now listed as slightly over 26,000 and the prospective January action—assuming 4,000 missing are then declared dead—will raise the figure above 30,000.

Families of men carried as "missing" have been receiving allotments and the pay of the men themselves has continued. Accrued pay, or other money due the men, will go to their families when the men are declared "presumed dead."

Also, immediately after a presumptive finding of death is made, the Army will notify the Veterans Administration of the action. The Veterans Administration then will provide the dependents with the necessary information and claim forms for the payment of any government insurance that may be in force.

Pay and allotments for the missing men have gone forward under a special act of Congress. This act expires Jan. 31. After that date, families of men still listed as missing will not be entitled to allotments unless Congress should extend the act.

Two Die In Crash

Rescuers remove the body of engineer Fred Kelley, 67, Grand Junction, Colo., after his train and a 112-car freight train collided headon near Grand Valley, Colo., in a snowstorm Friday morning. Glenn Arnspiger, 57, also of Grand Junction and engineer of the freight, was killed in the mishap too. Both firemen were injured in the collision which derailed nine cars on the Denver and Rio Grande Western Railroad.

President-Elect Says Philippines Nearly Bankrupt

MANILA, Saturday, Nov. 21 (AP)—Vice President Nixon arrived in the Philippines yesterday in a tense political atmosphere, made so by charges that politics has pushed the republic to the verge of bankruptcy.

Aides of President-elect Ramon Magsaysay accused President Elpidio Quirino's Liberal party of using more than 9½ million dollars in public funds in the past two months in a vain bid to stay in power.

The charge was denied by Finance Secretary Aurelio Montinola.

Nonetheless, Magsaysay, who conferred last night with Nixon, said he had confirmed his fears that the government was virtually bankrupt and that he must seek U. S. aid to help finance his administration's program.

Before going into the meeting, Magsaysay said he hoped a systematic collection of delinquent taxes could help but that American aid would be needed to pull the government out of an economic morass.

Outgoing President Elpidio Quirino, who was beaten decisively by Magsaysay in the recent election, will meet Nixon at 11 a.m. Sunday and American officials have advised Nixon to expect a stormy session.

Quirino is reported smarting from his defeat and resentful of what he still charges was American interference in the election, despite denials.

Hollywood Exhibit Opens, Lamour's Sarong Is Shown

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 20 (AP)—The Hollywood "Historama," a museum exhibiting such relics as Dorothy Lamour's original sarong, opened today.

It consists of three floors of exhibits and demonstrations in a building on Hollywood boulevard, depicting history, lore, techniques and nostalgia of movie-making, as well as exhibits from the radio, television and record-making fields.

There are such items as a mink-trimmed gown worn by Virginia Mayo, newspaper front pages carrying the stories on the death of Rudolph Valentino, and Walt Disney's first camera used in cartoon making.

Police Baffled In Gun Slaying

ANNAPOLIS, Nov. 20 (AP)—A two-pronged police investigation today attempted to piece together clues and penetrate the mystery enveloping the gun slaying of a 23-year-old Washington money runner.

Hopes that discovery of two money bags would open a trail to the killer of Thomas N. Selph Jr. fell apart.

Authorities were quickly able to ascertain that neither could have been carried by Selph when he left a Washington bank with $3,100 on Oct. 9. One had been found on a lawn in Baltimore and the other near an elementary school in Anne Arudel County.

Selph vanished after leaving the bank on his way back to the Mount Rainier loan company for which he worked.

His car was discovered the same day in a Washington park. His body, a bullet in the skull, was found Tuesday off a desolate logging trail in Southern Anne Arundel County.

Walter Reuther Elected Head Of CIO Unions

CLEVELAND, Nov. 20 (AP)—Walter P. Reuther, who won the CIO presidency a year ago only after a showdown battle, was elected to his second term today by acclamation.

The achievement demonstrated the 46-year-old firebrand's ability to consolidate his gains in the five-million-member CIO as he previously had done in his own big Auto Workers union.

Returned to office with Reuther as the convention closed were Secretary-Treasurer James B. Carey, who has held the position since the CIO was born in 1936; Executive Vice President John V. Riffe and eight vice presidents—all top officers in other CIO unions.

Before the elections, the convention adopted one of its key resolutions of the week, calling on employers to get down to business on negotiating a guaranteed annual wage.

Such an arrangement would assure a company's employes a full year's pay regardless of how many week's work is provided for them.

The CIO has drawn up "practical plans" for its members "at a reasonable cost," the resolution said. It added that the major CIO unions "have made clear that they will agree to limits on the employer's liability."

Two big CIO unions—the Auto Workers and the Steelworkers—have done exhaustive research on the guaranteed annual wage. But no details have been made public as to just how the plans would work.

Egypt Says U. S. Fails To Give Help

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 20 (AP)—Egyptian Vice Premier Gamul Abdul Nasser today accused the United States of failing to keep its promise to aid some underdeveloped nations, including Egypt.

Nasser declared in a speech that Western promises of aid to small lands are "nothing but opium which the West exports to put the East to sleep."

Court's Routine Disrupted Man On Trial Gone

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 20 (AP)—The routine of U. S. District Court ground monotonously through the forenoon.

Veniremen were called to hear the case of the United States vs. William P. Wright Jr., of Detroit, charged with interstate transportation of a stolen automobile.

Names were called; challenges issued; arguments heard. The jury box slowly filled.

Judge Ben Moore cleared his throat and spectators shuffled expectantly. The trial was ready to begin.

Then the judge glared sternly at the defense table and asked about the defendant. Wright was nowhere to be found.

Dist. Atty. A. Garnett Thompson told the court that Wright had been in his office and was directed to the marshal's office. He was told to proceed from there to the clerk's office.

Somewhere between the offices of marshal and clerk, Wright had disappeared. A search is on.

N. Y. Skyline Vanishes Into Dense Smog

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (AP)—The towering skyline of New York vanished off and on today behind an eerie, cottony curtain, as the worst smog in years smothered the Eastern Seaboard. It grounded seagulls—but not planes.

The New York Health Department said it was keeping a "close watch" on death reports to see if the smog had reached the killer stage. Death records always lag a couple of days, and a spokesman said there was no sign yet of a rise in the death rate.

The Weather Bureau forecast some relief by tomorrow, thus apparently insuring the area against any smog as serious as that which killed 12,000 persons in Great Britain a year ago.

Scores of persons in Jersey industrial plants sought first aid for scratchy throats and irritated eyes. School children doubled over with nausea, headaches and smog-induced irritations.

Elderly people with asthma gasped for their very lives.

The smog area extended from New England to Virginia.

The Weather Bureau explained that a mass of warm, dry air has moved into the East—where temperatures have been at near-record high 60-degree levels for several days.

The smog forms at night when ground level temperatures cool and become infused with smoke and chemical wastes from industries and cities.

The still air above ground level traps this smog, as a stove lid traps the fumes of a coal fire.

Hundreds of sea gulls huddled on a paved city parking lot adjoining Flushing Bay in the eastern section of the city, apparently afraid to risk flight in the haze.

However, across the bay the big man-made airliners flew in and out of LaGuardia Field with only minor delays. The ceiling was reported unlimited and the ground smog only slowed up landings to a slight degree.

Actor's Mother Dies

U. S., Canada And Britain Arrange Talks

AEC Says Effects Of Weapons To Be Primary Concern

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—The United States is going to give Britain and Canada a fill-in on some of the devastating effects of its latest atomic weapons.

The Atomic Energy Commission said today that arrangements are being made to exchange, with its wartime atomic partners, information on the "effects of atomic weapons on human beings and their environment"—effects which would include those resulting from exposure to blast, heat and radiation from bombs.

Improves Defenses

AEC Chairman Lewis Strauss has hailed the new move as one aimed at "improving our ability to defend ourselves against the effects of atomic weapons," but he said the exchange "does not envision any disclosures about the nature of our atomic weapons themselves."

The potential power of America's latest models is clearly implied in a recent statement by AEC Commissioner Thomas Murray.

In a speech in Seattle last May Murray said:

"Today man . . . can, as it were, generate hurricanes, earthquakes and consuming fires. He can today open the tight doors of the atom and let forth all three—wind, earthquake and fire—in such a manner as to make Hiroshima's atomic attack look like a Civil War bombardment."

The information to be shared presumably will include the results of studies made of a model community that was set up and atom-bombed in the Nevada desert last March.

Stopped Trading Secrets

The AEC statement noted that Chairman Strauss referred to "this additional exchange" in a speech at Richmond, Va. last night and added that it will be "carried out by the direction of the President and with the consent of the Joint Congressional Committee on atomic energy."

The statement gave no indication of what type of information now is being exchanged among the three countries. The United States stopped trading atomic secrets after the arrest of British scientist Dr. Allan Nunn May in connection with a Soviet spy ring operating in Canada.

Security Guard Protects Lodge

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 20 (AP)—Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief U. S. delegate to the U.N., said tonight that the special police guard at his apartment was arranged by the delegation security officials.

The guard was assigned to protect Lodge after Puerto Rican Nationalists demonstrated against U. S. policies on Puerto Rico.

Ike's Health Good

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (AP)—The physician who has attended President Eisenhower since 1945 said today that the chief executive is as healthy as he was 14 months ago—and that he is not suffering from heart disease.

The report was made by Maj. Gen. Howard Mcc. Snyder at a conference of the New York Heart Assn.

Tenor Stalks Off Stage During Opera Performance

CHICAGO, Nov. 20 (AP)—A tenor who stalked off the stage during an operatic performance voiced an apologetic aria Friday.

David Poleri, who took the walk Thursday night during a New York City Opera Co. presentation of "Carmen," told newsmen he wanted to make an apology to all concerned.

Then the management announced it will consider Poleri's future, if any, with the troupe after he takes a "good rest."

The walkout occurred near the end of the final act at the Civic Opera House. Poleri was singing the part of Don Jose. Gloria Lane was doing the title role. She's a shapely brunette and, probably, as fetching as the girl she was portraying.

Carmen was being importuned by Don Jose to return to him and to forget about a toreador who had stolen her affections.

Miss Lane took it from there in a chat with a newsman Friday:

"He sang (in French) 'Don't leave me,' and then he left. So I sang 'Let me go,' and nobody was holding me."

Miss Lane sang and acted on to the end of the act, aided by the offstage tenor of Walter Fredericks, who rushed from the audience to the wings to fill in.

"I kept hoping he (Jose) would come back in time to kill me," Miss Lane related. "Jose was supposed to stab me, but he wasn't there and there was no dagger, so I just dropped dead."

Poleri, in making his unscheduled exit, shouted at Joseph Rosenstock, the conductor:

"Finish it yourself."

Dr. Rosenstock also is the company's general director.

Poleri, who stood convicted of failing to kill Carmen, told reporters Friday that he wanted to make an apology that would cover the director, cast and public.

Poleri, 28, said he had had an attack of bursitis and a heavy schedule and the combination built up to the point where he "exploded at the wrong time."

Senate Probers Trace Juvenile Delinquency To Bad Homelife

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP) — A young negro who grew up in the violent world of New York's street gangs dug into a brown paper bag today and produced for Senate investigators a small arsenal of weapons used in juvenile gang fights.

Kenneth Marshall, 28, smilingly laid on the table a homemade "zip gun" that shoots .22 cartridges, a real automatic pistol, a dagger, an ice pick and a switchblade knife. He also brought along a two-and-a-half-foot sword.

Marshall, who is now associated with the New York City Youth Board, said such weapons as these are used regularly in "rumbles" or no-holds-barred fights between rival gangs—fights he said his agency is having success in furbing.

Spectators gaped at the deadly little collection of weapons and Sen. Hennings (D-Mo), presiding, wondered aloud where on earth the witness got them.

Some mystery developed on that point. Herbert J. Hannoch, counsel to the judiciary subcommittee investigating juvenile delinquency, finally said one of the group's own investigators "just picked them up around Washington without any difficulty whatsoever."

Hannoch said this investigator is working "under cover" and doesn't want to give further details.

Earlier the subcommittee, headed by Sen. Hendrickson (R-NJ), was told California gets so many runaway children from other states that it sends them home in special trains every few months.

These "displaced children specials" were described for a special Judiciary subcommittee by Karl Holton, Los Angeles county's chief probation officer, who said they cost the state around $90,000 a year.

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. Hendrickson (R-NJ), is investigating juvenile delinquency throughout the country to see what the federal government can do to help reduce it.

Holton said some 2,000 runaway boys and girls turn up in California each year and get into trouble of some sort which brings them to the attention of authorities.

They come from all sections of the country, he said, and trains carrying them home "go east about every three months—sometimes oftener."

In addition, Holton said, California sends eastward two or three trains a year loaded with runaway children who have received mental hygiene treatment.

Holton testified after a husband and wife team from Harvard University described in detail what they learned from a 10-year-study of 500 delinquent boys matched with an equal number who did not get into trouble.

Drs. Sheldon and Eleanor Glueck were the witnesses. Their findings added up to a conclusion that the seeds of delinquency are sown in early childhood and stem not only from poverty, in many cases, but also from a lack of affectionate parents who would give them kind but firm discipline.

Eight out of 10 delinquent children expressed belief their mothers didn't care about them, the Gluecks said, while seven out of 10 had the same view toward their fathers.

Only 21 of the 500 delinquent boys, they said, had consistently firm but kindly supervision by their parents.

Army To List 4,000 Korean Missing As Presumed Dead

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—The Army today announced that about 4,000 men now listed as missing in action in Korea will be declared "presumed dead" in January if there is no new information about them by then.

As of now, the Army lists the number of its missing in Korea as about 6,300.

The 4,000 who prospectively will be listed as "presumed dead" in January include men who have been missing for more than a year.

The other 2,300 have been missing less than a year or else the Army has some report, not yet fully explored, to indicate the possibility they are alive.

The Army said that it expects to resolve the remaining cases either by continued study of evidence obtained from exchanged prisoners, by recovery of remains on battlefields or from information obtained from other sources.

American battle deaths for the Korean War are now listed as slightly over 26,000 and the prospective January action—assuming 4,000 missing are then declared dead—will raise the figure above 30,000.

Families of men carried as "missing" have been receiving allotments and the pay of the men themselves has continued. Accrued pay, or other money due the men, will go to their families when the men are declared "presumed dead."

Also, immediately after a presumptive finding of death is made, the Army will notify the Veterans Administration of the action. The Veterans Administration then will provide the dependents with the necessary information and claim forms for the payment of any government insurance that may be in force.

Pay and allotments for the missing men have gone forward under a special act of Congress. This act expires Jan. 31. After that date, families of men still listed as missing will not be entitled to allotments unless Congress should extend the act.

Headaches For Dewey

The scandals which are embarrassing the administration of Governor Dewey in New York are double-barreled and in a sense interlocking. To a large extent they stem from commercialization of the once quaint and rustic sport of harness-racing.

Dewey demanded that Arthur H. Wicks resign as majority leader and temporary president of the state senate which he now has done. The temporary president post automatically made Wicks acting lieutenant governor after the incumbent of that office resigned on October 1. The next day, investigation of the labor rackets at Yonkers Raceway, involving murder, disclosed that Senator Wicks and other political leaders had paid visits at Sing Sing Prison to "Joey" Fay, convicted labor extortionist.

Wicks says he visited Fay only to minimize labor difficulties in Wicks' district. "I have no interest in any race track anywhere in the world, direct or indirect," the Republican senator declared in a television speech on October 18. In that speech Wicks said he would present his resignation to the legislature but only "under the unyielding insistence" of Governor Dewey. Wicks later changed his mind on resigning, then changed it again and submitted his resignation on Wednesday.

Senator Wicks has been for several years chairman of a joint state legislative committee studying racing laws and rules. The committee is not a criminal investigating agency. Wicks also has sponsored legislation on racing.

Governor Dewey boasts that he has never bet on a horse race in his life, but other prominent New York Republicans, some closer to Dewey than Wicks had been, have been linked to the harness tracks. So have some Democrats.

J. Russell Sprague, Dewey leader in Nassau County, resigned as Republican national committeeman from New York after disclosure that he owned stock in the Yonkers track. Senator Mahoney, mentioned to succeed Senator Wicks as majority leader, has received legal fees from a harness track and is director of an insurance company handling some of that track's insurance. Mahoney has announced he has given up the legal work for the track and has advised the insurance company to close out its business with the track.

William F. Bleakley, former Republican candidate for governor, on November 14 confirmed his resignation as general counsel of the New York Racing Associations, a running track group trying to get the state legislature to raise the tracks' share of the "bite" taken out of pari-mutuel betting. Bleakley said that he had resigned because, "I felt that I couldn't be of any help to them while all this was going on." He retained his post as general counsel to the Yonkers Trotting Association and his stock in a raceway.

Pari-mutuel betting at New York's seven harness tracks was 62 per cent of the total bet at harness tracks in the nation in 1952, though 11 other states have legalized such betting on a wide scale. Business is booming, but Governor Dewey [illegible] to cut down the tracks' take, now higher than thoroughbred tracks.

Attendance at New York's thoroughbred tracks is slightly off this year as compared to last; so is betting. Nationally, harness racing is under a cloud or under actual investigation in several states, and links between the ownership of New York tracks and of tracks in other states have been disclosed.

Fifty Years Of Aviation

A half-century has passed since the Wright brothers made their first powered flights at Kitty Hawk, N. C., and there are millions alive today who have watched every phase of the amazing development of the airplane.

But because at first travel by air with no sustaining balloon was such a tricky and dangerous business, it was many years before its general availability was recognized and then fully demonstrated. The development and high popularity of the gasoline-propelled automobile came so rapidly that it seems difficult to believe that it was only 10 years before the Wrights were flying that Charles E. Duryea was driving his underslung one-lunger on the streets of Springfield, Mass.

The airplane was 24 years old when the intrepid Col. Charles Augustus Lindbergh, a government air mail flier, made his momentous nonstop solo trip in the "Spirit of St. Louis" from Mineola, L. I., to Paris, bearing a letter of introduction to the American ambassador to France. He did not realize that his 3,600-mile flight in 33½ hours was its own letter of introduction to an acclaiming world.

A year later the giant dirigible Graf Zeppelin made a slow round-trip from Germany to New Jersey carrying passengers both ways, but its commander, safely home, concluded that the dirigible was unsuited to oceanic travel against buffeting winds.

The world is too sadly familiar with the destruction of cities by bombers in wartime, but it rejoices in the present status of passenger airplanes, which cross all continents and all oceans. The relative fewness of accidents has made their use widely popular.

Important personages in this and other lands travel by air. A European trip is now possible in a two-week vacation, with six days at least to spend in each of two foreign countries.

Songs Of Yesteryear

Every now and then nostalgic references to the songs of yesteryear appear in print, and the memories evoked may be as varied and numerous as the readers. Ole Joe Howard, singing and dancing at 80-plus, is keeping alive those he wrote a half-century ago, and they certainly are tuneful and catchy.

What adult or high school pupil of its day can fail to remember "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here!" whose tune is derived from Sir Arthur Sullivan's "Pirates of Penzance," or the melody of "Three O'Clock in the Morning," which came later and sold 2,000,000 copies?

But it is extremely doubtful if one out of 1,000 realizes that the lyrics of both were written by one person, and that person a woman, Mrs. Theodora Morse, recently dead at 70. As a Brooklyn school girl she crashed her way to Theodore Morse, already a successful song writer, with an effusion he helped her improve. Two years later Theodore and Theodora were married and partners in writing songs.

"Three O'Clock in the Morning" was a pretty rough European drinking song, which was converted into a dreamy waltz with the lyric rewritten. No melodies are entirely new, but the origins of most are lost in history.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

In the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Save The Neck For The Future

Arthritis of the bones of the neck usually is traceable to an injury earlier in life. A friend with this condition recalled two distinct head injuries while playing football in college. In both instances he tackled a ball player head-on following the opening kickoff. On a third occasion he was foolish enough to attempt to back flip in the gymnasium and landed directly on his neck. The man is now paying for his folly and hopes that other young men will learn from his experience.

The whiplash injury also damages the neck. This occurs to persons who have been in a head-on collision or while sitting in a stopped automobile that is bumped in the rear. The head is thrown backward or forward forcibly with a recoil in the opposite direction that damages the neck. The supportive structures surrounding the vertebrae are stretched when the neck is jerked by a sudden forceful pull on the arm such as occurs in calf roping or parachute jumping.

These are but a few of the ways in which the neck is traumatized. Many of the injuries are forgotten unless they were serious or followed by disability. In time soreness and stiffness develop. It is most noticeable when the head is turned to the right or left and when the neck is flexed to read, sew, or write. Occasionally the victim hears a clicking sound or feels a grating sensation as the tissues rub together. When the pain is severe it is comparable to an inflamed tooth or migraine headache. Now and then the affected vertebrae are tender to the touch and pressure over the bone sends distress along the nerves that emerge from that area.

The diagnosis of arthritis of the vertebrae of the neck is not difficult provided the individual is willing to submit to an examination including X-rays. The neck is flexible and most of us are able to touch the breastbone with the chin; when the head is turned to the side, the far end of the collar bone is touched without hunching the shoulders.

But these motions produce pain when the vertebrae are damaged. The exact location depends upon the vertebrae involved and may vary from shooting pains to the head to aching in the shoulders and arms. Relief follows the use of heat and pain killing drugs. A response is also noted from the use of a head halter. In this procedure the individual is put into a bed in which the head is raised several inches above the foot of the bed. A rope with a weight attached is tied to a halter and the apparatus is fastened to the neck so that the weight pulls on the head. In this way the spastic muscles are stretched and the vertebrae pulled apart slightly to relieve the pressure on the nerves.

NERVE CUTTING

C. H. writes: A friend of mine had high blood pressure that was not helped by anything the doctor did. Finally, his doctor suggested that he have certain nerves in his spine cut. He went thru the operation and has not had any trouble with high blood pressure since. Could this story be true?
REPLY

This operation (sympathectomy) proves successful in certain types of high blood pressure. It does not work in all cases and it is difficult to tell in advance which individuals will be helped.

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

Mrs. H. writes: You mentioned Alcoholics Anonymous recently in your column. How do I go about contacting this organization?
REPLY

Look in the telephone book; the organization is listed in any city where its services are available. The national group is the Alcoholic Foundation, P. O. Box 459, Grand Central Annex, New York 17, N. Y.

PROTOSCOPIC

W. D. writes: Why is a protoscopic examination needed in colitis?
REPLY

To determine whether a rectal tumor is responsible for the disorder. In addition, the protoscope offers a means of detecting the ulcers of amebic dysentery or polyps in this area.

NOT CONTAGIOUS

K. R. P. writes: Do you think it harmful for people with cancer or diabetes to kiss little children?
REPLY

No; neither of these diseases is spread in this manner.

LATE CROSS-EYE

M. J. writes: What would make the eyes cross in an adult?
REPLY

The most common cause is paralysis of an eye muscle resulting from accident or brain hemorrhage.

NOSEBLEED AND PRESSURE

T. Y. writes: Why does high blood pressure cause nosebleed?
REPLY

A small vessel in the nose ruptures because it cannot withstand the high pressure. For many hypertensives, nosebleed is a godsend because it acts as a safety valve. In this respect, it is better to have a vessel break in the nose than in the brain.

The Old Artillery Captain Of Battery D

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Vinson's Patriotism Unquestionable; Truman's Faith In Vinson Justified; Late Chief Justice Feared Russian Appeasement

WASHINGTON — Some readers have suggested that I put the late chief justice of the United States in the position of being pro-Communist or a Red when I reported earlier this week that Fred Vinson, when secretary of the Treasury, transferred Harry D. White to the International Monetary Fund and advised President Truman to keep him in that job, under surveillance.

Since Fred Vinson is dead and cannot defend himself and since the last thing I wish to do is reflect on a great man and a very dear friend, I should like to set forth further the views of the late chief justice on communism. I had occasion to discuss this general subject with him on a camping trip in the Adirondacks not long before he died.

It is a fact that in the summer of 1945, shortly after he became secretary of the Treasury, I warned Vinson that Harry White was not a good man to have in the Treasury. I did this because I thought it was a service to Vinson and to the country, but I told Vinson that I could not fully substantiate the evidence against White.

It is a fact also that Fred Vinson recommended the transfer of White from the Treasury to the Monetary Fund. Mr. Truman obviously knew little about personnel matters inside the Treasury; furthermore had great confidence in Vinson, and the last thing he would do would be to tell him how to run the Treasury. Vinson had been a leader of Congress, a judge on the U. S. Court of Appeals; economic stabilizer; defense mobilizer; and head of the RFC. After 30 years in government, he knew far more about government administration than Truman, and the brand new President leaned heavily on him.

Careless Harry Vaughan

Furthermore the President was justified in leaning on him.

On the other hand, the President was not justified in leaning on Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan, a genial dilettante who exercised terrible judgement in picking such friends as John Maragon and got Truman into all sorts of trouble.

Despite repeated exposes in this column showing up Vaughan for what he was, Mr. Truman continued to trust him with handling highly sensitive FBI reports. It was Vaughan who either failed to deliver or failed to emphasize the importance of the first two November and December 1945 FBI reports on White.

Fred Vinson, however, considered an "old reliable" in government, took the position that White had a right to face the FBI informant who charged him with being part of a spy ring. Hoover in turn refused to reveal the informant, causing Vinson to recommend that White was innocent until proved guilty.

This may seem old fashioned in view of current public opinion. But at that time public opinion was different.

Ike And Stalin

At that time, the public had seen General Eisenhower receive from Stalin the highest decoration given by the Soviet. They had seen pictures of Eisenhower and Marshal Zhukov sitting together in Berlin night clubs. They knew that Eisenhower had stood at Lenin's tomb with Stalin in paying joint tribute to Soviet troops. And they read Ike's statements about a partnership between the two nations.

This was about the time Vinson was recommending that Harry White be transferred to the Monetary Fund — a period only six months after the end of the war with Japan. It was also about the time General Eisenhower was writing in his book: "Overshadowing all goals for us Americans was the contribution we locally might make toward establishing a working partnership between the United States and Russia."

So perhaps in this atmosphere it's understandable that Fred Vinson, then secretary of the Treasury, might well conclude that the suspected Harry White could merely have been overzealous in promoting the Russian-American partnership Eisenhower talked about, and wanted more time to watch White and review the facts.

At any rate, I do not hesitate to review these facts in defense of one who is now dead and cannot defend himself.

White At Work

Two other events are interesting in reviewing the Vinson-White situation. One took place at Bretton Woods, N. H., in the summer of 1944 when White and Henry Morgenthau negotiated the international monetary agreement. It was to administer this that White later was appointed.

White was the chief author of that agreement, and Vinson, who was present at Bretton Woods, watched him negotiate it.

Ironically, the Russians refused to sign the agreement; said it would be controlled by the United States, was an instrument of capitalist aggrandizement. Vinson knew how White had bucked the Russians at that conference. Probably that was one reason why he was more tolerant of White than I was.

Sitting with the late chief justice one evening last summer he told in great detail about his fear of Russian appeasement. He told specifically of one cabinet meeting in late 1945 (a few months before the Harry White transfer) in which Henry L. Stimson, then secretary of war and a Republican, had proposed to Truman that the United States share the secret of the atom bomb with Russia. Stimson felt that Russia would get the bomb anyway and it was better for us to trade it for peace then, while we were still in a trading position.

Fred Vinson, recalling that conversation, told how he had argued against giving away the atom, how Attorney General Tom Clark sided with him, and how Truman finally cast his vote with them.

That and other things about his fear of Russia were told that summer's evening by a great public servant who never knowingly would have betrayed the secrets of his country. We did not dream, as we listened to him, how soon he would be dead, or how soon his name would figure in a bitter controversy over the very subject we were then discussing—Russia.

What Did White Do?

In all the discussion of the Harry Dexter White case, little is said about White's stupendous operations. This man had risen to an extraordinary position in the Department of the Treasury of the United States principally because his first chief, Henry Morgenthau Jr., was not a technician in the field.

During the period of World War II, many problems arose which required more knowledge and experience than Morgenthau possessed. A group of skilled technicians and economists were brought into the department through White's influence. This group, consisting of White, Harold Glasser, Charles Kramer, William Ludwig Ullman, Victor Perlo, Nathan Gregory Silvermaster, Virginius Frank Coe, William Henry Taylor, Solomon Adler, and a few others on lower levels, was able to control Treasury policies which affected not only this but other countries. They combined with Alger Hiss in the State Department; Lauchlin Currie and Michael Greenberg in the White House; William Remington and Michael Lee in the Department of Commerce; and others in other departments. This interlocking of forces gave them a strength far beyond anything imaginable outside the government.

1. White organized the Bretton Woods Conference, which developed the give-away program. Bretton Woods came up with a plan for an international Monetary Fund and a plan for an International Bank for Reconstruction and Development (World Bank).

Into the International Monetary Fund, the United States agreed to put up $2,750,000,000, or 31 per cent; into the Bank, the United States put up $3,175,000,000, or 35 per cent. These agencies were intended to develop great economic power, the Fund dominating, to a degree, the currencies of the world.

This is not the place to discuss the nature either of the Fund or the Bank, except to say that whoever ran them could affect tremendously the economics of the entire world. They could control the value of the American dollar. Harry Dexter White organized the International Monetary Fund and was its U. S. executive director. Virginius Frank Coe became its secretary and was succeeded by William Henry Taylor, both of whom were named in Attorney General Brownell's testimony.

2. For a century or more, China's currency had been stable, although as the price of silver rose, increasing amounts of silver were exported to the United States, leaving China with nothing but valueless paper money. The United States Treasury agreed to assist China to stabilize her currency. Harry Dexter White, Lauchlin Currie, Harold Glasser, Charles Kramer, Solomon Adler and others got into the act. In a period of disastrous inflation, these Treasury aides and advisers helped further to wreck China's currency. It was this that paved the way for the Communist conquest of China. There can be no question but that investigation will prove that Americans helped the Chinese Communists.

3. The so-called Morgenthau Plan is now costing the United States billions of dollars. We now know that it was designed to wreck Germany and to keep that country under Russian control. The original Morgenthau Plan, entitled "Program to Prevent Germany from Starting a World War III," clearly eliminates the United States from Germany:

"Although the United States would have full military and civilian representation on whatever international commission or commissions may be established for the execution of the whole German program, the primary responsibility for the policing of Germany and for civil administration in Germany should be assumed by the military forces of Germany's continental neighbors. Specifically, these should include Russian, French, Polish, Czech, Greek, Yugoslav, Norwegian, Dutch and Belgian soldiers.

"Under this program United States troops could be withdrawn within a relatively short time."

The Plan further provided:

". . . the complete demilitarization of Germany in the shortest possible period of time after surrender. This means completely disarming the German army and people (including the removal or destruction of all war material), the total destruction of the whole German armament industry, and the removal or destruction of other key industries which are basic to military strength."

It is now fairly well, but not finally, established that this same group of men, of whom Harry Dexter White was the leader, presented this plan to Henry Morgenthau Jr., who in turn handed it to Franklin D. Roosevelt and Winston Churchill at the Quebec Conference. Henry Morgenthau Jr. ought to testify under oath concerning the origin of this disastrous barbarity.

These are three of many examples of the machinations of this dangerous group who worked under a cover-up.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Certainly the Communist infiltration in the government during the Truman administration will be an issue in the 1954 congressional elections — for the simple reason that the Democrats involuntarily are making it an issue.

The Democrats under the Truman-Stevenson leadership are still taking the side of the argument that the Communist infiltration was exaggerated and that it was always just a political "red herring." Likewise, these same Democrats evidently believe that "anti-McCarthyism" — which they have been expounding for some months now—is good as a political issue. This means that the Republicans naturally will counter with charges of lack of vigor by the Democratic administrations in ferreting out Communists.

If President Eisenhower is naive enough to believe that the Democrats will keep quiet about the "anti-McCarthyism" issue in 1954, he is very much mistaken. Likewise, the Republicans, of course, wherever there's a doubt will ask every candidate for Congress to stand up and be counted on whether he stands with Truman on the Harry Dexter White issue or against him.

Good Opening For GOP

As for Mr. Truman, he made sure that communism in government would be an issue in the coming campaign by charging in his nation-wide broadcast last Monday night that the Eisenhower administration had "embraced McCarthyism." This gives the Republicans the best opening they had in months because, if "McCarthyism" can be defined as demagoguery, then "Trumanism" is much worse because it includes not only demagoguery but a soft attitude toward Communist infiltration in government as evidenced by the revelations in the Harry Dexter White case. Nobody can accuse McCarthy of softness toward Communists in government.

Mr. Truman's record of "politeness" or "courtesy" not only wasn't manifested in his broadcast when he said the attorney general "lied," but his speeches before have been filled with similar epithets about his opponents. Back in the 1948 campaign, he cast some doubts on the loyalty of Governor Dewey and in the 1952 campaign he issued a statement referring to General Eisenhower's utterances in one instance as "thoroughly dishonest."

With all the talk about the dignity of former presidents who don't want to respond to congressional subpoenas where they can be examined under oath, it doesn't become Mr. Truman to say the attorney general "lied" when he denied any intention to impugn Mr. Truman's loyalty. Mr. Brownell didn't hit back by refusing to accept as true Mr. Truman's belated denial that he fired White when he found him disloyal. Mr. Truman described that comment as an "error," and Mr. Brownell ignored it.

One of the tragic aspects of the whole controversy is the way partisans have immediately jumped to the defense of Mr. Truman without waiting to hear all the facts. The press abroad, with some exceptions, did this. Dispatches as usual came from Britain, France and Germany saying American "prestige" had been damaged by the attorney general's speech. Every time something happens in America by way of an attack on the Truman administration, the European press — which remembers gratefully the billions spent abroad by that administration — promptly jumps on the Republicans and says American prestige has been injured. As one former American diplomat here said the other day: "Never has so much prestige been lost so often."

What Europeans think of Americans is colored by the "left wingers" abroad plus a number of disgruntled Americans who have been fired from their posts in an attempt to reduce the waste of American taxpayers' money.

More Than Hysteria

Fortunately, Lord Beaverbrook and other publishers abroad are beginning to see the anti-Communist fight inside America as something more than "hysteria," fomented allegedly by those who want to deprive innocent persons of their liberties. Fortunately also, the knowledge that Klaus Fuchs, a British citizen, was cleared by the British government to work in an American atomic energy project and then transmitted the secret of the atom bomb to Soviet Russia is beginning to take a rightful place in the controversy over whether enough vigilance has been exercised by the press in some of the countries where criticism of America is so often voiced.

The whole controversy over Communists inside the American, British and Canadian governments is a tragic one, and it is evident that Attorney General Brownell's speech was timely. For there are too many on the Democratic party and so-called "liberal" side who still pooh-pooh the whole thing as a "red herring" for political purposes. That's why, if only to arouse America to the peril — which still exists — it will be an issue in the next campaign unless a new and awakened leadership in the Democratic party gets the upper hand over the "left wing" groups led by Messrs. Truman and Stevenson.

Here And Now

Thanksgiving

Today is the beginning of "National Cage Bird Week," when special honors will be paid to canaries, parrots, parakeets and others of that colony.

This coming Thursday is Thanksgiving Day, a national custom, harking back to 1621, when the Mayflower Pilgrims gathered together after their first harvest to thank Providence for good crops and other mercies.

There is no occasion for bringing these two events in the same connection except that the birds and Homo sapiens belong to the same universe, and also that St. Francis preached to the friendly birds, telling them how thankful they should be to the Heavenly Father for caring for them.

The devotional observance of the early days has given way largely to sports, recreation, family reunions and feastings, with roast turkey and cranberry sauce traditionally associated with the dinner, thrown in.

If the Pilgrim fathers ever did anything they were sorry for, they were glad of it, for it gave them a chance to be more gloomy than ever.

Happy Medium Best

They hated bearbaiting, not because it gave pain to the bear, but because it gave pleasure to the spectators.

Nowadays, football has taken the place of bearbaiting as a popular sport, and spectators can watch the players pummel one another around over the field and have as much fun as their ancestors had in gloating over Bruin and his tormentors.

Now that Thanksgiving is just around the corner, what are we going to do about it? Let it pass just like any other holiday, or immortalize it?

Leisure is legitimate if it is not wasted. Being driven from pillar to post without intermission brings on heart weakness. Too much work and no play is as bad as too much play and no work. Observe the happy medium if you can afford it. It's nice to have nothing to do if you have plenty to do nothing with, but idleness can be very boresome.

Take a detour from the beaten path and catch up on some of your postponed engagements, such as being "gentler to your friends," and walking with them in the "cool of evening o'er the plush of homeleading fields, and standing long at parting, hand in hand." That is Thanksgiving!

Saying "thank you" is a social amenity too often forgotten, even among grown-ups. It can be overplayed. I heard of a man who mailed a note of thanks to a friend who had loaned him a match. He didn't live here.

Being thankful is more complicated. It involves knowing why and to whom to be thankful. If you don't know the answers, your heart isn't educated.

Compensations For Loss

The thoughtless litter are the thankless. The man who plumes himself on being "self-made," thereby relieves the Almighty of a great responsibility.

Others, down on their luck, feel that life has handed them a lemon, and there is nothing to be thankful for. There are compensations for every loss.

One day Benjamin Franklin was walking down the sidewalk in Philadelphia munching a loaf of bread. He was hungry and without money. The loaf slipped from his hand and a dog ran away with it. He only grinned and said, "Thank God, he can't run away with my appetite."

An old lady lost all her teeth but two, and she thanked God they hit!

A newscaster the other day reported that the crops that had been damaged by the drought in the Southwest had wonderfully revived, "thanks to the rain." Had God abdicated, or does he still

Headaches For Dewey

The scandals which are embarrassing the administration of Governor Dewey in New York are double-barreled and in a sense interlocking. To a large extent they stem from commercialization of the once quaint and rustic sport of harness-racing.

Dewey demanded that Arthur H. Wicks resign as majority leader and temporary president of the state senate which he now has done. The temporary president post automatically made Wicks acting lieutenant governor after the incumbent of that office resigned on October 1. The next day, investigation of the labor rackets at Yonkers Raceway, involving murder, disclosed that Senator Wicks and other political leaders had paid visits at Sing Sing Prison to "Joey" Fay, convicted labor extortionist.

Wicks says he visited Fay only to minimize labor difficulties in Wicks' district. "I have no interest in any race track anywhere in the world, direct or indirect," the Republican senator declared in a television speech on October 18. In that speech Wicks said he would present his resignation to the legislature but only "under the unyielding insistence" of Governor Dewey. Wicks later changed his mind on resigning, then changed it again and submitted his resignation on Wednesday.

Senator Wicks has been for several years chairman of a joint state legislative committee studying racing laws and rules. The committee is not a criminal investigating agency. Wicks also has sponsored legislation on racing.

Governor Dewey boasts that he has never bet on a horse race in his life, but other prominent New York Republicans, some closer to Dewey than Wicks had been, have been linked to the harness tracks. So have some Democrats.

J. Russell Sprague, Dewey leader in Nassau County, resigned as Republican national committeeman from New York after disclosure that he owned stock in the Yonkers track. Senator Mahoney, mentioned to succeed Senator Wicks as majority leader, has received legal fees from a harness track and is director of an insurance company handling some of that track's insurance. Mahoney has announced he has given up the legal work for the track and has advised the insurance company to close out its business with the track.

William F. Bleakley, former Republican candidate for governor, on November 14 confirmed his resignation as general counsel of the New York Racing Associations, a running track group trying to get the state legislature to raise the tracks' share of the "bite" taken out of pari-mutuel betting. Bleakley said that he had resigned because, "I felt that I couldn't be of any help to them while all this was going on." He retained his post as general counsel to the Yonkers Trotting Association and his stock in a raceway.

Pari-mutuel betting at New York's seven harness tracks was 62 per cent of the total bet at harness tracks in the nation in 1952, though 11 other states have legalized such betting on a wide scale. Business is booming, but Governor Dewey [illegible] to cut down the tracks' take, now higher t[illegible] thoroughbred tracks.

Attendance at New York's thoroughbred tracks is slightly off this year as compared to last; so is betting. Nationally, harness racing is under a cloud or under actual investigation in several states, and links between the ownership of New York tracks and of tracks in other states have been disclosed.

Fifty Years Of Aviation

A half-century has passed since the Wright brothers made their first powered flights at Kitty Hawk, N. C., and there are millions alive today who have watched every phase of the amazing development of the airplane.

But because at first travel by air with no sustaining balloon was such a tricky and dangerous business, it was many years before its general availability was recognized and then fully demonstrated. The development and high popularity of the gasoline-propelled automobile came so rapidly that it seems difficult to believe that it was only 10 years before the Wrights were flying that Charles E. Durvea was driving his understung one-lunger on the streets of Springfield, Mass.

The airplane was 24 years old when the intrepid Col. Charles Augustus Lindbergh, a government air mail flier, made his momentous nonstop solo trip in the "Spirit of St. Louis" from Mineola, L. I., to Paris, bearing a letter of introduction to the American ambassador to France. He did not realize that his 3,600-mile flight in 33½ hours was its own letter of introduction to an acclaiming world.

A year later the giant dirigible Graf Zeppelin made a slow round-trip from Germany to New Jersey carrying passengers both ways, but its commander, safely home, concluded that the dirigible was unsuited to oceanic travel against buffeting winds.

The world is too sadly familiar with the destruction of cities by bombers in wartime, but it rejoices in the present status of passenger airplanes, which cross all continents and all oceans. The relative fewness of accidents has made their use widely popular.

Important personages in this and other lands travel by air. A European trip is now possible in a two-week vacation, with six days at least to spend in each of two foreign countries.

Songs Of Yesteryear

Every now and then nostalgic references to the songs of yesteryear appear in print, and the memories evoked may be as varied and numerous as the readers. Ole Joe Howard, singing and dancing at 80-plus, is keeping alive those he wrote a half-century ago, and they certainly are tuneful and catchy.

What adult or high school pupil of its day can fail to remember "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here!" whose tune is derived from Sir Arthur Sullivan's "Pirates of Penzance," or the melody of "Three O'Clock in the Morning," which came later and sold 2,000,000 copies?

But it is extremely doubtful if one out of 1,000 realizes that the lyrics of both were written by one person, and that person a woman, Mrs. Theodora Morse, recently dead at 70. As a Brooklyn school girl she crashed her way to Theodore Morse, already a successful song writer, with an effusion he helped her improve. Two years later Theodore and Theodora were married and partners in writing songs.

"Three O'Clock in the Morning" was a pretty rough European drinking song, which was converted into a dreamy waltz with the lyric rewritten. No melodies are entirely new, but the origins of most are lost in history.

How To Keep Well

Save The Neck For The Future

Arthritis of the bones of the neck usually is traceable to an injury earlier in life. A friend with this condition recalled two distinct head injuries while playing football in college. In both instances he tackled a ball player head-on following the opening kickoff. On a third occasion he was foolish enough to attempt to back flip in the gymnasium and landed directly on his neck. The man is now paying for his folly and hopes that other young men will learn from his experience.

The whiplash injury also damages the neck. This occurs to persons who have been in a head-on collision or while sitting in a stopped automobile that is bumped in the rear. The head is thrown backward or forward forcibly with a recoil in the opposite direction that damages the neck. The supportive structures surrounding the vertebrae are stretched when the neck is jerked by a sudden forceful pull on the arm such as occurs in calf roping or parachute jumping.

These are but a few of the ways in which the neck is traumatized. Many of the injuries are forgotten unless they were serious or followed by disability. In time soreness and stiffness develop. It is most noticeable when the head is turned to the right or left and when the neck is flexed to read, sew, or write. Occasionally the victim hears a clicking sound or feels a grating sensation as the tissues rub together. When the pain is severe it is comparable to an inflamed tooth or migraine headache. Now and then the affected vertebrae are tender to the touch and pressure over the bone sends distress along the nerves that emerge from that area.

The diagnosis of arthritis of the vertebrae of the neck is not difficult provided the individual is willing to submit to an examination including X-rays. The neck is flexible and most of us are able to touch the breastbone with the chin; when the head is turned to the side, the far end of the collar bone is touched without hunching the shoulders.

But these motions produce pain when the vertebrae are damaged. The exact location depends upon the vertebrae involved and may vary from shooting pains to the head to aching in the shoulders and arms. Relief follows the use of heat and pain killing drugs. A response is also noted from the use of a head halter. In this procedure the individual is put into a bed in which the head is raised several inches above the foot of the bed. A rope with a weight attached is tied to a halter and the apparatus is fastened to the neck so that the weight pulls on the head. In this way the spastic muscles are stretched and the vertebrae pulled apart slightly to relieve the pressure on the nerves.

NERVE CUTTING

C. H. writes: A friend of mine had high blood pressure that was not helped by anything the doctor did. Finally, his doctor suggested that he have certain nerves in his spine cut. He went thru the operation and has not had any trouble with high blood pressure since. Could this story be true?
REPLY

This operation (sympathectomy) proves successful in certain types of high blood pressure. It does not work in all cases and it is difficult to tell in advance which individuals will be helped.

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

Mrs. H. writes: You mentioned Alcoholics Anonymous recently in your column. How do I go about contacting this organization?
REPLY

Look in the telephone book; the organization is listed in any city where its services are available. The national group is the Alcoholic Foundation, P. O. Box 459, Grand Central Annex, New York 17, N. Y.

PROTOSCOPIC

W. D. writes: Why is a protoscopic examination needed in colitis?
REPLY

To determine whether a rectal tumor is responsible for the disorder. In addition, the protoscope offers a means of detecting the ulcers of amebic dysentery or polyps in this area.

NOT CONTAGIOUS

K. R. P. writes: Do you think it harmful for people with cancer or diabetes to kiss little children?
REPLY

No; neither of these diseases is spread in this manner.

LATE CROSS-EYE

M. J. writes: What would make the eyes cross in an adult?
REPLY

The most common cause is paralysis of an eye muscle resulting from accident or brain hemorrhage.

NOSEBLEED AND PRESSURE

T. Y. writes: Why does high blood pressure cause nosebleed?
REPLY

A small vessel in the nose ruptures because it cannot withstand the high pressure. For many hypertensives, nosebleed is a godsend because it acts as a safety valve. In this respect, it is better to have a vessel break in the nose than in the brain.

The Old Artillery Captain Of Battery D

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

WASHINGTON — Some readers have suggested that I put the late chief justice of the United States in the position of being pro-Communist or a Red when I reported earlier this week that Fred Vinson, when secretary of the Treasury, transferred Harry D. White to the International Monetary Fund and advised President Truman to keep him in that job, under surveillance.

Since Fred Vinson is dead and cannot defend himself and since the last thing I wish to do is reflect on a great man and a very dear friend, I should like to set forth further the views of the late chief justice on communism. I had occasion to discuss this general subject with him on a camping trip in the Adirondacks not long before he died.

It is a fact that in the summer of 1945, shortly after he became secretary of the Treasury, I warned Vinson that Harry White was not a good man to have in the Treasury. I did this because I thought it was a service to Vinson and to the country, but I told Vinson that I could not fully substantiate the evidence against White.

It is a fact also that Fred Vinson recommended the transfer of White from the Treasury to the Monetary Fund. Mr. Truman obviously knew little about personnel matters inside the Treasury; furthermore had great confidence in Vinson, and the last thing he would do would be to tell him how to run the Treasury. Vinson had been a leader of Congress, a judge on the U. S. Court of Appeals; economic stabilizer; defense mobilizer; and head of the RFC. After 30 years in government, he knew far more about government administration than Truman, and the brand new President leaned heavily on him.

Careless Harry Vaughan

Furthermore the President was justified in leaning on him.

On the other hand, the President was not justified in leaning on Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan, a genial dilettante who exercised terrible judgement in picking such friends as John Maragon and got Truman into all sorts of trouble.

Despite repeated exposes in this column showing up Vaughan for what he was, Mr. Truman continued to trust him with handling highly sensitive FBI reports. It was Vaughan who either failed to deliver or failed to emphasize the importance of the first two November and December 1945 FBI reports on White.

Fred Vinson, however, considered an "old reliable" in government, took the position that White had a right to face the FBI informant who charged him with being part of a spy ring. Hoover in turn refused to reveal the informant, causing Vinson to recommend that White was innocent until proved guilty.

This may seem old fashioned in view of current public opinion. But at that time public opinion was different.

Ike And Stalin

At that time, the public had seen General Eisenhower receive from Stalin the highest decoration given by the Soviet. They had seen pictures of Eisenhower and Marshal Zhukov sitting together in Berlin night clubs. They knew that Eisenhower had stood at Lenin's tomb with Stalin in paying joint tribute to Soviet troops. And they read Ike's statements about a partnership between the two nations.

This was about the time Vinson was recommending that Harry White be transferred to the Monetary Fund — a period only six months after the end of the war with Japan. It was also about the time General Eisenhower w s writing in his book: "Overshadowing all goals for us Americans was the contribution we locally might make toward establishing a working partnership between the United States and Russia."

So perhaps in this atmosphere it's understandable that Fred Vinson, then secretary of the Treasury, might well conclude that the suspected Harry White could merely have been overzealous in promoting the Russian-American partnership Eisenhower talked about, and wanted more time to watch White and review the facts.

At any rate, I do not hesitate to review these facts in defense of one who is now dead and cannot defend himself.

White At Work

Two other events are interesting in reviewing the Vinson-White situation. One took place at Bretton Woods, N. H., in the summer of 1944 when White and Henry Morgenthau negotiated the international monetary agreement. It was to administer this that White later was appointed.

White was the chief author of that agreement, and Vinson, who was present at Bretton Woods, watched him negotiate it.

Ironically, the Russians refused to sign the agreement; said it would be controlled by the United States, was an instrument of capitalist aggrandizement. Vinson knew how White had bucked the Russians at that conference. Probably that was one reason why he was more tolerant of White than I was.

Sitting with the late chief justice one evening last summer he told in great detail about his fear of Russian appeasement. He told specifically of one cabinet meeting in late 1945 (a few months before the Harry White transfer) in which Henry L. Stimson, then secretary of war and a Republican, had proposed to Truman that the United States share the secret of the atom bomb with Russia. Stimson felt that Russia would get the bomb anyway and it was better for us to trade it for peace then, while we were still in a trading position.

Fred Vinson, recalling that conversation, told how he had argued against giving away the atom, how Attorney General Tom Clark sided with him, and how Truman finally cast his vote with them.

That and other things about his fear of Russia were told that summer's evening by a great public servant who never knowingly would have betrayed the secrets of his country. We did not dream, as we listened to him, how soon he would be dead, or how soon his name would figure in a bitter controversy over the very subject we were then discussing—Russia.

What Did White Do?

In all the discussion of the Harry Dexter White case, little is said about White's stupendous operations. This man had risen to an extraordinary position in the Department of the Treasury of the United States principally because his first chief, Henry Morgenthau Jr., was not a technician in the field.

During the period of World War II, many problems arose which required more knowledge and experience than Morgenthau possessed. A group of skilled technicians and economists were brought into the department through White's influence. This group, consisting of White, Harold Glasser, Charles Kramer, William Ludwig Ullman, Victor Perlo, Nathan Gregory Silvermaster, Virginius Frank Coe, William Henry Taylor, Solomon Adler, and a few others on lower levels, was able to control Treasury policies which affected not only this but other countries. They combined with Alger Hiss in the State Department; Lauchlin Currie and Michael Greenberg in the White House; William Remington and Michael Lee in the Department of Commerce; and others in other departments. This interlocking of forces gave them a strength far beyond anything imaginable outside the government.

1. White organized the Bretton Woods Conference, which developed the give-away program. Bretton Woods came up with a plan for an international Monetary Fund and a plan for an International Bank for Reconstruction and Development (World Bank).

Into the International Monetary Fund, the United States agreed to put up $2,750,000,000, or 31 per cent; into the Bank, the United States put up $3,175,000,000, or 35 per cent. These agencies were intended to develop great economic power, the Fund dominating, to a degree, the currencies of the world.

This is not the place to discuss the nature either of the Fund or the Bank, except to say that whoever ran them could affect tremendously the economics of the entire world. They could control the value of the American dollar. Harry Dexter White organized the International Monetary Fund and was its U. S. executive director. Virginius Frank Coe became its secretary and was succeeded by William Henry Taylor, both of whom were named in Attorney General Brownell's testimony.

2. For a century or more, China's currency had been stable, although as the price of silver rose, increasing amounts of silver were exported to the United States, leaving China with nothing but valueless paper money. The United States Treasury agreed to assist China to stabilize her currency. Harry Dexter White, Lauchlin Currie, Harold Glasser, Charles Kramer, Solomon Adler and others got into the act. In a period of disastrous inflation, these Treasury aides and advisers helped further to wreck China's currency. It was this that paved the way for the Communist conquest of China. There can be no question but that Americans helped the Chinese Communists.

3. The so-called Morgenthau Plan is now costing the United States billions of dollars. We now know that it was designed to wreck Germany and to keep that country under Russian control. The original Morgenthau Plan, entitled "Program to Prevent Germany from Starting a World War III," clearly eliminates the United States from Germany:

"Although the United States would have full military and civilian representation on whatever international commission or commissions may be established for the execution of the whole German program, the primary responsibility for the policing of Germany and for civil administration in Germany should be assumed by the military forces of Germany's continental neighbors. Specifically, these should include Russian, French, Polish, Czech, Greek, Yugoslav, Norwegian, Dutch and Belgian soldiers.

"Under this program United States troops could be withdrawn within a relatively short time."

The Plan further provided:

". . . the complete demilitarization of Germany in the shortest possible period of time after surrender. This means completely disarming the German army and people (including the removal or destruction of all war material), the total destruction of the whole German armament industry, and the removal or destruction of other key industries which are basic to military strength."

It is now fairly well, but not finally, established that this same group of men, of whom Harry Dexter White was the leader, presented this plan to Henry Morgenthau Jr., who in turn handed it to Franklin D. Roosevelt and Winston Churchill at the Quebec Conference. Henry Morgenthau Jr. ought to testify under oath concerning the origin of this disastrous barbarity.

These are three of many examples of the machinations of this dangerous group who worked under a cover-up.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Certainly the Communist infiltration in the government during the Truman administration will be an issue in the 1954 congressional elections — for the simple reason that the Democrats involuntarily are making it an issue.

The Democrats under the Truman-Stevenson leadership are still taking the side of the argument that the Communist infiltration was exaggerated and that it was always just a political "red herring." Likewise, these same Democrats evidently believe that "anti-McCarthyism" — which they have been expounding for some months now—is good as a political issue. This means that the Republicans naturally will counter with charges of lack of vigor by the Democratic administrations in ferreting out Communists.

If President Eisenhower is naive enough to believe that the Democrats will keep quiet about the "anti-McCarthyism" issue in 1954, he is very much mistaken. Likewise, the Republicans, of course, wherever there's a doubt will ask every candidate for Congress to stand up and be counted on whether he stands with Truman on the Harry Dexter White issue or against him.

Good Opening For GOP

As for Mr. Truman, he made sure that communism in government would be an issue in the coming campaign by charging in his nation-wide broadcast last Monday night that the Eisenhower administration had "embraced McCarthyism." This gives the Republicans the best opening they had in months because, if "McCarthyism" can be defined as demagoguery, then "Trumanism" is much worse because it includes not only demagoguery but a soft attitude toward Communist infiltration in government as evidenced by the revelations in the Harry Dexter White case. Nobody can accuse McCarthy of softness toward Communists in government.

Mr. Truman's record of "politeness" or "courtesy" not only wasn't manifested in his broadcast when he said the attorney general "lied," but his speeches before have been filled with similar epithets about his opponents. Back in the 1948 campaign, he cast some doubts on the loyalty of Governor Dewey and in the 1952 campaign he issued a statement referring to General Eisenhower's utterances in one instance as "thoroughly dishonest."

With all the talk about the dignity of former presidents who don't want to respond to congressional subpoenas where they can be examined under oath, it doesn't become Mr. Truman to say the attorney general "lied" when he denied any intention to impugn Mr. Truman's loyalty. Mr. Brownell didn't hit back by refusing to accept as true Mr. Truman's belated denial that he fired White when he found him disloyal. Mr. Truman described that comment as an "error," and Mr. Brownell ignored it.

One of the tragic aspects of the whole controversy is the way partisans have immediately jumped to the defense of Mr. Truman without waiting to hear all the facts. The press abroad, with some exceptions, did this. Dispatches as usual came from Britain, France and Germany saying American "prestige" had been damaged by the attorney general's speech. Every time something happens in America by way of an attack on the Truman administration, the European press — which remembers gratefully the billions spent abroad by that administration — promptly jumps on the Republicans and says American prestige has been injured. As one former American diplomat here said the other day: "Never has so much prestige been lost so often."

What Europeans think of Americans is colored by the "left wingers" abroad plus a number of disgruntled Americans who have been fired from their posts in an attempt to reduce the waste of American taxpayers' money.

More Than Hysteria

Fortunately, Lord Beaverbrook and other publishers abroad are beginning to see the anti-Communist fight inside America as something more than "hysteria," fomented allegedly by those who want to deprive innocent persons of their liberties. Fortunately also, the knowledge that Klaus Fuchs, a British citizen, was cleared by the British government to work in an American atomic energy project and then transmitted the secret of the atom bomb to Soviet Russia is beginning to take a rightful place in the controversy over whether enough vigilance has been exercised by the press in some of the countries where criticism of America is so often voiced.

The whole controversy over Communists inside the American, British and Canadian governments is a tragic one, and it is evident that Attorney General Brownell's speech was timely. For there are too many on the Democratic party and so-called "liberal" side who still pooh-pooh the whole thing as a "red herring" for political purposes. That's why, if only to arouse America to the peril — which still exists — it will be an issue in the next campaign unless a new and awakened leadership in the Democratic party gets the upper hand over the "left wing" groups led by Messrs. Truman and Stevenson.

Here And Now

Thanksgiving

Today is the beginning of "National Cage Bird Week," when special honors will be paid to canaries, parrots, parakeets and others of that colony.

This coming Thursday is Thanksgiving Day, a national custom, harking back to 1621, when the Mayflower Pilgrims gathered together after their first harvest to thank Providence for good crops and other mercies.

There is no occasion for bringing these two events in the same connection except that the birds and Homo sapiens belong to the same universe, and also that St. Francis preached to the friendly birds, telling them how thankful they should be to the Heavenly Father for caring for them.

The devotional observance of the early days has given way largely to sports, recreation, family reunions and feastings, with roast turkey and cranberry sauce traditionally associated with the dinner, thrown in.

If the Pilgrim fathers ever did anything they were sorry for, they were glad of it, for it gave them a chance to be more gloomy than ever.

Happy Medium Best

They hated bearbaiting, not because it gave pain to the bear, but because it gave pleasure to the spectators.

Nowadays, football has taken the place of bearbaiting as a popular sport, and spectators can watch the players pummel one another around over the field and have as much fun as their ancestors had in gloating over Bruin and his tormentors.

Now that Thanksgiving is just around the corner, what are we going to do about it? Let it pass just like any other holiday, or immortalize it?

Leisure is legitimate if it is not wasted. Being driven from pillar to post without intermission brings on heart weakness. Too much work and no play is as bad as too much play and no work. Observe the happy medium if you can afford it. It's nice to have nothing to do if you have plenty to do nothing with, but idleness can be very boresome.

Take a detour from the beaten path and catch up on some of your postponed engagements, such as being "gentler to your friends," and walking with them in the "cool of evening o'er the plush of home-leading fields, and standing long at parting, hand in hand." That is Thanksgiving!

Saying "thank you" is a social amenity too often forgotten, even among grown-ups. It can be overplayed. I heard of a man who mailed a note of thanks to a friend who had loaned him a match. He didn't live here.

Being thankful is more complicated. It involves knowing why and to whom to be thankful. If you don't know the answers, your heart isn't educated.

Compensations For Loss

The thoughtless litter are the thankless. The man who plumes himself on being "self-made," thereby relieves the Almighty of a great responsibility.

Others, down on their luck, feel that life has handed them a lemon, and there is nothing to be thankful for. There are compensations for every loss.

One day Benjamin Franklin was walking down the sidewalk in Philadelphia munching a loaf of bread. He was hungry and without money. The loaf slipped from his hand and a dog ran away with it. He only grinned and said, "Thank God, he can't run away with my appetite."

An old lady lost all her teeth but two, and she thanked God they hit!

A newscaster the other day reported that the crops that had been damaged by the drought in the Southwest had wonderfully revived, "thanks to the rain." Had God abdicated, or does he still

Midwest Snowstorm Ties Up Buses, Closes Schools

Train Crash Kills Two In Colorado

DENVER, Nov. 20 (AP)—A wintry blast lashed the western portions of Kansas and Nebraska today after stirring up blizzards which stalled two cross-country buses, blocked roads and closed schools in Eastern Colorado.

A Continental Trailways System bus with 14 persons aboard, bound for Denver from Kansas City, was trapped for 13 hours before two snow plows late this morning rammed through six-foot drifts on U. S. Highway 36 about half a mile east of Joes, a small agricultural community of 100 people located 36 miles from the Kansas line and 126 miles east of Denver.

A second Trailways bus eastbound from Denver to St. Louis and carrying 17 passengers, including three small children, skidded into a snowbank alongside U. S. 36 as the driver, H. V. Hodges of Evergreen, Colo., attempted to pass a stalled automobile. The bus was freed after about two hours.

Both buses continued toward their destinations this afternoon.

A third Trailways bus, running from St. Louis to Denver, was held up for seven hours at Norton, Kan., until blizzard conditions cleared.

In Western Colorado, meantime, two Denver & Rio Grande Western trains, one carrying passengers and mail and the other freight, crashed headon, killing both engineers. The accident occurred 6 miles north of Grande Valley.

The 112-car freight train apparently was unable to stop and ran through a switch, witnesses said.

The dead were Fred Kelley, 67, engineer of the mail train locomotive, and Glenn Arnspiger, 57, piloting the freight. Firemen of both trains were injured.

The whirling Nebraska storm left 9 inches of snow at Red Cloud, in the south central part of the state, and created blizzards in other sections. Grand Island reported heavy snow and drifting. Parochial schools in the city, as well as rural schools, were closed.

Blustery winds swept snow into road-blocking drifts in Northwest Kansas. Snowfalls measuring 12 inches were reported at Goodland, Atwood and Long Island. McCracken had six inches.

The highway department cautioned motorists that travel in Western Kansas was "extremely hazardous." The roads were iced and the wind-driven snow cut visibility almost to zero.

Snub-nosed towboats hauled 33 million tons of revenue freight up and down the Mississippi last year. This was three times the amount carried by more glamorous steamboats at their zenith a century ago.

Elevator Plunges Three Floors, 3 Women Are Hurt

BALTIMORE, Nov. 20 (AP)—An elevator carrying 12 passengers plunged three floors at the Paramount building in downtown Baltimore today, sending three women to the hospital.

The car "must have hit something," said Mrs. Helen Bright, the operator.

Mechanics said the car lost traction on its cables as it began its descent from the fourth floor and plunged to a pit where it struck a heavy rubberized cushion and bounced upwards.

Those hospitalized were Mrs. Concetta Silvestri, 28, ankle injuries; Miss Ann Marie Schlegel, 21, hip injuries, and Mrs. Florence Sanders, 46, head injuries. All are from Baltimore.

Truman Unable To Attend Dinner

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 20 (AP)—Harry S. Truman said today he would be unable to attend a Freedom House dinner Sunday in New York City.

He said he regretted that pressure of business would prevent him from being at the dinner, at which Dag Hammarskjold, secretary general of the United Nations will be honored by the U. N. nations which participated in the Korean conflict.

Dry Ice Puts Out Coal Fire

HAGERSTOWN, Nov. 20 (AP)—Postmaster Thomas M. Simpson said today his dry ice experiment worked and the smouldering fire in his 110-ton coal pile is out.

To avoid flooding the Post Office basement, Hagerstown firemen tried burying two 50-pound chunks of dry ice in the pile. Fumes from the solidified carbon dioxide apparently did the job.

Some specimens of blue whale exceed 100 feet in length. Ten men can stand upright in the mouth of such a whale.

Bomber Crash Kills 4 Airmen

EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 20 (AP)—A B29 bomber crashed on landing at Biggs Air Force Base today, burst into flames and killed four airmen aboard.

Base officials said the four-engine plane belonged to the 1st "Tall Target" Squadron stationed at Biggs.

Pigsty Brings Damage Suit

BEVERLY SHORES, Ind., Nov. 6 (AP)—The 11 pigs that took Sweet Pea's place in Mrs. Fred Billerbeck's pigsty got her landlords sued for $50,000 damages today.

The fuss goes back to Mrs. Billerbeck's complaints about the odors from the neighboring corral where Mel Schwab kept his five-gaited saddle horse Lady Jane.

When she failed to get this town on Lake Michigan to ban livestock, she retaliated last summer by setting up a sow named Sweet Pea in her yard.

Both owners finally relented and sent their animals to the country. But still no ordinance against livestock, so Mrs. Billerbeck brought in the 11 pigs.

It was too much for another neighbor, Lewis E. Peters. He filed the damage suit in Porter County Circuit Court against Joseph C. Aldens and William S. Josephs, who own Mrs. Billerbeck's house. He called the pigs a health menace.

Charge Irish MP With Sedition Talk

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Nov. 20 (AP)—A newly elected member of the Northern Ireland Parliament was charged today with sedition.

Accused was William Kelly, 32-year-old Republican Abstentionist MP, who government prosecutors charged, in election speeches last month, said:

"I will not take the oath of allegiance to a foreign queen of a bastard nation. I took the oath of allegiance to the Irish Republic when I was 16.

"I do not believe in constitutional methods. I believe in the use of force, the more the better. That may be treason or sedition: Call it whatever the hell you like. The police have their official note-takers here but I do not give a damn about them."

Police Seeking Mental Patient In Brutal Killing

CAMBRIDGE, Md., Nov. 20 (AP)—State police today combed the Eastern Shore for a former convict and mental patient who answers the description of the killer of 30-year-old Howard Lee Coleman Jr.

"If they find him, they may have to shoot it out," said one Talbot County official familiar with the man's record.

Coleman died at Cambridge-Maryland Hospital this morning of five gunshot wounds in the chest and abdomen. He managed to drag himself to a farmhouse near the scene of the shooting just off Route 16, a mile north of East New Market.

A truck driver for a hardware firm, Coleman was the father of two daughters, 3 and 7. His wife is expecting a third child.

State police said Coleman told them before he died that he picked up a hitchhiker on Route 50 near Cambridge about 6 o'clock last night.

Officers said the hitchhiker and Coleman were previously acquanted. Coleman said the two men drove about 20 miles, then stopped in a Federalsburg tavern where they drank together until about 10:30 p.m.

They left to return to Cambridge, but stopped near East New Market to get out to stretch. Coleman told police the man he knew only as "Blackie" then produced a .38 caliber pistol and began shooting.

"Blackie" then got in the car and disappeared.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy L. Hubbard called police after the wounded man dragged himself to their farm home nearby.

Easton State Police were looking tonight for a 30-year-old Federalsburg man described as a "vicious-natured mental criminal."

Troopers said the man they are looking for has been in the Eastern Shore State Hospital for the Insane and Spring Grove State Hospital.

Bodies Of Five Miners Discovered

BONANZA, Utah, Nov. 20 (AP)—Bodies of five men who died in an explosion at the American Gilsonite Co. mine near here Nov. 5 were recovered late yesterday and today. Three other bodies still are in the mine.

Officials said the men apparently had been killed instantly by the blast, which ripped through some 1,100 feet of the trench-like mine.

Convicted Kidnap-Slayers Denied Plea For Wedding

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 20 (AP)—There will be no death house wedding bells for the kidnap-slayers of Bobby Greenlease.

Both Carl Austin Hall and his paramour, Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, have been quoted as saying they wished to be married befre their date with death in theo gas chamber, Dec. 18.

But the government spiked that possibility today.

The Justice Department in Washington, speaking for the Bureau of Prisons, said such a marriage would not be permitted.

With only 28 days to live, the condemned pair apparently are resigned to their fate.

Hall will not appeal the death sentence imposed on the pair yesterday by U. S. District Judge Albert L. Reeves upon recommendation of a jury which heard the evidence during a three-day advisory trial.

Judge Reeves and Roy K. Dietrich, court-appointed attorney for the 34-year-old Hall, issued a joint statement after a conference saying the prisoner would not appeal.

Mrs. Heady appeared nonchalant today in her cell, where she has been spending much of the time reading. Hall appeared glum.

One of their regular visitors is the Rev. George L. Evans, pastor of St. Paul's Episcopal church in Kansas City, Kan. He was an instructor at Kemper Military Academy in Booneville, Mo, when Hall was a student there.

He said Hall had shown "definite contrition" and that Mrs. Heady also is penitent. But he declined to comment on whether he had discussed marriage plans with the couple, both of whom have been married and divorced.

Hall's attorney said the prisoner had expressed a desire to marry the woman with whom he lived in St. Joseph before the kidnaping.

Maryland Farm Bureau Meets

BALTIMORE, Nov. 20 (AP)—Maryland Farm Bureau voting delegates met here today, giving most of their attention to the price support issue and indicating they may back the Flexible support program.

Early arrivals of the 280 delegates due here to discuss national farm policies showed a tendency to favor flexible over high fixed government supports.

The group will decide upon a number of recommendations on problems and forward them to the American Farm Bureau Federation which meets in Chicago next month.

Wilson A. Heaps, president of the State Farm Association, told delegates Secretary of Agriculture Benson wants the various farm organizations to submit their opinions on national farm issues to him as a guide in future decisions.

The delegates today were considering 15 different resolutions to be submitted to the national federation.

In discussions, state Farm Bureau leaders pointed out that wartime rigid supports of 90 per cent of parity for basic crops were continued long after war needs disappeared.

AAUW Reports Newsletter

A "study with action" legislative program was emphasized by Dr. Hallie Farmer in her talk on "Legislation Is Our Responsibility," at the American Association of University Women Workshop in Baltimore.

Dr. Farmer, social studies professor at Alabama State College for Women, and chairman of the national Legislative committee of the AAUW, outlined three problems in the action field of National Legislation. She said they are a program varied enough to interest 135,000 members in the large and small branches of AAUW; to have differences of opinion expressed by intelligent disagreement, rather than an expression of emotions alone; and maintaining democracy not only as our responsibility, but also ours to work through the many devices available.

A project of the national Legislative committee is a newsletter which is to be published to AAUW members at a small subscription, every month Congress is in session.

Mrs. William H. Maltbie presided at the board meeting, which was attended by representatives from 11 Maryland branches.

Attending from the Frostburg-Georges' Creek Branch were Mrs. Joseph H. Kruson, president; Miss Agnes Howat, historian and Status of Women chairman; and Miss Jane Grindel, Program chairman.

Mrs. Mary H. Carney, grandmother of the bride, is wearing a black costume with orchid corsage and Mrs. Helmstetter has chosen a brown costume with orchid corsage.

The bride is a graduate of St. Mary's High School, class of 1947 and Ursuline Business School. She is a member of St. Mary's Sodality, and is employed in the sales department of the Potomac Edison Company. The bridegroom attended Allegany High School and served two and one half years in the Navy during World War II. He is a member of Cumberland Council 586, K. of C., and is employed by a sheet metal contractor, Harrisburg, Pa.

Mr. Carney will be host for a reception for his daughter and her bridal party at Minke's Cottage Inn from 12 until 2 o'clock. An arrangement of yellow roses and a combination candelabra epergne with which yellow tapers and roses decorate the table, centered with the tiered wedding cake, adorned with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

For their wedding trip to New York the bride has selected an aqua knit dress, trimmed in brown, an aqua hat and brown accessories, and her orchid corsage will complete her costume. Upon their return Mr. Helmstetter and his bride will reside at 412 Kean Terrace.

AAUW Reports Newsletter

A "study with action" legislative program was emphasized by Dr. Hallie Farmer in her talk on "Legislation Is Our Responsibility," at the American Association of University Women Workshop in Baltimore.

Dr. Farmer, social studies professor at Alabama State College for Women, and chairman of the national Legislative committee of the AAUW, outlined three problems in the action field of National Legislation. She said they are a program varied enough to interest 135,000 members in the large and small branches of AAUW; to have differences of opinion expressed by intelligent disagreement, rather than an expression of emotions alone; and maintaining democracy not only as our responsibility, but also ours to work through the many devices available.

A project of the national Legislative committee is a newsletter which is to be published to AAUW members at a small subscription, every month Congress is in session.

Mrs. William H. Maltbie presided at the board meeting, which was attended by representatives from 11 Maryland branches.

Attending from the Frostburg-Georges' Creek Branch were Mrs. Joseph H. Kruson, president; Miss Agnes Howat, historian and Status of Women chairman; and Miss Jane Grindel, Program chairman.

County Interested In Funds For Road Work

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners announces this county is one of the five in Maryland which have expressed interest in the State Roads Commission fund for work on its roads system.

The General Assembly of 1953 provided $50,000,000 in a bond bank for improvement of secondary roads.

Board President William H. Emmert stated he and Commissioners James Holmes and James Orr are anxious to get any funds for the county that are available.

Commissioner Holmes pointed out that various projects are on tap, including a road to Mt. Savage School that is estimated to cost a quarter of a million dollars.

$325,000 For This Year

The county this year will get approximately $325,000 as its share of gasoline tax funds and motor vehicle revenue to go to operate the County Roads Department.

The State Roads Commission has $3½ million as the amount the 23 counties may draw all together, in the fiscal year which starts next July 1—the first year of the 26-year financing program.

So far, indications are the bank won't be doing a rushing business.

If the county commissioners want to take advantage of the plan, they have to have their first year's request in by Dec. 1. The Montgomery County Council voted this week to ask for its $234,600 share. Officials at the Roads Commission have heard expressions of interest from only four other counties besides Allegany — Frederick, Garrett, Calvert and Charles.

Adjunct To SRC Program

The 50-million dollar credit pool, by which the State lends its credit to the counties, was authorized by the General Assembly last Spring as an adjunct to the State's 12-year, 568-million dollar highway program.

The big program is for the state highway system — primary and secondary roads.

Some legislators said it was fine for the State system but something should also be done for the lesser highways built and maintained by the counties.

There are about 49,800 miles of primary and secondary roads in the State system, but the county roads total up to more than 12,000 miles.

While the primary and secondary roads carry between 80 and 85 per cent of the total traffic, legislators still complained "we've got to get our people out of the mud." They referred to county roads.

Keyed To Gas Tax Hike

The 50-million dollar credit pool was keyed to the one-cent increase in the State's gasoline tax which went into effect last July, to help pay for the long-range State highway program.

Twenty per cent of the gasoline tax goes to the counties, apportioned among them on the basis of their road mileage.

The bond program is set up so the increase they receive in their share of the gasoline tax is pledged to pay the interest and principal on the money they get from 15-year bonds.

Many Reluctant

A sounding of sentiment taken by officials at the Roads Commission indicates many counties are reluctant to get into a long-term debt arrangement for roads.

They do not, of course, have to put the extra money they will get from the gasoline tax into long-range financing. They can spend it as they get it.

The commissioners in many counties have indicated a belief they will have enough for road work on a "pay as you go" basis now that they are in line for more money from the gasoline tax.

"Pay as you go" will give them money to spend on roads that they would have to pay out in bond interest at about 2½ per cent if they got into the financing program.

Roads Commission calculations on the amount of bond money should be available to some counties in the fiscal year starting next July and for the entire 12 years of the program are:

County	1955	1955-56
Allegany	$139,800	$1,997,000
Frederick	794,800	3,952,700
Garrett	207,800	2,967,900
Montgomery	234,600	2,350,800
Prince Georges	165,500	2,364,400
Washington	182,100	2,602,100

Wage Negotiations Report Is Presented

A report on wage negotiations at the Celanese Corporation of America was presented to Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), at membership meetings Wednesday and Thursday in the union hall, according to Neil Toey, president.

The union had opened negotiations some time ago under the second of two wage reopening clauses in the contract at the Amcelle plant.

Also at the meetings, Toey stated, the recommendations and procedure for the election of officers was setup with nominations being set for the first week of January and the election during the latter part of the month.

Frostburg Volunteers To Leave For Army

Frostburg Draft Board 30 will send three volunteers to Fairmont December 3 for induction into the armed forces.

Leaving will be Harry Edward Rosenberger, Finzel; Robert Irvin Humbertson, Eckhart Mines, and William Charles Davis, Frostburg.

Lime Needed In Area Soil

Need for additional lime in about 77 per cent of Allegany County soils is shown by soil samples collected by the University of Maryland College of Agriculture, according to a report issued by the Committee for Conservation Now.

The need for lime means that county farms are not producing as much as they could, the committee pointed out. Where soils are deficient, liming can return from $5 to $10 in extra crop value for each dollar invested.

Lime deficiency is rated on a numerical scale on which 6.5 to 7 is desirable for most crops except tobacco and potatoes. The two exceptions require less than a 6 rating.

Liming is one of the practices important to getting the most out of the soil, the committee said. It ranks along with such others as fertilizing, conservation practices, crop rotations, weed and pest control and good livestock management as a means of increasing yields.

Local Theater Unit To Meet Monday

A general membership meeting of the Cumberland Civic Theatre will be held Monday at 7:30 p. m. in the Allegany High School auditorium.

Rehearsals for the first production of the group, "Ring Around Elizabeth," are staged three nights a week and Monday night's meeting will enable the theatre group personnel who are not members of the cast to witness a rehearsal, as well as to assist with the many details connected with the play.

"Ring Around Elizabeth," a three-act comedy, is being directed by Harold C. Wickard. The play is in its third week of rehearsals, Wickard said. The practices are held on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings, but due to the Thanksgiving holiday, next week's will be held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The play will be presented Thursday evening, December 10, in Allegany High School auditorium.

Resident Is Injured In Fall Down Steps

Hezekiah Fagan, 51, of 314 Frederick Street, was taken to Sacred Heart Hospital late Tuesday night after he fell down several steps at a North Mechanic Street social club. Attaches said he suffered mouth and jaw injuries.

Police investigated the accident.

Judge Harris Affirms Lower Court Ruling

A judgment of $125 against a former member of the Cumberland Rifle Club made in Trial Magistrates Court was affirmed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris.

The judgment had been made by Magistrate Donald W. Mason against Clarence F. Fulk, this city. Fulk appealed the decision to Circuit Court.

Firing Line Removed

They testified that a covered firing line, made of two-by-four posts stuck in the ground and covered with chicken wire and tarpaulin was constructed by the club at the range at Fairgo.

They added that the club voted Fulk out of its membership and shortly after on December 14, 1952, the defendant was found tearing down the covered firing line by three members.

Fulk was arrested by State Police, however criminal charges against him were dropped. The civil suit was filed to finance the reconstruction of the covered line.

Maguire and Leasure testified that on December 7 the club house was ransacked, dishes broken and pictures torn from the wall. The culprit was not been apprehended, they said.

Claims Permission

Fulk declared that he had permission to take apart the firing line so that the posts could be creosoted.

Judge Harris commented in announcing his opinion that from the resultant actions, Fulk apparently was not acting in the best interests of the club.

William L. Wilson, attorney for Fulk, in a motion declared the club members were "squatters" on the ground owned by the Cumberland Fair Association, had no deed and therefore any legal action taken should have been by the association. This was overruled by the judge.

John M. Robb was attorney for the rifle club.

Judge Harris Affirms Lower Court Ruling

A judgment of $125 against a former member of the Cumberland Rifle Club made in Trial Magistrates Court was affirmed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris.

The judgment had been made by Magistrate Donald W. Mason against Clarence F. Fulk, this city. Fulk appealed the decision to Circuit Court.

Firing Line Removed

They testified that a covered firing line, made of two-by-four posts stuck in the ground and covered with chicken wire and tarpaulin was constructed by the club at the range at Fairgo.

They added that the club voted Fulk out of its membership and shortly after on December 14, 1952, the defendant was found tearing down the covered firing line by three members.

West Virginia's Class B football championship will be at stake today when Romney High School's Pioneers and Sistersville High School's Tigers collide in a post-season game in East-West Stadium, Fairmont, at 1:30 p. m.

Both undefeated, Romney and Sistersville finished one-two in the final ratings with 11.71 and 11.6 points, respectively. Five other Class B teams in the state were unbeaten.

Sistersville, coached by George Strager, turned in a 9-0-1 record, winning over Pine Grove, Elizabeth, Middlebourne, St. Mary's of Pleasants county, Paden City, Pennsboro, Harrisville, Grantsville and New Martinsville while playing a tie with Doddridge High of West Union.

Romney Wins 10 Straight

Romney, coached by Richard "Dick" McElwee, one-time West Virginia University captain, won the Potomac Valley Conference title by defeating Franklin, Moorefield, Ridgeley, Petersburg and Keyser. Other schools among the Pioneers ten victims were Berkeley Springs, Charles Town, University High (Morgantown), Beall and Farmington.

By winning Romney can hang up a new mark for the tri-state area as no team ever has won more than ten games in a single season.

Bagged Title In 1949

The Hampshire county school is a state finalist for the second time in five years, having beaten Wirt High of Elizabeth for the title in 1949 by the score of 20-19. Sistersville's nearest brush with statewide recognition came 14 years ago when the 1939 Tigers were undefeated and were proclaimed runners-up for the mythical state championship to Charleston's Mountain Lions. That was before the state association placed the teams in A and B divisions and before the birth of the complicated rating system. Sistersville was the only undefeated and untied team in 1939 but Charleston had played a more difficult schedule and on that basis was named the mythical champion.

William R. Fugitt, executive secretary of the West Virginia High School Athletic Association, announced that Fairmont was selected as site for the championship game because of its excellent facilities.

Profits For Injury Fund

Profits from the game, for which $1.50 for adults and 50 cents for students will be charged, will go to the West Virginia High School Athletic Association injury fund.

Both of the schools have indicated they will send their bands to Fairmont with the state association paying the expenses for 70 members of each musical outfit. The football squads, including coaches, managers and cheerleaders will have a maximum of 40 persons on the expense account.

William C. Whaley, principal of East Fairmont High School, will be the game director at Fairmont.

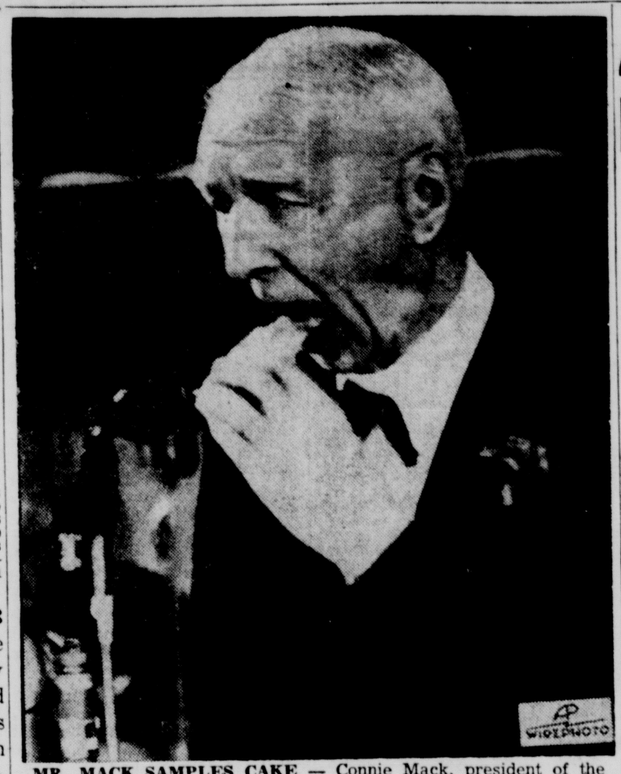

Romney Squad Arrives

Coach McElwee and his Romney squad arrived yesterday at Fairmont and engaged in a brief workout at East-West Stadium. The Pioneers were quartered at the Fairmont Hotel last night. Sistersville's squad plans to arrive in Fairmont this morning.

While Romney and Sistersville are battling it out, Benwood Union, coached by Charley Helinski, and Barboursville, tutored by Dick Ware, will be meeting at Parkersburg to decide state Class A honors.

Barboursville puts a string of 19 wins on the line, including ten games this season. This year's triumphs were over Hurricane 32-0, Dupont 31-7, Huntington Vinson 33-6, St. Albans 39-7, South Charleston 28-13, Point Pleasant 20-14, Huntington East 19-7, Wayne 13-12, Milton 46-6 and Dunbar 46-13. Benwood has copped ten in a row from St. Mary's 37-7, Magnolia 38-14, St. John's, Bellaire 32-6, Wellersburg 25-0, Shadyside 22-14, Follansbee 13-12, Warwood 27-19, Wheeling 13-7, Triadelphia 27-13 and Moundsville 20-0.

Grafton High won the state Class A title last year.

MR. MACK SAMPLES CAKE — Connie Mack, president of the Philadelphia Athletics, bites with evident gusto into a piece of birthday cake at an advance-date birthday party at Philadelphia, although he won't be 91 years old until December 23. The veteran baseball player-manager-president expects to be either in Florida or California on his birthday, so he celebrated more than a month in advance with his friends.

High School Grid Season Provides Topnotch Games

Romney-Keyser Game Stands Out As One Of Season's Finest

By TED TROXELL

Football fans in the Cumberland area were treated exceptionally well by the local high school elevens this year, nearly every football weekend in the city providing an interesting battle on the gridiron scene.

Evenness was the keynote during the season with the won-and-lost records of the three city schools all being high above the .500 class. A quick glance at the records of the three schools combined, shows that Allegany, LaSalle, and Fort Hill have lost a total of only five games, while winning 19 and tying one, for a percentage of .792, accounting for the many good games throughout the season.

Five Topnotch Battles

Of the games this writer witnessed during the past season, there are five which stand out in our mind as being topnotchers—the Fort Hill-LaSalle clash, the Allegany-Patterson Park and the Allegany-Montgomery Blair contests, the Fort Hill-Hagerstown scoreless tie, and the Potomac Valley conference championship battle between Romney and Keyser.

The Fort Hill-LaSalle contest opened the 1953 grid season at the Stadium, with the Sentinels coming out on top, 7-0. Unlike many of the early season contests, both clubs displayed midseason form, playing on even terms practically throughout the entire contest, a 45-yard run on a quick opener by Fort Hill's Bob Andrews being the turning point in the game.

The following weekend, September 19, found the highly-regarded Patterson Park Clippers, perennial Baltimore City champs, coming to town with the intentions of humiliating the supposedly much-weaker Allegany Campers of Roy Lester.

However, the Campers had other ideas, and although the Monumental City eleven copped the decision, 12-6, it was the concensus of practically all of the fans, who incidentally didn't stir from their seats until the final whistle, that the Campers had put on a brilliant show, both offensively and defensively, and that certainly the outmanned Campobello eleven had nothing to be ashamed of.

Bob Kirtley Repeats

The next thriller also involved the Allegany eleven, when the Campers staged a storybook finish to edge the Montgomery-Blair Blazers of Silver Spring, 13-6, in a game which found versatile Bob Kirtley doing a repeat performance, in sparking the West Siders to victory.

Last season, the Lestermen edged the Blazers, 20-19, at Silver Spring, and it was Kirtley, who up until that time had stayed in the background, that led the Alco charges to victory.

Again this year, the Senior quarterback "saved the day", as his pass to end Vernon Lowery in the waning moments set up the winning touchdown on the Blair four, where seconds later the Campers drove over for the score.

The only tie to occur in the Stadium during the season came the following week, October 23, when the determined Hagerstown Hubs of Mel Henry stopped the favored Fort Hill club, resulting in a 0-0 stalemate.

Tie Provides Thrills

Thrills were a "dime a dozen" in this game, as time after time, both clubs threatened to crack the scoring column, but when the smoke of the battle had cleared away, neither team was able to score, although the Sentinels did manage to cross the goal line once. The score, however, was called back by a 15-yard holding penalty against the Hahnmen.

Each team drove deep into enemy territory, with the Hubs making their way to the Sentinel one, and the Fort Hillians to the Hagerstown six, from where they sent Stan Teets through to score, only to have it nullified by the aforementioned penalty.

Friday the Thirteenth provided an ideal football day from a weather standpoint, at Cooper Field, Romney, where the unbeaten Romney Pioneers of Dick McElwee came from behind to beat "Tack" Clark's Keyser High eleven, and thus annex the PVC Championship title.

The roof of the Romney school building provided an excellent vantage point for the spirited contest, and as the game unfolded, we couldn't help but think that this was truly the best game we had seen all year.

Pioneers Come Through

The much talked about game brought together the elite of the Potomac Valley Conference, and the Pioneers, who will vie today for the West Virginia Class B, title, wrapped up the decision, 18-13.

This was the first time we had seen the Romney club in action, and we found that the plaudits of many of the Romney stars were well-founded, as Quarterback Ed Hartman, Fullback Roger Parker, and Lineman Sammy Lyons, Mike Coleman, Clinton Hott, and Dave Green, all put on a sparkling performance in front of their hometown Romney fans, who really go all out in their efforts to provide the small Hampshire County town with a real football atmosphere.

Allegany Owns 12-11-2 Record In 25 Thanksgiving Day Games

Most One-Sided Tilt Was 59-0 First Year; Fort Hill Has 7-9-1 Mark For 17 Contests

Allegany High School will be participating in a Thanksgiving Day game for the 26th consecutive year when it plays Fort Hill at the stadium next Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The Turkey Day classics were inaugurated by LaSalle and Allegany in 1928 when the Explorers came into the football picture for the first time. That, incidentally, was the most one-sided game of the 25 played to date, the Blue and White winning by the score of 59-0. Since then the most points rolled up by a team was Fort Hill's 37 last year.

In 25 holiday outings Allegany has won 12, lost 11 and played two ties.

Fort Hill crashed the Thanksgiving Day fixture in 1936 and has played Allegany 17 times. The Campers hold a 9-7 edge in wins while one game ended in a tie. In the past seven games, however, Fort Hill has won six and battled AHS to a 6-6 deadlock in 1948.

Here are the scores of past Thanksgiving Day contests:

Year	Score	Coaches
1928—Allegany	59, LaSalle 0	W. L. Bowers	Arthur Slocum
1929—Allegany	7, LaSalle 0	W. L. Bowers	John J. Long

Lad Accepted Terms Of Two Major Clubs

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (INS)—The New York Yankees asked Commissioner Ford Frick today to untangle the case of a 17-year old Chelsea, Okla., pitcher who accepted contract terms from both the Yankees and the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Yankees said the young righthander, 6 ft. 3-inch, 195-pound Ralph Terry, agreed by wire yesterday to join the world champions' farm system. The telegram was signed also by his mother, Mrs. Charles Dawes.

The Yanks confidently announced the rookie's acquisition, only to be notified a few hours later that Ferrell Anderson, new manager of the Cardinals' Omaha farm club, had Terry's signature on a Cardinal contract.

Neither organization offered Terry a bonus.

Frick said, following a conference with Yankee farm director Lee MacPhail, that he will investigate the case.

Signs With Cardinals

JOPLIN, Mo., Nov. 20 (INS)—An 18-year-old pitcher, whom the New York Yankees thought they had safely in the fold, is property of the St. Louis Cardinals' organization today.

Ralph Terry, 6 foot, 2 inch righthander, was signed in Joplin last night by Ferrell (Andy) Anderson, new manager of the Omaha Cardinals, Class A Western League farm club in the parent team.

Terry sent a wire yesterday to Tom Greenwade, New York Yankee scout who had been "cultivating" the former Chelsea, Okla., high school star more than two years. But last night, Anderson, whose home is in Joplin, and Fred Hahn of Fayetteville, Ark., a Cardinal scout, obtained the star's signature.

Anderson said no bonus was offered Terry.

West Virginia's Class B football championship will be at stake today when Romney High School's Pioneers and Sistersville High School's Tigers collide in a post-season game in East-West Stadium, Fairmont, at 1:30 p. m.

Both undefeated, Romney and Sistersville finished one-two in the final ratings with 11.71 and 11.6 points, respectively. Five other Class B teams in the state were unbeaten.

Sistersville, coached by George Strager, turned in a 9-0-1 record, winning over Pine Grove, Elizabeth, Middlebourne, St. Mary's of Pleasants county, Paden City, Pennsboro, Harrisville, Grantsville and New Martinsville while playing a tie with Doddridge High of West Union.

Romney Wins 10 Straight

Romney, coached by Richard "Dick" McElwee, one-time West Virginia University captain, won the Potomac Valley Conference title by defeating Franklin, Moorefield, Ridgeley, Petersburg and Keyser. Other schools among the Pioneers ten victims were Berkeley Springs, Charles Town, University High (Morgantown), Beall and Farmington.

By winning Romney can hang up a new mark for the tri-state area as no team ever has won more than ten games in a single season.

Bagged Title In 1949

The Hampshire county school is a state finalist for the second time in five years, having beaten Wirt High of Elizabeth for the title in 1949 by the score of 20-19. Sistersville's nearest brush with statewide recognition came 14 years ago when the 1939 Tigers were undefeated and were proclaimed runners-up for the mythical state championship to Charleston's Mountain Lions. That was before the state association placed the teams in A and B divisions and before the birth of the complicated rating system. Sistersville was the only undefeated and untied team in 1939 but Charleston had played a more difficult schedule and on that basis was named the mythical champion.

William R. Fugitt, executive secretary of the West Virginia High School Athletic Association, announced that Fairmont was selected as site for the championship game because of its excellent facilities.

Profits For Injury Fund

Profits from the game, for which $1.50 for adults and 50 cents for students will be charged, will go to the West Virginia High School Athletic Association injury fund.

Both of the schools have indicated they will send their bands to Fairmont with the state association paying the expenses for 70 members of each musical outfit. The football squads, including coaches, managers and cheerleaders will have a maximum of 40 persons on the expense account.

William C. Whaley, principal of East Fairmont High School, will be the game director at Fairmont.

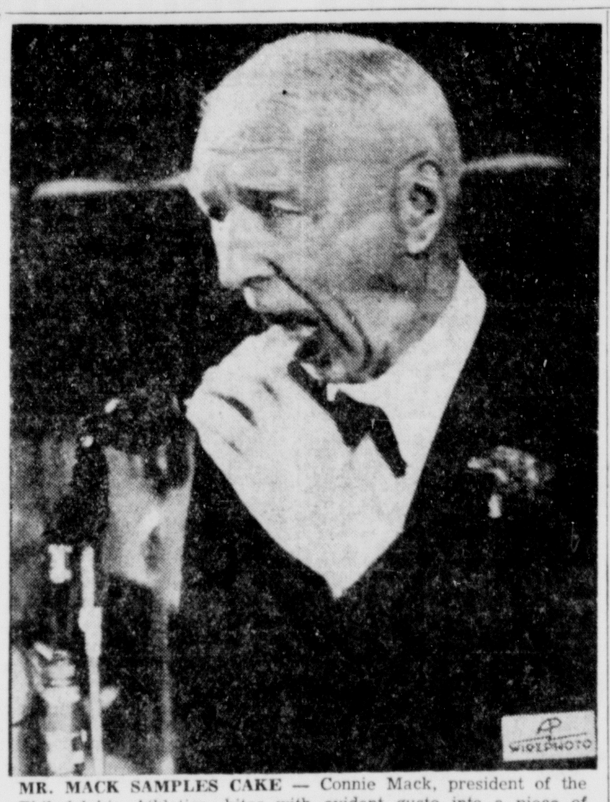

Romney Squad Arrives

Coach McElwee and his Romney squad arrived yesterday at Fairmont and engaged in a brief workout at East-West Stadium. The Pioneers were quartered at the Fairmont Hotel last night. Sistersville's squad plans to arrive in Fairmont this morning.

While Romney and Sistersville are battling it out, Benwood Union, coached by Charley Helinski, and Barboursville, tutored by Dick Ware, will be meeting at Parkersburg to decide state Class A honors.

Barboursville puts a string of 19 wins on the line, including ten games this season. This year's triumphs were over Hurricane 32-0, Dupont 31-7, Huntington Vinson 33-6, St. Albans 39-7, South Charleston 28-13, Point Pleasant 20-14, Huntington East 19-7, Wayne 13-12, Milton 46-6 and Dunbar 46-13. Benwood has copped ten in a row from St. Mary's 37-7, Magnolia 38-14, St. John's, Bellaire 32-6, Wellersburg 25-0, Shadyside 22-14, Follansbee 13-12, Warwood 27-19, Wheeling 13-7, Triadelphia 27-13 and Moundsville 20-0.

Grafton High won the state Class A title last year.

High School Grid Season Provides Topnotch Games

Romney-Keyser Game Stands Out As One Of Season's Finest

By TED TROXELL

Football fans in the Cumberland area were treated exceptionally well by the local high school elevens this year, nearly every football weekend in the city providing an interesting battle on the gridiron scene.

Evenness was the keynote during the season with the won-and-lost records of the three city schools all being high above the .500 class. A quick glance at the records of the three schools combined, shows that Allegany, LaSalle, and Fort Hill have lost a total of only five games, while winning 19 and tying one, for a percentage of .792, accounting for the many good games throughout the season.

Five Topnotch Battles

Of the games this writer witnessed during the past season, there are five which stand out in our mind as being topnotchers—the Fort Hill-LaSalle clash, the Allegany-Patterson Park and the Allegany-Montgomery Blair contests, the Fort Hill-Hagerstown scoreless tie, and the Potomac Valley conference championship battle between Romney and Keyser.

The Fort Hill-LaSalle contest opened the 1953 grid season at the Stadium, with the Sentinels coming out on top, 7-0. Unlike many of the early season contests, both clubs displayed midseason form, playing on even terms practically throughout the entire contest, a 45-yard run on a quick opener by Fort Hill's Bob Andrews being the turning point in the game.

The following weekend, September 19, found the highly-regarded Patterson Park Clippers, perennial Baltimore City champs, coming to town with the intentions of humiliating the supposedly much-weaker Allegany Campers of Roy Lester.

However, the Campers had other ideas, and although the Monumental City eleven copped the decision, 12-6, it was the concensus of practically all of the fans, who incidentally didn't stir from their seats until the final whistle, that the Campers had put on a brilliant show, both offensively and defensively, and that certainly the outmanned Campobello eleven had nothing to be ashamed of.

Bob Kirtley Repeats

The next thriller also involved the Allegany eleven, when the Campers staged a storybook finish to edge the Montgomery-Blair Blazers of Silver Spring, 13-6, in a game which found versatile Bob Kirtley doing a repeat performance, in sparking the West Siders to victory.

Last season, the Lestermen edged the Blazers, 20-19, at Silver Spring, and it was Kirtley, who up until that time had stayed in the background, that led the Alco charges to victory.

Again this year, the Senior quarterback "saved the day", as his pass to end Vernon Lowery in the waning moments set up the winning touchdown on the Blair four, where seconds later the Campers drove over for the score.

The only tie to occur in the Stadium during the season came the following week, October 23, when the determined Hagerstown Hubs of Mel Henry stopped the favored Fort Hill club, resulting in a 0-0 stalemate.

Tie Provides Thrills

Thrills were a "dime a dozen" in this game, as time after time, both clubs threatened to crack the scoring column, but when the smoke of the battle had cleared away, neither team was able to score, although the Sentinels did manage to cross the goal line once. The score, however, was called back by a 15-yard holding penalty against the Hahnmen.

Each team drove deep into enemy territory, with the Hubs making their way to the Sentinel one, and the Fort Hillians to the Hagerstown six, from where they sent Stan Teets through to score, only to have it nullified by the aforementioned penalty.

Friday the Thirteenth provided an ideal football day from a weather standpoint, at Cooper Field, Romney, where the unbeaten Romney Pioneers of Dick McElwee came from behind to beat "Tack" Clark's Keyser High eleven, and thus annex the PVC Championship title.

The roof of the Romney school building provided an excellent vantage point for the spirited contest, and as the game unfolded, we couldn't help but think that this was truly the best game we had seen all year.

Pioneers Come Through

The much talked about game brought together the elite of the Potomac Valley Conference, and the Pioneers, who will vie today for the West Virginia Class B, title, wrapped up the decision, 18-13.

This was the first time we had seen the Romney club in action, and we found that the plaudits of many of the Romney stars were well-founded, as Quarterback Ed Hartman, Fullback Roger Parker, and Lineman Sammy Lyons, Mike Coleman, Clinton Hott, and Dave Green, all put on a sparkling performance in front of their hometown Romney fans, who really go all out in their efforts to provide the small Hampshire County town with a real football atmosphere.

Allegany Owns 12-11-2 Record In 25 Thanksgiving Day Games

Most One-Sided Tilt Was 59-0 First Year; Fort Hill Has 7-9-1 Mark For 17 Contests

Allegany High School will be participating in a Thanksgiving Day game for the 26th consecutive year when it plays Fort Hill at the stadium next Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The Turkey Day classics were inaugurated by LaSalle and Allegany in 1928 when the Explorers came into the football picture for the first time. That, incidentally, was the most one-sided game of the 25 played to date, the Blue and White winning by the score of 59-0. Since then the most points rolled up by a team was Fort Hill's 37 last year.

In 25 holiday outings Allegany has won 12, lost 11 and played two ties.

Fort Hill crashed the Thanksgiving Day fixture in 1936 and has played Allegany 17 times. The Campers hold a 9-7 edge in wins while one game ended in a tie. In the past seven games, however, Fort Hill has won six and battled AHS to a 6-6 deadlock in 1948.

Here are the scores of past Thanksgiving Day contests:

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (INS)—The New York Yankees asked Commissioner Ford Frick today to untangle the case of a 17-year old Chelsea, Okla., pitcher who accepted contract terms from both the Yankees and the St. Louis Cardinals.

JOPLIN, Mo., Nov. 20 (INS)—An 18-year-old pitcher, whom the New York Yankees thought they had safely in the fold, is property of the St. Louis Cardinals' organization today.

Ralph Terry, 6 foot, 2 inch righthander, was signed in Joplin last night by Ferrell (Andy) Anderson, new manager of the Omaha Cardinals, Class A Western League farm club in the parent team.

Terry sent a wire yesterday to Tom Greenwade, New York Yankee scout who had been "cultivating" the former Chelsea, Okla., high school star more than two years. But last night, Anderson, whose home is in Joplin, and Fred Hahn of Fayetteville, Ark., a Cardinal scout, obtained the star's signature.

Anderson said no bonus was offered Terry.

Sixth Death Is Recorded In Road Race

Lancias, Lincolns Set Pace In Mexico

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 20 (AP)—Italian Lancias and American Lincolns swept the honors again today as a sixth death was recorded in the hazardous Pan-American Road race.

Antonio Stagnoli, one of the youngest and most promising Italian drivers, died in an Oaxaca City hospital this morning from injuries suffered in the crash of his Ferrari yesterday.

Hill Escapes Injury

Phil Hill of Santa Monica, Calif., and his co-driver escaped injury when their Ferrari turned over on the second lap today, about 31 miles from Mexico City.

Four spectators also were killed yesterday when they were hit by a car coming out of a turn. The onlookers had rushed to the aid of the crew of a disabled car.

The Lancia team, led by Italy's Piero Taruffi and Felice Bonetto, finished one-two in record-breaking fashion in both laps today while the Lincoln Capri team, paced by Chuck Stevenson of Milwaukee and Johnny Mantz of Los Angeles, captured the first four positions in each lap just as it did yesterday on the opening lap.

The Lancias are entered in the big sports car class while the Lincolns are in the big stock car division. There are two other races—for small sports cars and for small sports cars and for small stock cars.

Climb Is Treacherous

The first run of 252 miles today was from Oaxaca to Pueblo. The second, a short, but treacherous uphill climb of 10,000 feet, covered 79 miles from Pueblo to Mexico City. Two laps will be run off for the next two days and one lap on Monday, the final day of the south to north 1912-mile marathon.

Maryland Soccer Team Defeats Generals, 3-0

LEXINGTON, Va., Nov. 20 (AP)—Maryland's soccer team had little trouble beating Washington and Lee here today, 3-0.

Maryland's Otto Winkleman and Charles Wacker kicked points past W&L's defense in the first period. The score remained 2-0 until two minutes before the final whistle when Jose Hagedorn booted Maryland's final tally.

W&L threatened in every quarter, the first time seconds after the starting whistle. The red-shirted Maryland team kicked the ball out of danger, however.

Trabert And Seixas Beaten In Doubles

SYDNEY, Australia, nov. 20 (AP)—America's hopes for regaining the Davis Cup from Australia hit rock bottom today when the Aussie's Ken Rosewall and Lewis Hoad defeated the U. S. pair of Vic Seixas and Tony Trabert for the New 3-6, 4-6, 6-3, 7-5.

The Australian aces, who will play each other for the singles title tomorrow, made a quick start in an effort to show the home folks their victories in the Wimbledon and French doubles championships were no flukes.

Enke Is Injured

BALTIMORE, Nov. 20 (AP)—Fred Enke, Baltimore Colt quarterback, will not be able to play the last four games of the National Football League season.

The Colts announced today examinations had shown a right shoulder separation Enke suffered in last Sunday's game with the Philadelphia Eagles would not mend in time for any more games this year.

Prestige, Bowl Cash At Stake In College Grid Tilts Today

Notre Dame, Iowa; Maryland, Alabama Highlight Program

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (AP)—Contests for the mythical national college football championship and for the very real bowl invitations take on increasing importance tomorrow as the 1953 season nears an end. And there's a strong possibility that it may take a vote to decide what teams get the honors and the cash.

Notre Dame and Maryland, 1-2 in the Associated Press ranking poll and the only undefeated major teams, are the top contenders for the national title. If they should run into trouble against Iowa and Alabama tomorrow, ballots of the experts likely would decide the final standings. It's very much the same in the bowl competition, where various conferences may have to vote for their representatives.

It Could Happen Again

Notre Dame, No. 1 team, runs up against Iowa, which has spoiled winning streaks for the Irish on several occasions. It could happen again, as Iowa's decisive victories over Purdue and Minnesota indicate.

Maryland, No. 2, winds up its regular season against Alabama, another bowl-conscious team. This won't affect Maryland's ranking in the Atlantic Coast Conference but it still is a question whether Maryland or Duke will face Oklahoma in the Orange bowl.

Oklahoma clinched its place by winning the Big Seven title, regardless of tomorrow's game against George Tech tomorrow, then plays North Carolina next week.

UCLA Faces Southern Cal

UCLA and Stanford from the Pacific Coast Conference and Michigan State and Illinois from the Big Ten are the Rose Bowl eligibles. UCLA faces Southern California in the day's television special and Stanford plays California. Michigan State, its conference season over, meets, Marquette and Illinois plays weak Northwestern.

Four teams still have chances of winning the "host" position in the Cotton Bow, which goes to the Southwest Conference champion.

Texas, which has a slight edge in the standings, is idle until Thanksgiving, but Baylor and Southern Methodist, tied with Rice for second, meet one another while Rice faces last-place Texas Christian.

The other half of the Cotton Bowl lineup and both sides of the Sugar Bowl are decided by invitations. Southeastern Conference schools are getting top priority.

Alabama, although thrice-tied, and Georgia Tech are in this group along with Kentucky, which plays Tennessee tomorrow; Auburn, which meets Clemson, and idle Mississipi. Other contenders include Southern Conference leader West Virginia and Border Conference leader Texas Tech. They play North Carolina State and Houston, respectively.

Langlois And Turner Fight In St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 20 (AP)—Pierre Langlois of France will try his fast moving-style against Jesse Turner of St. Louis in a 10-round middleweight fight at Kiel Auditorium tomorrow night.

Both have equal records for 1953—five victories against two defeats—but Turner appears to have the edge on power with four knockouts. Langlois hasn't scored a kayo this year.

The fight will be televised nationally (9 p.m. EST ABC).

Hopkins And Terrors Close Season Today

BALTIMORE, Nov. 20 (AP)—Western Maryland and Johns Hopkins meet in their traditional closing football game tomorrow for the 32nd time.

Neither team has burned up the gridiron this season. Western Maryland has won three times, lost the same number and tied once. Johns Hopkins has come out on top only twice in seven games.

Both are members of the Mason Dixon Conference, but the title already has been won by Hampden-Sydney.

Sports Grill

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK, Nov. 19—(INS)—Everybody is pulling for Ed Barrow to "beat the rap", as they say on Broadway.

The rap in this instance is a severe illness which has confined Ed to a hospital for several months, and since Ed is now 85, the going isn't easy.

Ed's tremendous physique is now shrunken but his spirit is as undaunted as it ever was, for Ed was never one to admit defeat.

He has been a battler all his life from the day he left the farm to become the most powerful personality baseball ever had, and the man whose word carried most weight in all baseball councils.

Few, if any, ever had such a diversified career as he. He managed minor league teams and won pennants with them. He managed major league teams and won pennants and world series.

He was a success as president of the International League and he was the man who built the Yankee baseball empire. And to crown a remarkable career he was voted into Baseball's Hall of Fame.

Despite all these varied achievements he probably will be remembered best as the man who changed Babe Ruth from a pitcher into an outfielder and who discovered Hans Wagner.

And don't forget that Ruth was a truly great pitcher when Barrow convinced the Babe he could become—as he did—the greatest of all home run hitters.

Ruth was a powerful rambunctious kid when he decided to challenge Barrow's authority one day. Ed marched into the clubhouse, dismissed all the other players, locked the door and said he was ready to battle it out with his fists.

Ruth wisely decided that discretion and an apology were the better part of valor. It was one of the smartest decisions Babe ever made for Ed could have taken him apart at the seams.

And that reminds us that it was this same Ruth who paid Barrow one of the sincerest compliments we ever heard when he said years later; "That so-and-so is a tough (deleted) but he's a square shooter."

Strangely enough, although Ed managed Ruth as a player and was general manager of the Yanks for 26 years, he has always insisted Hans Wagner was the greatest of all ball players. Perhaps because he discovered Wagner—or so it always has been said — throwing rocks one day and decided he would make a ball player.

Nothing ever escaped Ed's eagle eye and it was thus he discovered Wilcey Moore. Ed was scanning minor league records one winter day when he discovered a fellow with a long and remarkable record in the deep bushes.

Ed bought him and the aged busher proceeded to win 27 games for the Yanks.

As You Were

(This is the 174th in a series of sketches with pictures of well known sport personalities of the past from the album of the Cumberland News Sports Editor. See if you can identify them by their photo.)

A native of Everett, Pa., and a resident of Cumberland for the past 55 years, the player pictured here started out as a pitcher for the Chestnut Burrs and then did the catching for the Cumberland Collegians and their successors, the Cumberland Colts of 35 years ago.

He was with the Cumberland Collegians when they played their games at Commercial Park in The Narrows and was with the Colts at South End Park. Other members of the Colts in those days were "Ditty" Stitcher, the Lippold Brothers, Brace Gillum, Lefty Bell, Emmett Flynn, John and Bill Marean, Clarence Schafer, "Sonny" Geatz, Mike Diehl, Hugh Markwood, "Vic" May, Joe Becker, Billy Brode and Bobby Blair.

One of the incidents that stands out in his memory is a free-for-all fight that broke out at Midland in a game between the Colts and Midland. Cumberland was leading 2-1 in the last of the ninth with two out when Umpire Sammy Morgan called a runner out at first base, ending the game. As Morgan waved the runner out a woman in the grandstand yelled "Robber" and that started the brawl. This player and Clarence Schafer ran to the train to get away from the milling mob. That rumpus, incidentally, came near putting the quietus on Sunday baseball in the county.

This player once caught Robert Moses "Lefty" Grove when the latter's regular batterymate was injured. He also played for Ellerslie and Mt. Savage.

If you don't remember this fellow as a baseball player you'll probably recall him as an entertainer. He participated in many minstrel shows as a blackface comedian and a buck and wing dancer. His partner was William T. "Mody" Damm, now of 218 Bedford street.

Can you name him?

He is George Curtis Beckwith, of 425 Independence street. More familiarly known as "Kirk," he's been crippled by arthritis for some time. For the past eleven years he has been employed by the South Cumberland Planing Mill. Prior to that he was with Louis Stein, Inc., for 10 years, and with the Western Maryland Lumber Company for 22 years. The photo of Beckwith was taken about 1913 when he was with the Collegians.

Houston Gets Reward

HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 20 (INS)—The University of Houston's 37-to-7 upset grid victory over Baylor last Saturday paid off today—with a $2,250,000 reward.

Oilman-philanthropist Hugh Roy Cullen gave the school the two million dollar plus sum because of "the great spirit and determination shown by the Cougars in defeating Baylor."

Terps And 'Bama May Play In Rain

Slippery Going Could Hamper Running Backs

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Nov. 20 (AP)—Maryland and Alabama, two football teams which have depended mainly on running for success, may find the footing slippery in their season finale tomorrow afternoon.

The weather forecast is for rain by the afternoon.

This could take a lot of the zip out of the operations of two of the south's best running halfbacks, Chet Hanulak of Maryland and Corky Tharp of Alabama. Each is the leading rusher in his conference, Hanulak in the Atlantic and Tharp in the Southeastern.

Hanulak has averaged a whopping 9.3 yards in Maryland's nine games without defeat. "I just don't see how there could be a better halfback," says Coach Jim Tatum.

Tharp may be just as good and high school high and low hurdle runs as fast. He was the Alabama champion.

Early Birthday Party Given Connie Mack

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 20 (AP)—For the 91st time a birthday cake was admired and then eaten in honor of Connie Mack, fabulous figure of baseball. But Connie, who made the biggest fuss over a birthday congratulatory note from another rather famous sportsman—President Eisenhower.

Connie, once manager of the Philadelphia Athletics and now president of the club, will observe his 91st anniversary on the actual birthday—Dec. 23.

But members of the Reciprocity Club here decided that Connie should have an old-fashioned Philadelphia observance of the big day and since Connie will be in California or Florida next month they decided on last night.

Sixth Death Is Recorded In Road Race

Lancias, Lincolns Set Pace In Mexico

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 20 (AP)—Italian Lancias and American Lincolns swept the honors again today as a sixth death was recorded in the hazardous Pan-American Road race.

Antonio Stagnoli, one of the youngest and most promising Italian drivers, died in an Oaxaca City hospital this morning from injuries suffered in the crash of his Ferrari yesterday.

Hill Escapes Injury

Phil Hill of Santa Monica, Calif., and his co-driver escaped injury when their Ferrari turned over on the second lap today, about 31 miles from Mexico City.

Four spectators also were killed yesterday when they were hit by a car coming out of a turn. The onlookers had rushed to the aid of the crew of a disabled car.

The Lancia team, led by Italy's Piero Taruffi and Felice Bonetto, finished one-two in record-breaking fashion in both laps today while the Lincoln Capri team, paced by Chuck Stevenson of Milwaukee and Johnny Mantz of Los Angeles, captured the first four positions in each lap just as it did yesterday on the opening lap.

The Lancias are entered in the big sports car class while the Lincolns are in the big stock car division. There are two other races—for small sports cars and for small sports cars and for small stock cars.

Climb Is Treacherous

The first run of 252 miles today was from Oaxaca to Pueblo. The second, a short, but treacherous uphill climb of 10,000 feet, covered 79 miles from Pueblo to Mexico City. Two laps will be run off for the next two days and one lap on Monday, the final day of the south to north 1912-mile marathon.

Maryland Soccer Team Defeats Generals, 3-0

LEXINGTON, Va., Nov. 20 (AP)—Maryland's soccer team had little trouble beating Washington and Lee here today, 3-0.

Maryland's Otto Winkleman and Charles Wacker kicked points past W&L's defense in the first period. The score remained 2-0 until two minutes before the final whistle when Jose Hagedorn booted Maryland's final tally.

W&L threatened in every quarter, the first time seconds after the starting whistle. The red-shirted Maryland team kicked the ball out of danger, however.

Trabert And Seixas Beaten In Doubles

SYDNEY, Australia, nov. 20 (AP)—America's hopes for regaining the Davis Cup from Australia hit rock bottom today when the Aussie's Ken Rosewall and Lewis Hoad defeated the U. S. pair of Vic Seixas and Tony Trabert for the New 3-6, 4-6, 6-3, 7-5.

The Australian aces, who will play each other for the singles title tomorrow, made a quick start in an effort to show the home folks their victories in the Wimbledon and French doubles championships were no flukes.

Enke Is Injured

BALTIMORE, Nov. 20 (AP)—Fred Enke, Baltimore Colt quarterback, will not be able to play the last four games of the National Football League season.

The Colts announced today examinations had shown a right shoulder separation Enke suffered in last Sunday's game with the Philadelphia Eagles would not mend in time for any more games this year.

Notre Dame, Iowa; Maryland, Alabama Highlight Program

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (AP)—Contests for the mythical national college football championship and for the very real bowl invitations take on increasing importance tomorrow as the 1953 season nears an end. And there's a strong possibility that it may take a vote to decide what teams get the honors and the cash.

Notre Dame and Maryland, 1-2 in the Associated Press ranking poll and the only undefeated major teams, are the top contenders for the national title. If they should run into trouble against Iowa and Alabama tomorrow, ballots of the experts likely would decide the final standings. It's very much the same in the bowl competition, where various conferences may have to vote for their representatives.

It Could Happen Again

Notre Dame, No. 1 team, runs up against Iowa, which has spoiled winning streaks for the Irish on several occasions. It could happen again, as Iowa's decisive victories over Purdue and Minnesota indicate.

Maryland, No. 2, winds up its regular season against Alabama, another bowl-conscious team. This won't affect Maryland's ranking in the Atlantic Coast Conference but it still is a question whether Maryland or Duke will face Oklahoma in the Orange bowl.

Oklahoma clinched its place by winning the Big Seven title, regardless of tomorrow's game against George Tech tomorrow, then plays North Carolina next week.

UCLA Faces Southern Cal

UCLA and Stanford from the Pacific Coast Conference and Michigan State and Illinois from the Big Ten are the Rose Bowl eligibles. UCLA faces Southern California in the day's television special and Stanford plays California. Michigan State, its conference season over, meets, Marquette and Illinois plays weak Northwestern.

Four teams still have chances of winning the "host" position in the Cotton Bowl, which goes to the Southwest Conference champion.

Texas, which has a slight edge in the standings, is idle until Thanksgiving, but Baylor and Southern Methodist, tied with Rice for second, meet one another while Rice faces last-place Texas Christian.

The other half of the Cotton Bowl lineup and both sides of the Sugar Bowl are decided by invitations. Southeastern Conference schools are getting top priority.

Alabama, although thrice-tied, and Georgia Tech are in this group along with Kentucky, which plays Tennessee tomorrow; Auburn, which meets Clemson, and idle Mississipi. Other contenders include Southern Conference leader West Virginia and Border Conference leader Texas Tech. They play North Carolina State and Houston, respectively.

Langlois And Turner Fight In St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 20 (AP)—Pierre Langlois of France will try his fast moving-style against Jesse Turner of St. Louis in a 10-round middleweight fight at Kiel Auditorium tomorrow night.

Both have equal records for 1953—five victories against two defeats—but Turner appears to have the edge on power with four knockouts. Langlois hasn't scored a kayo this year.

The fight will be televised nationally (9 p.m. EST ABC).

Hopkins And Terrors Close Season Today

BALTIMORE, Nov. 20 (AP)—Western Maryland and Johns Hopkins meet in their traditional closing football game tomorrow for the 32nd time.

Neither team has burned up the gridiron this season. Western Maryland has won three times, lost the same number and tied once. Johns Hopkins has come out on top only twice in seven games.

Both are members of the Mason Dixon Conference, but the title already has been won by Hampden-Sydney.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19—(INS)—Everybody is pulling for Ed Barrow to "beat the rap", as they say on Broadway.

The rap in this instance is a severe illness which has confined Ed to a hospital for several months, and since Ed is now 85, the going isn't easy.

Ed's tremendous physique is now shrunken but his spirit is as undaunted as it ever was, for Ed was never one to admit defeat.

He has been a battler all his life from the day he left the farm to become the most powerful personality baseball ever had, and the man whose word carried most weight in all baseball councils.

Few, if any, ever had such a diversified career as he. He managed minor league teams and won pennants with them. He managed major league teams and won pennants and world series.

He was a success as president of the International League and he was the man who built the Yankee baseball empire. And to crown a remarkable career he was voted into Baseball's Hall of Fame.

Despite all these varied achievements he probably will be remembered best as the man who changed Babe Ruth from a pitcher into an outfielder and who discovered Hans Wagner.

And don't forget that Ruth was a truly great pitcher when Barrow convinced the Babe he could become—as he did—the greatest of all home run hitters.

Ruth was a powerful rambunctious kid when he decided to challenge Barrow's authority one day. Ed marched into the clubhouse, dismissed all the other players, locked the door and said he was ready to battle it out with his fists.

Ruth wisely decided that discretion and an apology were the better part of valor. It was one of the smartest decisions Babe ever made for Ed could have taken him apart at the seams.

And that reminds us that it was this same Ruth who paid Barrow one of the sincerest compliments we ever heard when he said years later; "That so-and-so is a tough (deleted) but he's a square shooter."

Strangely enough, although Ed managed Ruth as a player and was general manager of the Yanks for 26 years, he has always insisted Hans Wagner was the greatest of all ball players. Perhaps because he discovered Wagner—or so it always has been said — throwing rocks one day and decided he would make a ball player.

Nothing ever escaped Ed's eagle eye and it was thus he discovered Wilcey Moore. Ed was scanning minor league records one winter day when he discovered a fellow with a long and remarkable record in the deep bushes.

Ed bought him and the aged busher proceeded to win 27 games for the Yanks.

AS YOU WERE

(This is the 174th in a series of sketches with pictures of well known sport personalities of the past from the album of the Cumberland News Sports Editor. See if you can identify them by their photo.)

A native of Everett, Pa., and a resident of Cumberland for the past 55 years, the player pictured here started out as a pitcher for the Chestnut Burrs and then did the catching for the Cumberland Collegians and their successors, the Cumberland Colts of 35 years ago.

He was with the Cumberland Collegians when they played their games at Commercial Park in The Narrows and was with the Colts at South End Park. Other members of the Colts in those days were "Ditty" Stitcher, the Lippold Brothers, Brace Gillum, Lefty Bell, Emmett Flynn, John and Bill Marean, Clarence Schafer, "Sonny" Geatz, Mike Diehl, Hugh Markwood, "Vic" May, Joe Becker, Billy Brode and Bobby Blair.

One of the incidents that stands out in his memory is a free-for-all fight that broke out at Midland in a game between the Colts and Midland. Cumberland was leading 2-1 in the last of the ninth with two out when Umpire Sammy Morgan called a runner out at first base, ending the game. As Morgan waved the runner out a woman in the grandstand yelled "Robber" and that started the brawl. This player and Clarence Schafer ran to the train to get away from the milling mob. That rumpus, incidentally, came near putting the quietus on Sunday baseball in the county.

This player once caught Robert Moses "Lefty" Grove when the latter's regular batterymate was injured. He also played for Ellerslie and Mt. Savage.

If you don't remember this fellow as a baseball player you'll probably recall him as an entertainer. He participated in many minstrel shows as a blackface comedian and a buck and wing dancer. His partner was William T. "Mody" Damm, now of 218 Bedford street.

Can you name him?

He is George Curtis Beckwith, of the Collegians.

The photo of Beckwith was taken about 1915 when he was with the Collegians. For the past eleven years he has been employed by the Southern Cumberland Planing Mill. Prior to that he was with Louis Stein, Inc., Maryland Lumber Company for 22 years, and with the Western Cumberland Lumber Company for 10 years.

Houston Gets Reward

HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 20 (INS)—The University of Houston's 37-to-7 upset grid victory over Baylor last Saturday paid off today—with a $2,250,000 reward.

Oilman-philanthropist Hugh Roy Cullen gave the school the two million dollar plus sum because of "the great spirit and determination shown by the Cougars in defeating Baylor."

Terps And 'Bama May Play In Rain

Slippery Going Could Hamper Running Backs

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Nov. 20 (AP)—Maryland and Alabama, two football teams which have depended mainly on running for success, may find the footing slippery in their season finale tomorrow afternoon.

The weather forecast is for rain by the afternoon.

This could take a lot of the zip out of the operations of two of the south's best running halfbacks, Chet Hanulak of Maryland and Corky Tharp of Alabama. Each is the leading rusher in his conference, Hanulak in the Atlantic and Tharp in the Southeastern.

Hanulak has averaged a whopping 9.3 yards in Maryland's nine games without defeat. "I just don't see how there could be a better halfback," says Coach Jim Tatum.

Tharp may be just as good and high school high and low hurdle runs as fast. He was the Alabama champion.

Early Birthday Party Given Connie Mack

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 20 (AP)—For the 91st time a birthday cake was admired and then eaten in honor of Connie Mack, fabulous figure of baseball. But Connie, who made the biggest fuss over a birthday congratulatory note from another rather famous sportsman—President Eisenhower.

Connie, once manager of the Philadelphia Athletics and now president of the club, will observe his 91st anniversary on the actual birthday—Dec. 23.

But members of the Reciprocity Club here decided that Connie should have an old-fashioned Philadelphia observance of the big day and since Connie will be in California or Florida next month they decided on last night.

"Be Thankful for Plenty" was the title of a sermon we heard many years ago. And we'll never forget how the preacher defined "plenty."

"If you have everything that money can buy, all the necessities and all the luxuries of life—and you don't have a Bible you can read and understand—then you've nothing to be thankful for! You're in want!

"But if God has given you just enough of this world's goods for you to live from day to day—and you've a Bible you turn to every day—then be thankful! You have plenty!"

We can cherish that homely bit of inspiration. It sums up the kind of Thanksgiving our forefathers believed in . . . the kind of Thanksgiving that millions of us will celebrate this week in Church!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

PLENTY

"Be Thankful for Plenty" was the title of a sermon we heard many years ago. And we'll never forget how the preacher defined "plenty."

"If you have everything that money can buy, all the necessities and all the luxuries of life—and you don't have a Bible you can read and understand—then you've nothing to be thankful for! You're in want!

"But if God has given you just enough of this world's goods for you to live from day to day—and you've a Bible you turn to every day—then be thankful! You have plenty!"

We can cherish that homely bit of inspiration. It sums up the kind of Thanksgiving our forefathers believed in . . . the kind of Thanksgiving that millions of us will celebrate this week in Church!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

PTA To Consider Playlot Repairs

KEYSER—The Keyser Parent-Teacher Association chapter, following the presentation of a musical program by the Keyser High School Senior Mixed Chorus, Thursday evening, discussed two proposals for betterment of physical conditions on the grounds on the school campus.

The PTA decided to have the grounds in front of the high school landscaped, and to give more study to a proposal to improve the playground for the elementary pupils. The playlot has never been placed in condition for the purpose for which it is now used.

The committee in charge of the matters was asked to continue its study of the playground possibilities, and to try to find a way in which the hard, rocky ground can be blacktopped. The group is to report its findings at the January meeting. There will be no meeting in December.

The High School Senior Chorus, under the direction of Miss Dorothy Wells, supervisor of music, presented the program, with George Wilson, Burlington, at the piano.

"Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," "Lead Me, Lord," "Beautiful Savior." As an interlude, Franklin Ryan sang "The Lord's Prayer." The chorus followed by singing two numbers, "California, Here I Come," and "Wanderin'." This was followed by the number, "I'm Only Eighteen," by Imagene Adams, Laura Kuhn and Carolyn Belt.

Carefully study every new style you select and practice wearing it before a mirror.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

The value of a full-length mirror is inestimable in matters of charm. It is not only a necessity for checking your grooming but is an aid to acquiring grace with each new style.

A perfect case in point is to wear gracefully the new "clutch" coat or wrap. The art of manipulating it is acquired by practice before a mirror. I watched while some of New York's most-admired models did just that. I'll pass along to you some of the know-how which they displayed.

Handle Like a Stole

The secret of wearing a clutch wrap gracefully lies in handling it much as you do your stole. Actually, it is the shoulder and top width of this type of apparel with its face-framing flattery that has made it a most appealing fashion today.

Of the many different manners in which this fashion may be worn, a most important one is allowing the collar to stand well away from the neck, emphasizing the width through the sleeves, particularly with the sleeves pushed up. In this position, let your right hand hold the right edge or your wrap at the top of your left hip. Your left hand should then lightly clutch both the right and left roll of the collar at your breast with your thumb along the left lapel and the rest of your hand just resting on the right lapel. This position slims your figure in enchanting fashion.

Flaring Way

Another important look can be achieved by wearing your coa widely open through the shoulders and flaring out below the waistline.

YOUR POSTURE

To achieve grace of the highest degree... to make yours the posture ideal — to improve stance, figure, health and the appearance of your clothes as well, read the informative, easy-to-follow booklet "YOUR POSTURE". For a copy write to Secrets of Charm in care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10c in coin to help cover cost.

Daily Bridge Lesson

BIG LIES BY TINY CARDS

USING your small cards unconventionally tells falsehoods to everybody at the table. Much of the time that proves more harmful to your own side than to the declarer. On certain occasions, however, especially if the big lies told by small cards are regarding the trump suit, the deception can have little influence on your partner's play, but may mislead your opponent in a way which helps your pair.

(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

Pass	Pass	1 ♦	Dbl.

More elaborate bidding came at some other tables on this duplicate tournament deal, but in no case did anybody try more than a part-score contract. A number of pairs were in contracts of 2-Diamonds. Some of the Souths made good, losing only one trick in spades, two in hearts and two in clubs. Others went down a trick because they guessed the trump finesse wrong. In all of those cases, however, a club was ruffed in the dummy.

One tricky defender in the West put up a style of play that managed to beat the 2-Diamonds two tricks for a top score. He accomplished two purposes when he opened the diamond 4—made South think he did not have the Q and inaugurated a policy of ruff-prevention, feeling that otherwise there would be some trumping in dummy.

South put the 7 on the diamond lead and the 10 forced his A. He scored the spade K and led the Q, which West took with the A. When West next led the diamond 3, South decided he also held the 2, so that the Q in the East was now a singleton. He therefore came up with dummy's K and was chagrined when that play established the Q for West. Now, hoping frantically to be able to ruff a club, he led the 3 to the Q. But West won with the A, laid down the diamond Q and ended all chance of dummy ruffing by leading the diamond 2.

That caused this South to lose three tricks in clubs, two in hearts and one each in the other suits, to be two down.

Your Weekend Question

Under what circumstances should a suit declarer, when able to win the king lead in a side suit with dummy's ace, play a low card instead?

PTA To Consider Playlot Repairs

KEYSER—The Keyser Parent-Teacher Association chapter, following the presentation of a musical program by the Keyser High School Senior Mixed Chorus, Thursday evening, discussed two proposals for betterment of physical conditions on the grounds on the school campus.

The PTA decided to have the grounds in front of the high school landscaped, and to give more study to a proposal to improve the playground for the elementary pupils. The playlot has never been placed in condition for the purpose for which it is now used.

The committee in charge of the matters was asked to continue its study of the playground possibilities, and to try to find a way in which the hard, rocky ground can be blacktopped. The group is to report its findings at the January meeting. There will be no meeting in December.

The High School Senior Chorus, under the direction of Miss Dorothy Wells, supervisor of music, presented the program, with George Wilson, Burlington, at the piano.

Carefully study every new style you select and practice wearing it before a mirror.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

The value of a full-length mirror is inestimable in matters of charm. It is not only a necessity for checking your grooming but is an aid to acquiring grace with each new style.

A perfect case in point is to wear gracefully the new "clutch" coat or wrap. The art of manipulating it is acquired by practice before a mirror. I watched while some of New York's most-admired models did just that. I'll pass along to you some of the know-how which they displayed.

Handle Like a Stole

The secret of wearing a clutch wrap gracefully lies in handling it much as you do your stole. Actually, it is the shoulder and top width of this type of apparel with its face-framing flattery that has made it a most appealing fashion today.

Of the many different manners in which this fashion may be worn, a most important one is allowing the collar to stand well away from the neck, emphasizing the width through the sleeves, particularly with the sleeves pushed up. In this position, let your right hand hold the right edge or your wrap at the top of your left hip. Your left hand should then lightly clutch both the right and left roll of the collar at your breast with your thumb along the left lapel and the rest of your hand just resting on the right lapel. This position slims your figure in enchanting fashion.

Flaring Way

Another important look can be achieved by wearing your coa widely open through the shoulders and flaring out below the waistline.

To achieve grace of the highest degree... to make yours the posture ideal — to improve stance, figure, health and the appearance of your clothes as well, read the informative, easy-to-follow booklet "YOUR POSTURE." For a copy write to Secrets of Charm in care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10c in coin to help cover cost.

Daily Bridge Lesson

BIG LIES BY TINY CARDS

USING your small cards unconventionally tells falsehoods to everybody at the table. Much of the time that proves more harmful to your own side than to the declarer. On certain occasions, however, especially if the big lies told by small cards are regarding the trump suit, the deception can have little influence on your partner's play, but may mislead your opponent in a way which helps your pair.

	♠ 10 7 4 ♥ 10 8 4 3 ♦ K J 8 7 ♣ 6 3
♠ A 9 3 ♥ K 2 ♦ Q 4 3 2 ♣ A 10 8 7	N W E S	♠ 8 6 5 2 ♥ Q J 9 6 ♦ 10 ♣ K J 5 4
	♠ K Q J ♥ A 7 5 ♦ A 9 6 5 ♣ Q 9 2

(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

More elaborate bidding came at some other tables on this duplicate tournament deal, but in no case did anybody try more than a part-score contract. A number of pairs were in contracts of 2-Diamonds. Some of the Souths made good, losing only one trick in spades, two in hearts and two in clubs. Others went down a trick because they guessed the trump finesse wrong. In all of those cases, however, a club was ruffed in the dummy.

One tricky defender in the West put up a style of play that managed to beat the 2-Diamonds two tricks for a top score. He accomplished two purposes when he opened the diamond 4—made South think he did not have the Q and inaugurated a policy of ruff-prevention, feeling that otherwise there would be some trumping in dummy.

South put the 7 on the diamond lead and the 10 forced his A. He scored the spade K and led the Q, which West took with the A. When West next led the diamond 3, South decided he also held the 2, so that the Q in the East was now a singleton. He therefore came up with dummy's K and was chagrined when that play established the Q for West. Now, hoping frantically to be able to ruff a club, he led the 3 to the Q. But West won with the A, laid down the diamond Q and ended all chance of dummy ruffing by leading the diamond 2.

That caused this South to lose three tricks in clubs, two in hearts and one each in the other suits, to be two down.

Your Weekend Question

Under what circumstances should a suit declarer, when able to win the king lead in a side suit with dummy's ace, play a low card instead?

Salvation Army

drive could not have been assured," he declared.

He reminded the campaign organization too that this was "the little man's, the average man's drive." In most campaigns, he explained, "the business men and firms and business houses are combed over and over again for larger and larger gifts. In this drive, we decided to reach out to the masses, accept smaller amounts but just get more pledges. The plan worked," he continued, "and the number of real, charitable and understanding friends the Salvation Army has in this community is a wonderful thing to behold," he concluded.

Citations Presented

Citations signed by Ort and Captain Daniel Biggs were presented to the workers in the campaign.

Several workers and team captains said they have cards which have not been reported and it was indicated that the total will be swelled by several hundred dollars more.

Some employe groups indicated they want to contribute on their pay days and asked that they be permitted to return their pledges after today, or on a pay day early next week.

Captain Biggs said that as soon as the full campaign is audited and complete, a detailed report will be released for publication. He also expressed his gratitude to the citizens of the community and predicted that during all of 1954, Cumberland will see many times over, the good work of the Salvation Army, made possible only by the time, effort and money of those who had even the smallest part in this campaign.

RAIN DANCE BRINGS NO SHOWERS — Students of Bethany College, (W. Va.) where gym classes have been suspended because of a water shortage, staged a rain dance on the campus this week, but so far their efforts have been unrewarded. Buffalo Creek, from which Bethany athletic teams derive their nickname of "Bisons," has narrowed to a mere trickle. The opening of the college for the current term was delayed one week because of the current drought. The Moo-Moo-Moo Club, honorary campus pep fraternity, thought up the rain dance gimmick. West Virginia Loses 10,000 Acres To Fires In One Day

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 20 (AP)—West Virginia marked a grim anniversary today-the 50th day of the statutory forest fire season-and tallied a new high in acreage losses to its woodlands.

In a 24-hour period ended today the state lost more than 10,000 acres to forest fire flames and several large fires still were burning today.

State Road Commission crews joined Conservation Department personnel today in battling a 1,000-acre forest fire near Diana in Webster County.

A department spokesman said a fire in rugged Grant County territory along Allegheny Front appeared to be nearly under control after scarring 1,800 acres in three days.

There were 109 fires in the state, 42 reported not under control.

The present SRC plan calls for a dual-lane superhighway from Hancock east. From Hancock to Cumberland a turnpike type of highway would have to pass through eight tunnels, elevating the cost far above proportion.

During rebuttal the SRC officials, Norman M. Prichett, locations engineer, George N. Lewis Jr., director of the traffic division, and A. F. DiDomenico, office engineer, noted that the alternate plan includes many spot improvements in the city which could jack the cost well beyond the SRC figure for the crosstown bridge. These wouldn't be necessary with the bridge, they added.

Prior to Thursday's debate DiDomenico addressed the Maryland Federation of Woman's Clubs in Emmanuel Episcopal Parish in the afternoon. Mrs. J. Monroe Sharer is civic chairman of the women's program.

drive could not have been assured," he declared.

He reminded the campaign organization too that this was "the little man's, the average man's drive." In most campaigns, he explained, "the business men and firms and business houses are combed over and over again for larger and larger gifts. In this drive, we decided to reach out to the masses, accept smaller amounts, but just get more pledges. The plan worked," he continued, "and the number of real, charitable and understanding friends the Salvation Army has in this community is a wonderful thing to behold," he concluded.

Citations Presented

Citations signed by Ort and Captain Daniel Biggs were presented to the workers in the campaign.

Several workers and team captains said they have cards which have not been reported and it was indicated that the total will be swelled by several hundred dollars more.

Some employe groups indicated they want to contribute on their pay days and asked that they be permitted to return their pledges after today, or on a pay day early next week.

Captain Biggs said that as soon as the full campaign is audited and complete, a detailed report will be released for publication. He also expressed his gratitude to the citizens of the community and predicted that during all of 1954, Cumberland will see many times over, the good work of the Salvation Army, made possible only by the time, effort and money of those who had even the smallest part in this campaign.

RAIN DANCE BRINGS NO SHOWERS — Students of Bethany College, (W. Va.) where gym classes have been suspended because of a water shortage, staged a rain dance on the campus this week, but so far their efforts have been unrewarded. Buffalo Creek, from which Bethany athletic teams derive their nickname of "Bisons," has narrowed to a mere trickle. The opening of the college for the current term was delayed one week because of the current drought. The Moo-Moo-Moo Club, honorary campus pep fraternity, thought up the rain dance gimmick. Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Dorothy Manners

(Substituting for vacationing Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 20 (INS)—Darryl Zanuck waited until he returned to Hollywood to spring the news that he signed a contract in Paris with Kirk Douglas calling for Kirk to make three pictures for 20th Century Fox. The deal was set by Kirk's agent, Charles Feldman.

The first, "The Egyptian," with Marlon Brando has a January 1 starting date. Kirk has the co-starring role of Akhnaton.

As most of the Mika Waltari best seller will be shot in Hollywood it means that Douglas, who has been wandering and working abroad for 15 months, must come home.

And, all zee beautiful continental belles will be zo zorry to see him leave.

There'll be plenty of hoofing in "The Pleasure's All Mine" what with Marge and Gower Champion added to the cast already boasting Betty Grable.

Producer Jonie Taps (no pun) has some dance specialties planned for the CinemaScope treatment said to be the most novel since Fred Astaire danced up the walls.

He tells me that besides Betty, Marge and Gower, the search is still on for more top twirlers.

From Louella in New York:

"Ran into Evie and Van Johnson on a shopping spree. I saw Van before he saw me, so I said in a loud voice, 'Just charge it to Van Johnson, please.' He jumped about six feet.

"Rosalind Russell, whose 'Wonderful Town' I saw when I was in New York the last time, will appear at the Knickerbocker Ball at the Waldorf Astoria on December 11 for Cardinal Spellman's favorite charity, the New York Foundling Home.

"Talked to Roz this morning, and she told me Freddie Brisson has changed the name of '7½C', (c for cents) the film musical she will do, to 'The Pajama Game.'

"Thanks to David Wayne, I had a chance to see 'Teahouse of the August Moon.' It's a play no one should miss. Went backstage to see David, and he told me he is moving his family to New York because he will be here a long time and has no plans for motion pictures.

"You just can't buy a ticket to this play. What a wonderful season for good plays on Broadway."

"Met Bill Dozier at Luncheon and he is very worried about little Debbie Dozier's broken leg. He flew to Hollywood to spend the weekend with Beddie, who is in a cast from her waist to her toes."

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Frank Sinatra is due in tonight. If he and Ava are going to do any "talking" it will have to be fast.

Ava flys out the first o. the week on her way to Rome for "Barefoot Countess." Bets are there won't be any immediate change in the status of the Sinatras.

Exquisite lace, woven by hand by French nuns, and brought back from Europe by Don Loper, runs the cost of Diane Mellos' wedding gown to $2500.

Her marriage to Charles Skouras Jr. on Nov. 25 will be one of the most beautiful events of the social season.

Just before Mickey Rooney took off to Japan for "Bridges at Toko-Ri," he recorded "The Alimony Blues." Martha? Or Betty Jane? The Wiere brothers brought them in at Charlie Foy's—a real good act.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

(Substituting for vacationing Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 20 (INS)—Darryl Zanuck waited until he returned to Hollywood to spring the news that he signed a contract in Paris with Kirk Douglas calling for Kirk to make three pictures for 20th Century Fox. The deal was set by Kirk's agent, Charles Feldman.

The first, "The Egyptian," with Marlon Brando has a January 1 starting date. Kirk has the co-starring role of Akhnaton.

As most of the Mika Waltari best seller will be shot in Hollywood it means that Douglas, who has been wandering and working abroad for 15 months, must come home.

And, all zee beautiful continental belles will be zo zorry to see him leave.

There'll be plenty of hoofing in "The Pleasure's All Mine" what with Marge and Gower Champion added to the cast alfeady boasting Betty Grable.

Producer Jonie Taps (no pun) has some dance specialties planned for the CinemaScope treatment said to be the most novel since Fred Astaire danced up the walls.

He tells me that besides Betty, Marge and Gower, the search is still on for more top twirlers.

From Louella in New York:

"Ran into Evie and Van Johnson on a shopping spree. I saw Van before he saw me, so I said in a loud voice, 'Just charge it to Van Johnson, please.' He jumped about six feet.

"Rosalind Russell, whose 'Wonderful Town' I saw when I was in New York the last time, will appear at the Knickerbocker Ball at the Waldorf Astoria on December 11 for Cardinal Spellman's favorite charity, the New York Foundling Home.

"Talked to Roz this morning, and she told me Freddie Brisson has changed the name of '7½C' (c for cents) the film musical she will do, to 'The Pajama Game.'

"Thanks to David Wayne, I had a chance to see 'Teahouse of the August Moon.' It's a play no one should miss. Went backstage to see David, and he told me he is moving his family to New York because he will be here a long time and has no plans for motion pictures.

"You just can't buy a ticket to this play. What a wonderful season for good plays on Broadway."

"Met Bill Dozier at Luncheon and he is very worried about little Debbie Dozier's broken leg. He flew to Hollywood to spend the weekend with Beddie, who is in a cast from her waist to her toes."

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Frank Sinatra is due in tonight. If he and Ava are going to do any "talking" it will have to be fast.

Ava flys out the first o. the week on her way to Rome for "Barefoot Countess." Bets are there won't be any immediate change in the status of the Sinatras.

Exquisite lace, woven by hand by French nuns, and brought back from Europe by Don Loper, runs the cost of Diane Mellos' wedding gown to $2500.

Her marriage to Charles Skouras Jr. on Nov. 25 will be one of the most beautiful events of the social season.

Just before Mickey Rooney took off to Japan for "Bridges at Toko-Ri," he recorded "The Alimony Blues." Martha? Or Betty Jane? The Wiere brothers brought them in at Charlie Foy's—a real good act.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Seeks UN Hearing

NEW DELHI, India, Nov. 20 (AP)—Cheddi Jagan, deposed leftwing Prime Minister of Brutish Guiana, arrived here tonight to ask the Indian government to take his case before the United Nations.

Immigration in the United States reached it. peak in the period from 1905 to 1914.

Down in the Valley...

We-thinks some schrewd one pulled a swiftie and flipped the season on us. Times we can recollimember when snow was up to here at this juncture. Now? Well, the sun shines brightly . . . the birds are confused . . . fact, everything is a mite bit disorganized. But, pleasant, isn't it? Speaking of pleasant things leads us to (you know where) the Valley. Pleasant in every respect is the Valley and its offerings which are, to wit: fine food, delicious drinks, the latest in Taylorvision, Shuffleboard (for the athletic types) . . . and sparkling conversation (or deathly silence . . . all according to your humor). Any season is right for having fun Down In the Valley. Come join the crowd headed in this direction!

Radio And Television

by John Crosby

Bob Hope In Color

The Bob Hope show on Monday night (which you probably didn't see because you haven't got a color set) was, according to an announcement at the beginning, "the first full hour commercial show on color television." A notable first. And, from beginning to end, an almost unqualified disaster.

John Crosby

For one thing, Miss Arlene Dahl, a luscious red-headed lollipop from Hollywood, had been imported to New York to play opposite Mr. Hope's wolf whistles. Miss Dahl had also, rather absently, contracted to play Roxanne opposite Jose Ferrer's "Cyrano de Bergerac" at the City Center. The two assignments were too taxing to her voice (it says here) and Miss Dahl withdrew from the Hope show. In the nick of time.

Thrashing about for a replacement, the people in charge over there came up with another red-headed lollipop, Miss Janis Paige, who was precipitated in front of the color cameras with almost no rehearsals and only the dimmest idea of what she was expected to do. Naturally, she blew lines in all directions. It didn't matter much. The lines in that show were, if anything, improved by being massacred. Still, I think it's a bad idea to throw people in front of color cameras, unrehearsed.

About a week before the show, it was decided to demonstrate what color TV did for the feminine face and form and a call went out for beautiful women to show up at the Colonial Theater. A spy I have around here for occasions of this nature was dispatched to the Colonial to oversee this operation.

Radio And Television

Bob Hope In Color

The Bob Hope show on Monday night (which you probably didn't see because you haven't got a color set) was, according to an announcement at the beginning, "the first full hour commercial show on color television." A notable first. And, from beginning to end, an almost unqualified disaster.

John Crosby

For one thing, Miss Arlene Dahl, a luscious red-headed lollipop from Hollywood, had been imported to New York to play opposite Mr. Hope's wolf whistles. Miss Dahl had also, rather absently, contracted to play Roxanne opposite Jose Ferrer's "Cyrano de Bergerac" at the City Center. The two assignments were too taxing to her voice (it says here) and Miss Dahl withdrew from the Hope show. In the nick of time.

Thrashing about for a replacement, the people in charge over there came up with another red-headed lollipop, Miss Janis Paige, who was precipitated in front of the color cameras with almost no rehearsals and only the dimmest idea of what she was expected to do. Naturally, she blew lines in all directions. It didn't matter much. The lines in that show were, if anything, improved by being massacred. Still, I think it's a bad idea to throw people in front of color cameras, unrehearsed.

About a week before the show, it was decided to demonstrate what color TV did for the feminine face and form and a call went out for beautiful women to show up at the Colonial Theater. A spy I have around here for occasions of this nature was dispatched to the Colonial to oversee this operation.

Clerk of the Circuit Court.

reign? "He prepares rain for the earth." (Psalms 147:8).

God's providence is never improvident. It is compensatory. "Sweet are the uses of adversity." "The bud may have a bitter taste, but sweet will be the flower." Thank God for everything!

It takes time and cultivation and the grace of God to become a real thanksgiver. "When thou hast eaten and art full . . . beware that thou forget not," says Holy Writ. (Deut. 6:12).

Of all glad words of tongue or pen
The gladdest are these,
"away back when."

Good Listening

Do you want real entertainment? Then listen in on a bunch of old cronies as they reminisce:

"Remember the old 'Town Ball' team we called the 'Rough and-Readies?' Dick Wolf pitched the first curve-ball known in those diggings, and the opposing team walked out of the game as a protest against such unfair play.

"Remember John Sury, the 'odd-job man' about town? He went fishing one day on Lafe Keaton's farm, ignoring the 'No Fishing' sign. Lafe stole upon him and gave him a ducking. John was very indignant, and some of his advisors talked him into running for state fish commissioner. He opened his campaign with a speech at Town Hall. A big crowd of curious neighbors paid their 10 cents admission to see the show. John expostulated that 'a man ought to be allowed to fish anywhere they would bite.'"

An old grad said he had forgotten most of the laboratory formulas he had once learned, but he never could forget the formula for water: "H O 2."

I bought a rose for Thanksgiving, and the woman said it was a Talisman, and to make sure, she spelled it out for me: "Tailsman" (sic).

Forget to spell and forget your formula, but don't forget

Salvation Army Fund Drive Goes Over Top With $20,528

Workers Given Citations As $19,500 Goal Is Exceeded In 1954 Subscription Campaign

The Salvation Army, in its quest for $19,500 in funds to operate during the year 1954, closed its subscription campaign yesterday at noon with $20,528.21 pledged and subscribed.

Leaders in the campaign lauded the citizens who contributed, the workers who made the volunteer solicitation, and those who encouraged the effort.

Reference was made by some of the Advisory Board members who spoke, to the withdrawal of the Salvation Army from the Community Chest. These men, along with campaign leaders, all said they were pleased and happy that the Community Chest reached its goal a couple of weeks ago and are equally happy that the Salvation Army has exceeded its quota. Hope was expressed that it will not be necessary to stage two drives in future years, but that differences of opinion could be healed and the Army could again become a Red Feather Agency.

Remained Optimistic

One speaker declared, "I do not think the Army should be forced to curtail its charitable, character building and spiritual program by being forced to accept a "stipend" budget, but I do believe in the principal of one campaign."

As yesterday's dinner meeting began, and workers started to make their final reports, there was considerable optimism in the air. In fact all through the campaign, volunteers workers, many of whom had never campaigned before, remained highly optimistic as to the outcome.

Prior to yesterday's final session, a total of $17,031, had been raised. Yesterday's report included Advanced Gifts, $297; Classified Section, $2,180.86, and Women's Residential Teams, $1,019.35. This made the grand total of $20,528.21, or more than $1,000 in excess of the budgeted quota.

Adolf Blunk, who served as general chairman, thanked the workers and expressed gratitude for the generosity of so many people. "It was no easy task," he declared, "and most of the gifts came in amounts much less than the average gift usually given in combined or bigger drives."

Little Man's Drive

Lewis Ort, chairman of the Advisory Board, expressed his appreciation. He mentioned especially the liberal contributions from workers of the B & O Railroad, plant workers of the Kelly Springfield Tire Company, employes of the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory and others who raised hundreds of dollars among themselves.

Ort mentioned especially too, the women who knocked on doors and solicited all over the city. "Without the women, the success of the

Reservoirs Dip As Drought Continues

Chief Parker said there is no shortage of water here in spite of the long drought, but a series of fires in the city could place a heavy drain upon the city's shrinking water supplies.

One bad fire, he added, could use up a full day's supply within a short time. As many as nine or more 2½ inch streams are pumped at high pressure in a major building fire, he said.

The fire chief emphasized the situation is not "drastic" but that all citizens should use water sparingly until overdue drenching fall rains arrive.

Plenty of water is still stored in city dams, he said, but the supplies are not being replenished as fast as they are used.

The total precipitation this month has been .15 of an inch, or 2.03 inches below normal.

Supplies Diminish

On Monday, the water level in Lake Gordon, which will impound 1,330,000,000 gallons of water, was two feet below the spillway.

Lake Koon, the main reservoir impounds 2,300,000,000 gallons of water when full, but it was 24½ feet below the top last Sunday.

Water consumption last week totaled 101,260,000 gallons, up about 20,000,000 from the same week last year.

Lake Koon Dropping

In recent weeks, Lake Gordon has been kept at slightly less than two feet below the spillway as water is drawn from Lake Koon. The level of the latter dam, however, has been dropping steadily.

The reservoir was 23 feet below the crest on November 8, 21.8 on November 1, 20 feet below on October 25, and 18.8 feet below on October 19, when William J. Edwards, commissioner of water and electric light, urged residents to be conservative in the use of water.

Commissioner Edwards at that time pointed out that there was no cause for alarm, since 50 more feet of water remained in the reservoir.

Firemen Cooperate

Chief Parker said all fire companies of Cumberland have been advised to use water sparingly.

Buckets and sponges are being used to clean fire vehicles following runs instead of the normal practice of using hoses.

Regular hosing down of City Hall Plaza in front of Central Fire Company has also been discontinued until the rains come.

The extended drought has proved serious in many communities of this area and is getting no better as winter approaches.

Workers installing power poles in the Flintstone area recently reported the ground dry down to eight feet in some places.

Coaches To Preview Turkey Day Game At Rotary Meeting

Coach William Hahn, of Fort Hill High School and Coach Roy Lester, of Allegany High School, will be giving a preview of the annual Turkey Game during the dinner meeting of the Cumberland Rotary Club on Tuesday at 12:15 p. m. in Central YMCA.

On December 8 at 6:30 p. m. the intercity meeting of the Cumberland and Frostburg Clubs will be held at Ali Ghan Country Club. A noon dinner meeting will not be held in Cumberland on that day. The club which is loser in an attendance contest will furnish the entertainment. Committee in charge for the local club includes Wilton Sykes, Robert L. Ebert, George A. Caswell and Lewyn C. Davis.

Crewmen Bring Grant Co. Fire Under Control

Wind-Fanned Sparks Create New Dangers

The Grant County (W. Va.) forest fire near Scheer was under control last night, but fanning winds were flitting sparks from smouldering stumps and roots as far as 50 feet into other woodlands.

District Forester Tilden Norris, of Romney, in charge of nine West Virginia counties, said the blaze that in the last four days destroyed 2,000 acres of forest on Allegheny Mountain, was brought under control about 11 o'clock yesterday morning.

Another small fire, started from a spark yesterday afternoon, was quickly extinguished before any extensive damage occurred.

Critical Stage

Norris said forests are now in the critical stage with powder-dry leaves, heaped to a depth of over a foot in area forests. Although the present fire is under control, he said, there is a great danger that it will break out again.

Last night over 50 firefighters were on watch patroling the area between Scherr and Laureldale as still winds whipped up a "Fourth-of-July" scene of flying sparks.

Flames, which already had destroyed a barn and saw mill on the top of Allegheny Mountain, were confined to the low ground area last night, and kept crewmen busy stamping out outbreaks as sparks flitted across the fire lines.

Norris commended work of fighters, some of them volunteers from area schools and colleges, for their vigil and untiring effort to bring the blaze under control. Their quick work Wednesday saved four homes on the crest of the mountain and finally stopped the fire's raging path yesterday morning.

All the trouble, authorities believe, was caused by an unidentified "firebug", and West Virginia Conservation Commission authorities and West Virginia State Police yesterday continued their investigation into the mystery. Several other fires in the area were believed to have been set, officials added.

Smoke Covers Area

Smoke from the fire extended to the Keyser area, it was reported yesterday, and Edward Shoemaker,, who is stationed as a lookout at the Pinnacle, said it was so heavy that it was impossible to spot any new fires that might erupt.

William H. Johnson, district forester for Allegany, Garrett, Washington and Frederick Counties, reported two new small fires yesterday in Allegany County, one at Pine Hill in Green Ridge Forest and along Winchester Road near the Potomac Valley Drive-In. Both fires are being patrolled, he said.

Meanwhile, besides foresters, the current drought is being looked upon with alarm by other observers. Woodlands throughout the area are now in the critical stage, observers pointed out, with dry leaves on the forest floors, and only a spark is needed to turn them into infernos.

Robert R. Golden, weather observer at Constitution Park, reported only .15 of an inch of rain has fallen in November thus far, and the past two months have been almost as bad. Normal precipitation for this month is 2.19 inches.

Celanese Truck Drivers Receive Safety Honor

The Celanese Corporation has received notification their Central Trucking Department placed second in the National Safety Council Fleet contest.

Robert F. Moore, manager of the department recently received a report on accident rates of Council members who participated in the contest for the 12-month period ending June 30 of this year.

Celanese division's 71 vehicles placed second in the Intercity-Truck-Private Carrier, Group I Division, under which classification they were entered.

There were 18 private carrier fleets with a total of 952 trucks entered in Group I. A total of 28,915,000 vehicle miles were logged by these trucks with a grand total of 313 accidents of which the Celanese fleet of 71 vehicles had four.

The accident rate for the entire group per 100,000 vehicle miles was 1.08. The rate for the Celanese fleet was .26, which was the lowest rate ever achieved for the four years of participation.

The second place award was also significant because this is the fourth consecutive year that Celanese has bettered its fleet safety record.

Holes Are Patched On Frederick Street

City Street Department crews applied some 20 tons of blacktop this week in filling holes in Frederick Street.

Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, street commissioner, said the work was only a patching job to eliminate some of the low spots, but was the best that could be done under the present maintenance budget.

Scheduled next week is the installation of a guard rail on Maryland Avenue at Broadway.

The work will be done, she said, as a protective measure in the spot which has been the scene of a number of accidents, many of them in dry weather.

Will Meet Today

A special meeting of Sheet Metal Workers Local 537 (AFL), will be held today at 2 p. m. in Allegany Trades Council Hall.

All members of the local are urged to attend. International Representative O'Toole will be present.

Road Relocation Under Way

Employes of the George F. Hazelwood Construction Company prepare a section of Winchester Road for widening and relocation at the intersection with Vocke Road. The $800,000 project, now about 22 per cent complete, entails several extensive relocations on the three-mile road from U. S. Route 40 at Six Mile House to U. S. 220 at VanMeter's Store in Cresaptown. Several bridges are being rebuilt or relocated in connection with the improvement project. Also being widened and repaired is the Warrior Run Road, which runs for about a third of a mile from U. S. 40 to U. S. 220. G. Bates Chaires, district State Roads Commission engineer, said the project is expected to be completed in 1954. Work was begun late last summer and has progressed rapidly.

Rosenmerkel Gets Suspended 3-Year Sentence

Embezzled Funds Must Be Paid Back

Harold J. Rosenmarkel, of Willoughby, Ohio, former resident, who pleaded guilty to embezzling $1,165 from the Dapper Dan Club of Allegany County Inc., was given a three-year suspended sentence yesterday by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Judge Harris suspended the sentence in the Maryland House of Correction on the condition restitution be made to the club. He was also told to be of good behavior and abstain from the use of alcoholic beverages.

Taken To Jail

Rosenmerkel was taken to the County Jail and arrangements are to be made through his counsel to acquire the necessary money.

He will be under the supervision of the Maryland Division of Parole and Probation and in the event he moves to Ohio he will be under the parole system there for the three years.

It was brought out at the trial for Rosenmerkel on November 12 in Circuit Court here that the money was taken between January and July.

Asked For Money

In July the officers of the club asked Rosenmerkel to turn over the money, but subsequently when deputy sheriffs went to his residence on Paca Street they found he had gone to Ohio.

Rosenmerkel had obtained employment in Willoughby, testimony showed, and when he was arrested by Ohio State Police he refused to waive extradition to Maryland.

In October an extradition hearing was held before Governor Frank Lausche in Columbus and the governor issued a warrant for his removal to Maryland.

Local School Pupils Shown WM Movies

Two historical movies, filmed for the Western Maryland Railway, were shown to some 350 pupils of city schools during the past three days at the Cumberland Free Public Library.

Pupils of West Side, SS. Peter and Paul, and St. Patricks saw, "Mr. Lincoln Goes to Gottysburg," depiciting the president's journey by rail to that city to make his famous address; and "The Western Maryland Story," a movie on the founding and growth of the railroad. A number of adults also saw the two films. Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian, yesterday said pupils of Gephart School will view the movie at 10 a. m. Monday.

Victim Of Shooting 'Serious'

Lawrence ("Cottie") Kline, 45-year-old Keyser, W. Va., man who was shot in the abdomen last Saturday during what police described as a family quarrel, was in "unfavorable" condition last night at Potomac Valley Hospital.

Kline underwent surgery yesterday morning for the second time since his admission a week ago today.

The hospital last night said he had not responded as well as had been expected. He has a serious wound in the lower abdomen and another bullet wound through the left forearm.

Kline's brother-in-law, Edmund ("Bud") Wagley, 50, remains in Mineral County Jail without formal charges. Police said he had surrendered in connection with the shooting.

The shooting reportedly took place during an argument at the Kline home at 67 West Piedmont Street in Keyser, where Wagley and his wife live. Mrs. Wagley is Kline's sister.

Police were told that Kline and another brother were abusing Mrs. Wagley during an argument, when her husband came downstairs with a .38 calibre revolver and opened fire. Shortly afterward, Wagley turned himself over to State Police at their office.

Rapid Police Action Finds Stolen Car

Two Teenage Boys Nabbed At Keyser

Rapid three-way police cooperation yesterday resulted in the recovery of a car which had been reported stolen half an hour earlier and the arrest of two teenage boys.

At 3:30 p. m., Virgil John Frost, RFD 1, Frostburg, telephoned State Police to say his 1941 sedan had been stolen from Cresaptown, where it had been parked on Winchester Road.

Frost told police he had seen the car being driven away toward U. S. Route 220.

Maryland State Police at LaVale immediately radioed the pickup notice to West Virginia State Police at Romney. The Romney detachment relayed the word to Keyser.

State Police Cpl. F. H. Tribett of the Keyser detachment and Keyser Police Officer Harry Stewart hurried to the south, or Keyser end of the Memorial Bridge to wait for the car to show up.

When the missing car approached, the officers flagged it down. In it, said police, were a pair of boys about 16 years old who said they lived in the Cresaptown area.

The boys were questioned and ordered held overnight in Mineral County Jail at Keyser while authorities probe further into the case. The car was undamaged.

State Police at Romney radioed a report of the car's recovery and the boys' arrest to LaVale at 4:07 p. m., 37 minutes after the vehicle had been reported stolen.

County Forum Hears Debate On Bridge Plan

SRC And Alternate Plans Discussed

The controversial State Roads Commission overhead bridge plan and the alternate by-pass route were the subject of debate Thursday night at the dinner meeting of the Allegany County Forum at Ali Ghan Country Club.

Charles L. Herath, president of the forum, acted as moderator as first the SRC officials and then local proponents of the alternate route voiced their programs, gave rebuttal and finally opened the panel to discussion with the public. Approximately 35 persons attended the affair.

Primary concern was expressed by the listeners as to the cost of the SRC plan to the city of Cumberland as well as to where the bulk of the payment for the 12-year program, which includes the bridge, would be forthcoming.

SRC officials pointed out the largest expenditures in the plan for the overhead bridge would carried from motor vehicle revenue but stated no definite decision as to the cost to the city had been determined.

Support Bridge Plan

The SRC group pointed out the dire necessity for relief of the heavy traffic congestion as indicated by the 1949-50 traffic survey conducted here at a cost of $13,000. They presented factual data to support the location of the overhead bridge and noted the plan carries off all traffic both around and through the city.

One official also added the alternate plan which by-passing Cumberland, helps only about one-half of the traffic that would normally go around the city. To remedy that a by-pass route would have to circle the city, he pointed out. Actually about 6½ per cent of all traffic on U. S. Route 40 by-passes the city.

Objects To Costs

James Alfred Avirett, local attorney and staunch supporter of the alternate plan, decried the heavy cost of the SRC proposal, noting the great depreciation of property values and loss of taxes.

Albert S. Pape, local engineer who also supports the alternate route, showed the plan to the public and related how inexpensive the plan was compared to the SRC proposal.

One of the many listeners broached the idea that cost should not be the controlling factor and suggested that perhaps both plans could be adopted.

Another brought up the subject of a super highway similar to the Pennsylvania Turnpike through this area, but SRC men stated the traffic taken from this area on the turnpike was not enough to justify economically two parallel highways less than 30 miles apart.

Turnpike Too Costly

Of necessity the highway through Maryland would have to continue west and finally join the Pennsylvania Turnpike, resulting in astronomical costs as well as joint efforts of state roads commissions

Civic Orchestra To Open Season On December 1

The Cumberland Civic Symphony Orchestra will present its first concert of the 1953-54 season Tuesday, December 1, at 8:15 p. m. in Allegany High School auditorium.

Featured artist on the program will be Miss Kazuko Yamanda, Japanese violinist who is studying with William Kroll at Peabody Conservatory in Baltimore.

The orchestra will open its program with two classical selections. Miss Yamada's violin solos will form the second section of the program, and the orchestra will close with a group of 19th and 20th Century compositions.

Beethoven's "Cariolanus Overture" will lead off the program, and the same composer's Symphony No. 1 in C Major will follow.

Miss Yamada's selections, as yet unannounced, will follow, with accompaniment by Peter Schumacher of Cumberland, well-known to local audiences for his organ programs.

The final portion of the concert will include a medley of Cole Porter favorites, Victor Herbert's "A Kiss in The Dark," Leroy Anderson's "Serenata," and Saint-Saens' "Bacchanale" from Samson and Delilah."

Miss Yamanda, who came to the U.S. from Yokohama in September 1952, had played with the Tokyo Symphony before coming to this country.

The Maryland Federation of Music Clubs sponsored her entry into the States and arranged for her stay here. The Friends of Japan got her a scholarship last summer, and Peabody has awarded her another for the current term.

Firemen Plan Grass Burning Projects

Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker said the department plans to burn grass off a number of vacant lots this week if men are available.

He said the department plans to burn off the grass in known trouble spots, where grass fires might endanger homes, each spring and fall.

City May Have To Raise $600,000 More To Complete Flood Project

Within the not too distant future, the City of Cumberland may have to ask the General Assembly to authorize the issuance of another $600,000 or so of Flood Protection bonds.

About $1,000,000 remains in funds available to pay the local share of the $17,000,000 project. Estimates of the cost of remaining land acquisition and construction chargeable to the city total $1,659,200.

This figure is based on estimates given by the Corps of Engineers, the J. E. Greiner Company, which is designing three Wills Creek bridges, and the City of Cumberland.

Several months ago, the Corps of Engineers advised the city that its share of the remaining construction work on the project will be about $370,000.

Takes Half Million

Real estate acquisition and easements needed in Ridgeley and the West Side of Cumberland for levees and flood walls in connection with Potomac River phases of the work will cost about $500,000, according to a rough estimate recently furnished the city by the Corps of Engineers.

A similar rough estimate provided Monday to the Mayor and Council for property and easements needed for the rest of the channel improvements in Wills Creek indicated a city expenditure of from $75,000 to $80,000.

Other major expenditures for the project will be made in connection with the replacement of bridges across Wills Creek with modern structures.

To Get Bridge Bids

The Valley Street Bridge, which is slated to be built between next February and November, is estimated to cost $258,700. The exact cost will be known early next month, when bids are opened by the city on December 7.

Slated for construction as soon as the Valley Street span is opened for traffic next fall is the Market Street Bridge, which will cost in the neighborhood of $197,800, according to present construction figures.

A modern span at Baltimore Street could be several years away, as officials of the Greiner firm recommend it be built when channel improvement work reaches that point.

The construction date would be stepped up, however, if the Corps of Engineers agree to a city request that the Wills Creek channnel work be scheduled before the Potomac River walls and levees.

Are Making Study

Corps of Engineers officials were sympathetic and promised a study, but made it clear that from an engineering viewpoint, the creek completion should come only after the river channel is ready to receive the water which will pour through the high speed Wills Creek channel.

Another $25,000 will be needed to provide the approach to the new interstate bridge at Riverside Park which will get under way next year.

The total of these estimates is $1,659,200.

Several factors might reduce the remaining costs.

One of these is the city request to the Corps of Engineers that concrete flood walls be constructed along the banks of the river at Ridgeley and West Cumberland since they would eliminate the need for costly land which must be acquired to build earth levees that will be 100 feet wide at their base.

Congress Must Approve

Army Engineers were sympathetic about this idea also but made it perfectly clear that this would call for a major change in plans which would have to be approved by Congress. They suggested the city contact legislators on the subject.

City officials are waiting for answers on the requests to the Corps of Engineers and to a query to the State Roads Commission asking if plans for the Crosstown expressway are to be coordinated with the levees on the West Side.

The answers call for considerable engineering work and may not be available, City officials said, for some time.

Costs Have Doubled

Both the city and the government have been victims of rising construction costs in connection with flood protection work.

Plans prepared in 1942 by the Corps of Engineers indicated the project would cost $8,940,000, spread between $1,520,000 for the city and $7,420,000 for the government.

The price tag is now at the $17,000,000 mark.

The city has already spent about $1,500,000 — just about what was estimated as its share under the original 1942 plans.

But when the city was about to enter into an agreement on the flood job based on a $1,500,000 local contribution, Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, pointed out that the local costs were based on 1942 estimates, and that rising costs would require more funds.

Through the efforts of Fred T. Small, manager of the Amcelle plant at that time, the Board of County Commissioners agreed to provide another $1,000,000, bringing the local contributions to the $2,500,000 mark.

Still remaining in the fund is about $100,000 in cash recently made available to the city by the county, another $500,000 of treasury notes held by the county and $400,000 in authorized but unsold city flood protection bonds.

Salvation Army Fund Drive Goes Over Top With $20,528

City Fire Chief Urges Sparing Use Of Water

Reservoirs Dip As Drought Continues

Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker yesterday urged all residents of Cumberland to be conservative in their use of city water.

Chief Parker said there is no shortage of water here in spite of the long drought, but a series of fires in the city could place a heavy drain upon the city's shrinking water supplies.

One bad fire, he added, could use up a full day's supply within a short time. As many as nine or more 2½ inch streams are pumped at high pressure in a major building fire, he said.

The total precipitation this month has been .15 of an inch, or 2.03 inches below normal.

Supplies Diminish

On Monday, the water level in Lake Gordon, which will impound 1,330,000,000 gallons of water, was two feet below the spillway.

Lake Koon, the main reservoir impounds 2,300,000,000 gallons of water when full, but it was 24½ feet below the top last Sunday.

Water consumption last week totaled 101,260,000 gallons, up about 20,000,000 from the same week last year.

Lake Koon Dropping

In recent weeks, Lake Gordon has been kept at slightly less than two feet below the spillway as water is drawn from Lake Koon. The level of the latter dam, however, has been dropping steadily.

The reservoir was 23 feet below the crest on November 8, 21.8 on November 1, 20 feet below on October 25, and 18.8 feet below on October 19, when William J. Edwards, commissioner of water and electric light, urged residents to be conservative in the use of water.

Commissioner Edwards at that time pointed out that there was no cause for alarm, since 50 more feet of water remained in the reservoir.

Firemen Cooperate

Chief Parker said all fire companies of Cumberland have been advised to use water sparingly.

Buckets and sponges are being used to clean fire vehicles following runs instead of the normal practice of using hoses.

Regular hosing down of City Hall Plaza in front of Central Fire Company has also been discontinued until the rains come.

The extended drought has proved serious in many communities of this area and is getting no better as winter approaches.

Workers installing power poles in the Flintstone area recently reported the ground dry down to eight feet in some places.

Crewmen Bring Grant Co. Fire Under Control

Wind-Fanned Sparks Create New Dangers

The Grant County (W. Va.) forest fire near Scheer was under control last night, but fanning winds were flitting sparks from smouldering stumps and roots as far as 50 feet into other woodlands.

District Forester Tilden Norris, of Romney, in charge of nine West Virginia counties, said the blaze that in the last four days destroyed 2,000 acres of forest on Allegheny Mountain, was brought under control about 11 o'clock yesterday morning.

Another small fire, started from a spark yesterday afternoon, was quickly extinguished before any extensive damage occurred.

Critical Stage

Norris said forests are now in the critical stage with powder-dry leaves, heaped to a depth of over a foot in area forests. Although the present fire is under control, he said, there is a great danger that it will break out again.

Last night over 50 firefighters were on watch patroling the area between Scherr and Laureldale as still winds whipped up a "Fourth-of-July" scene of flying sparks.

Flames, which already had destroyed a barn and saw mill on the top of Allegheny Mountain, were confined to the low ground area last night, and kept crewmen busy stamping out outbreaks as sparks flitted across the fire lines.

Norris commended work of fighters, some of them volunteers from area schools and colleges, for their vigil and untiring effort to bring the blaze under control. Their quick work Wednesday saved four homes on the crest of the mountain and finally stopped the fire's raging path yesterday morning.

All the trouble, authorities believe, was caused by an unidentified "firebug", and West Virginia Conservation Commission authorities and West Virginia State Police yesterday continued their investigation into the mystery. Several other fires in the area were believed to have been set, officials added.

Smoke Covers Area

Smoke from the fire extended to the Keyser area, it was reported yesterday, and Edward Shoemaker,, who is stationed as a lookout at the Pinnacle, said it was so heavy that it was impossible to spot any new fires that might erupt.

William H. Johnson, district forester for Allegany, Garrett, Washington and Frederick Counties, reported two new small fires yesterday in Allegany County, one at Pine Hill in Green Ridge Forest and along Winchester Road near the Potomac Valley Drive-In. Both fires are being patrolled, he said.

Meanwhile, besides foresters, the current drought is being looked upon with alarm by other observers. Woodlands throughout the area are now in the critical stage, observers pointed out, with dry leaves on the forest floors, and only a spark is needed to turn them into infernos.

Robert R. Golden, weather observer at Constitution Park, reported only .15 of an inch of rain has fallen in November thus far, and the past two months have been almost as bad. Normal precipitation for this month is 2.19 inches.

Celanese Truck Drivers Receive Safety Honor

The Celanese Corporation has received notification their Central Trucking Department placed second in the National Safety Council Fleet contest.

Robert F. Moore, manager of the department recently received a report on accident rates of Council members who participated in the contest for the 12-month period ending June 30 of this year.

Celanese division's 71 vehicles placed second in the Intercity-Truck-Private Carrier, Group I Division, under which classification they were entered.

There were 18 private carrier fleets with a total of 952 trucks entered in Group 1. A total of 28,915,000 vehicle miles were logged by these trucks with a grand total of 313 accidents of which the Celanese fleet of 71 vehicles had four.

The accident rate for the entire group per 100,000 vehicle miles was 1.08. The rate for the Celanese fleet was .26, which was the lowest rate ever achieved for the four years of participation.

The second place award was also significant because this is the fourth consecutive year that Celanese has bettered its fleet safety record.

Holes Are Patched On Frederick Street

City Street Department crews applied some 20 tons of blacktop this week in filling holes in Frederick Street.

Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, street commissioner, said the work was only a patching job to eliminate some of the low spots, but was the best that could be done under the present maintenance budget.

Scheduled next week is the installation of a guard rail on Maryland Avenue at Broadway.

The work will be done, she said, as a protective measure in the spot which has been the scene of a number of accidents, many of them in dry weather.

Will Meet Today

A special meeting of Sheet Metal Workers Local 537 (AFL), will be held today at 2 p. m. in Allegany Trades Council Hall.

All members of the local are urged to attend. International Representative O'Toole will be present.

Road Relocation Under Way

Employes of the George F. Hazelwood Construction Company prepare a section of Winchester Road for widening and relocation at the intersection with Vocke Road. The $800,000 project, now about 22 per cent complete, entails several extensive relocations on the three-mile road from U. S. Route 40 at Six Mile House to U. S. 220 at VanMeter's Store in Cresaptown. Several bridges are being rebuilt or relocated in connection with the improvement project. Also being widened and repaired is the Warrior Run Road, which runs for about a third of a mile from U. S. 40 to U. S. 220. G. Bates Chaires, district State Roads Commission engineer, said the project is expected to be completed in 1954. Work was begun late last summer and has progressed rapidly.

Rosenmerkel Gets Suspended 3-Year Sentence

Embezzled Funds Must Be Paid Back

Harold J. Rosenmarkel, of Willoughby, Ohio, former resident, who pleaded guilty to embezzling $1,165 from the Dapper Dan Club of Allegany County Inc., was given a three-year suspended sentence yesterday by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Judge Harris suspended the sentence in the Maryland House of Correction on the condition restitution be made to the club. He was also told to be of good behavior and abstain from the use of alcoholic beverages.

Taken To Jail

Rosenmerkel was taken to the County Jail and arrangements are to be made through his counsel to acquire the necessary money.

He will be under the supervision of the Maryland Division of Parole and Probation and in the event he moves to Ohio he will be under the parole system there for the three years.

It was brought out at the trial for Rosenmerkel on November 12 in Circuit Court here that the money was taken between January and July.

Asked For Money

In July the officers of the club asked Rosenmerkel to turn over the money, but subsequently when deputy sheriffs went to his residence on Paca Street they found he had gone to Ohio.

Rosenmerkel had obtained employment in Willoughby, testimony showed, and when he was arrested by Ohio State Police he refused to waive extradition to Maryland.

In October an extradition hearing was held before Governor Frank Lausche in Columbus and the governor issued a warrant for his removal to Maryland.

Local School Pupils Shown WM Movies

Two historical movies, filmed for the Western Maryland Railway, were shown to some 350 pupils of city schools during the past three days at the Cumberland Free Public Library.

Pupils of West Side, SS. Peter and Paul, and St. Patricks saw, "Mr. Lincoln Goes to Gottysburg," depiciting the president's journey by rail to that city to make his famous address; and "The Western Maryland Story," a movie on the founding and growth of the railroad. A number of adults also saw the two films. Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian, yesterday said pupils of Gephart School will view the movie at 10 a. m. Monday.

Victim Of Shooting 'Serious'

Lawrence ("Cottie") Kline, 45-year-old Keyser, W. Va., man who was shot in the abdomen last Saturday during what police described as a family quarrel, was in "unfavorable" condition last night at Potomac Valley Hospital.

Kline underwent surgery yesterday morning for the second time since his admission a week ago today.

The hospital last night said he had not responded as well as had been expected. He has a serious wound in the lower abdomen and another bullet wound through the left forearm.

Kline's brother-in-law, Edmund ("Bud") Wagley, 50, remains in Mineral County Jail without formal charges. Police said he had surrendered in connection with the shooting.

The shooting reportedly took place during an argument at the Kline home at 67 West Piedmont Street in Keyser, where Wagley and his wife live. Mrs. Wagley is Kline's sister.

Police were told that Kline and another brother were abusing Mrs. Wagley during an argument, when her husband came downstairs with a .38 calibre revolver and opened fire. Shortly afterward, Wagley turned himself over to State Police at their office.

Rapid Police Action Finds Stolen Car

Two Teenage Boys Nabbed At Keyser

Rapid three-way police cooperation yesterday resulted in the recovery of a car which had been reported stolen half an hour earlier and the arrest of two teenage boys.

At 3:30 p. m., Virgil John Frost, RFD 1, Frostburg, telephoned State Police to say his 1941 sedan had been stolen from Cresaptown, where it had been parked on Winchester Road.

Frost told police he had seen the car being driven away toward U. S. Route 220.

Maryland State Police at LaVale immediately radioed the pickup notice to West Virginia State Police at Romney. The Romney detachment relayed the word to Keyser.

State Police Cpl. F. H. Tribett of the Keyser detachment and Keyser Police Officer Harry Stewart hurried to the south, or Keyser end of the Memorial Bridge to wait for the car to show up.

When the missing car approached, the officers flagged it down. In it, said police, were a pair of boys about 16 years old who said they lived in the Cresaptown area.

The boys were questioned and ordered held overnight in Mineral County Jail at Keyser while authorities probe further into the case. The car was undamaged.

State Police at Romney radioed a report of the car's recovery and the boys' arrest to LaVale at 4:07 p. m., 37 minutes after the vehicle had been reported stolen.

County Forum Hears Debate On Bridge Plan

SRC And Alternate Plans Discussed

The controversial State Roads Commission overhead bridge plan and the alternate by-pass route were the subject of debate Thursday night at the dinner meeting of the Allegany County Forum at Ali Ghan Country Club.

Charles L. Herath, president of the forum, acted as moderator as first the SRC officials and then local proponents of the alternate route voiced their programs, gave rebuttal and finally opened the panel to discussion with the public. Approximately 35 persons attended the affair.

Primary concern was expressed by the listeners as to the cost of the SRC plan to the city of Cumberland as well as to where the bulk of the payment for the 12-year program, which includes the bridge, would be forthcoming.

SRC officials pointed out the largest expenditures in the plan for the overhead bridge would carried from motor vehicle revenue but stated no definite decision as to the cost to the city had been determined.

Support Bridge Plan

The SRC group pointed out the dire necessity for relief of the heavy traffic congestion as indicated by the 1949-50 traffic survey conducted here at a cost of $13,000. They presented factual data to support the location of the overhead bridge and noted the plan carries off all traffic both around and through the city.

One official also added the alternate plan which by-passing Cumberland, helps only about one-half of the traffic that would normally go around the city. To remedy that a by-pass route would have to circle the city, he pointed out. Actually about 6½ per cent of all traffic on U. S. Route 40 by-passes the city.

Objects To Costs

James Alfred Avirett, local attorney and staunch supporter of the alternate plan, decried the heavy cost of the SRC proposal, noting the great depreciation of property values and loss of taxes.

Albert S. Pape, local engineer who also supports the alternate route, showed the plan to the public and related how inexpensive the plan was compared to the SRC proposal.

One of the many listeners broached the idea that cost should not be the controlling factor and suggested that perhaps both plans could be adopted.

Another brought up the subject of a super highway similar to the Pennsylvania Turnpike through this area, but SRC men stated the traffic taken from this area on the turnpike was not enough to justify economically two parallel highways less than 30 miles apart.

Turnpike Too Costly

Of necessity the highway through Maryland would have to continue west and finally join the Pennsylvania Turnpike, resulting in astronomical costs as well as joint efforts of state roads commissions

Civic Orchestra To Open Season On December 1

The Cumberland Civic Symphony Orchestra will present its first concert of the 1953-54 season Tuesday, December 1, at 8:15 p. m. in Allegany High School auditorium.

Featured artist on the program will be Miss Kazuko Yamanda, Japanese violinist who is studying with William Kroll at Peabody Conservatory in Baltimore.

The orchestra will open its program with two classical selections. Miss Yamada's violin solos will form the second section of the program, and the orchestra will close with a group of 19th and 20th Century compositions.

Beethoven's "Cariolanus Overture" will lead off the program, and the same composer's Symphony No. 1 in C Major will follow.

Miss Yamada's selections, as yet unannounced, will follow, with accompaniment by Peter Schumacher of Cumberland, well-known to local audiences for his organ programs.

The final portion of the concert will include a medley of Cole Porter favorites, Victor Herbert's "A Kiss in The Dark," Leroy Anderson's "Serenata," and Saint-Saens' "Bacchanale" from Samson and Delilah."

Miss Yamanda, who came to the U.S. from Yokohama in September 1952, had played with the Tokyo Symphony before coming to this country.

The Maryland Federation of Music Clubs sponsored her entry into the States and arranged for her stay here. The Friends of Japan got her a scholarship last summer, and Peabody has awarded her another for the current term.

Firemen Plan Grass Burning Projects

Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker said the department plans to burn grass off a number of vacant lots this week if men are available.

He said the department plans to burn off the grass in known trouble spots, where grass fires might endanger homes, each spring and fall.

City May Have To Raise $600,000 More To Complete Flood Project

Within the not too distant future, the City of Cumberland may have to ask the General Assembly to authorize the issuance of another $600,000 or so of Flood Protection bonds.

About $1,000,000 remains in funds available to pay the local share of the $17,000,000 project. Estimates of the cost of remaining land acquisition and construction chargeable to the city total $1,659,200.

This figure is based on estimates given by the Corps of Engineers, the J. E. Greiner Company, which is designing three Wills Creek bridges, and the City of Cumberland.

Several months ago, the Corps of Engineers advised the city that its share of the remaining construction work on the project will be about $370,000.

Takes Half Million

Real estate acquisition and easements needed in Ridgeley and the West Side of Cumberland for levees and flood walls in connection with Potomac River phases of the work will cost about $500,000, according to a rough estimate recently furnished the city by the Corps of Engineers.

A similar rough estimate provided Monday to the Mayor and Council for property and easements needed for the rest of the channel improvements in Wills Creek indicated a city expenditure of from $75,000 to $80,000.

Other major expenditures for the project will be made in connection with the replacement of bridges across Wills Creek with modern structures.

To Get Bridge Bids

The Valley Street Bridge, which is slated to be built between next February and November, is estimated to cost $258,700. The exact cost will be known early next month, when bids are opened by the city on December 7.

Slated for construction as soon as the Valley Street span is opened for traffic next fall is the Market Street Bridge, which will cost in the neighborhood of $197,800, according to present construction figures.

A modern span at Baltimore Street could be several years away, as officials of the Greiner firm recommend it be built when channel improvement work reaches that point.

The construction date would be stepped up, however, if the Corps of Engineers agree to a city request that the Wills Creek channnel work be scheduled before the Potomac River walls and levees.

Are Making Study

Corps of Engineers officials were sympathetic and promised a study, but made it clear that from an engineering viewpoint, the creek completion should come only after the river channel is ready to receive the water which will pour through the high speed Wills Creek channel.

Another $25,000 will be needed to provide the approach to the new interstate bridge at Riverside Park which will get under way next year.

The total of these estimates is $1,659,200.

Several factors might reduce the remaining costs.

One of these is the city request to the Corps of Engineers that concrete flood walls be constructed along the banks of the river at Ridgeley and West Cumberland since they would eliminate the need for costly land which must be acquired to build earth levees that will be 100 feet wide at their base.

Congress Must Approve

Army Engineers were sympathetic about this idea also but made it perfectly clear that this would call for a major change in plans which would have to be approved by Congress. They suggested the city contact legislators on the subject.

City officials are waiting for answers on the requests to the Corps of Engineers and to a query to the State Roads Commission asking if plans for the Crosstown expressway are to be coordinated with the levees on the West Side.

The answers call for considerable engineering work and may not be available, City officials said, for some time.

Costs Have Doubled

Both the city and the government have been victims of rising construction costs in connection with flood protection work.

Plans prepared in 1942 by the Corps of Engineers indicated the project would cost $8,940,000, spread between $1,520,000 for the city and $7,420,000 for the government.

The price tag is now at the $17,000,000 mark.

The city has already spent about $1,500,000 — just about what was estimated as its share under the original 1942 plans.

But when the city was about to enter into an agreement on the flood job based on a $1,500,000 local contribution, Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, pointed out that the local costs were based on 1942 estimates, and that rising costs would require more funds.

Through the efforts of Fred T. Small, manager of the Amcelle plant at that time, the Board of County Commissioners agreed to provide another $1,000,000, bringing the local contributions to the $2,500,000 mark.

Still remaining in the fund is about $100,000 in cash recently made available to the city by the county, another $500,000 of treasury notes held by the county and $400,000 in authorized but unsold city flood protection bonds.
